BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Complications involving the seating of James J. Davis as United States senator from Pennsylvania furnished a high light of the opening today of the final session of the 71st congress.

Mr. Davis did not present his credentials when others elected to fill vacancies in the senate were sworn in. He announced that he would do so tomorrow, despite a reiteration by Senator Gerald P. Nye [Rep., N. D.] of an intention to ask that the taking of the oath be deferred pending a further investigation by his committee on campaign expenditures.

Doak Stands Around Waiting.

The delay of Mr. Davis in presenting his credentials coupled with a sentimental desire to avoid any gap between his ten years' service as secretary of labor and his term as senator complicated the status of William N. Doak, designated by President Hoover as his successor in the cabinet.

Mr. Doak was ready to assume the office at 11 o'clock this morning under a recess appointment, the hour for convening of congress being 12 o'clock. Mr. Davis, however, was not ready to resign. He submitted a letter of resignation to President Hoover later in the day and the latter accepted it, effective at noon tomorrow. As congress is now in session a recess appointment is no longer valid and Mr. Doak cannot take office until his nomination is confirmed by the senate. No difficulty is anticipated on this score.

Meanwhile the opposition to the seating of Mr. Davis in the senate seemed to be assuming formidable proportions, despite the understanding which has prevailed that Senator Nye and his colleagues of the campaign expenditures investigating committee were not disposed to make any trouble for him.

Difficult Choice for Insurgents.

The radicals and Democrats, who have made much of charges involving large expenditures by senatorial candidates, were confronted with a dilemma. If Mr. Davis is kept out of the senate Senator Joseph R. Grundy, who has been pictured by the radicals as an arch lobbyist and representative of the special interests, and who spent $420,000 in his unsuccessful primary campaign against Mr. Davis, stays in. Senator Grundy was appointed by Gov. Fisher to fill the Vare vacancy last winter and can serve until his successor is elected and "qualified."

Senator Nye, who was forced to announce his plan to hold up the seating of Mr. Davis after a Baltimore newspaper uncovered the fact that the statement of expenditures for the Davis-Brown primary ticket filed at Harrisburg last June showed a total $185,000 greater than was testified to before the senate committee, said that the sum spent for the entire ticket with which Mr. Davis was associated now seems to amount to about $630,000.

Nye to Investigate.

Inasmuch as the total for the Davis-Brown ticket now is approaching the amount which was spent for William S. Vare and the ticket running with him, Senator Nye admitted that his committee must do some more investigating. He admitted that it appeared that his committee and its investigators had been negligent in not finding out about the Harrisburg statement sooner.

Senator C. C. Dill [Dem., Wash.], a member of the Nye committee, asserted that he would have protested against the seating of Mr. Davis even without any knowledge of the latest disclosures, and said that he will carry on a fight against him now if Senator Nye fails to do so.

Friends of Mr. Davis in the senate are prepared for a vote on the question of administering the oath to him. Such a vote may come tomorrow with the outcome somewhat in doubt.

Johnny Fools 6 Bullets and Gets His Man

A hero's opportunity stepped up to John Powers, 49 years old, 3425 South Claremont avenue, yesterday afternoon and he tackled it. As a result, in a cell of the Pekin police station there's a paroled convict who was captured plying his gun trade as a stickup man.

A Hollywood director would never cast Johnny in a hero's rôle. He is 4 feet 5 inches in height; weight, 130 pounds, and his sparse hair is white. For a quarter century Johnny has been plodding along as a wagon driver for the Lakeside Cleaners and Dyers, 321 West 26th street.

The Opportunity Knocks.

It was 5 p. m. when Johnny returned from his route yesterday. In the office in her cashier's cage was Mrs. Erna Anders, 6733 South Michigan avenue. Johnny turned in his cash collections to her and then went over to the clerk's counter to hand in the clothing he had received from customers.

Two men entered, each with a pair of revolvers. The half dozen employés raised their hands. One bandit walked into the cashier's cage, put a pistol he found there in his pocket, then took $200 from the till. They backed out a rear door, the leader saying, "If anybody tries to follow us we'll kill him."

They had no sooner disappeared than Johnny was racing after them. The other employés heard six shots. Johnny had been killed, they figured. Mrs. Anders lifted the phone and called the police.

Johnny Fools the Bullets.

But Johnny hadn't been killed. He was racing down the alley as fast as his short legs would carry him. The bandits fired at him again and again. Maybe their target was too small. Anyway they missed.

The chase led out of the alley and around a corner. There a flivver from the Pekin station containing Patrolmen John Sarrell and Carmen Zarling was cruising. Johnny leaped on the running board. The flivver took up the pursuit.

One bandit escaped, but the leader was captured after a two block chase. He is Anthony Di Giovanni, 26 years old, 630 West 25th street. In 1927 he was sentenced to Joliet penitentiary for five years on five charges of robbery with a gun. He was paroled in 1929. After the policemen had handcuffed Di Giovanni and set him in the rear seat, Johnny asked Sarrell, the driver.

"Will you take me back to the plant? I gotta finish checking in."

BOY VIOLINIST AND BROTHER FLEE GUARDIAN

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Ruggiero Ricci, the 11 year old violinist prodigy, and his brother, Giorgio, 9, ran away last night from the home of their legal guardian, Miss Mary Elizabeth Lackey, and later were found by the police in the home of their father, Peter Ricci, at 404 Riverside drive, according to the police.

Returning late to her apartment, Miss Lackey discovered the boys were missing and, fearing they had been kidnaped, reported their disappearance to police. Detectives located the boys at their father's home, where Ruggiero and his brother were permitted to remain for the night.

BABY CRUSHED TO DEATH WHEN HE STARTS ELEVATOR

Stanley Moranz, 2½ years old, was crushed to death yesterday when he was caught between an elevator and a wall of the Park Royal apartment hotel, 451 Wrightwood avenue. He was left momentarily in the lift, an automatic elevator, while Miss Cecelia Piede, his maid, called at the lobby desk for some mail. In her absence the child started the car, and was crushed. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Moranz, wealthy confectionery store owners.

Pigeon Used by Kidnapers Eludes Plane

New York, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—A pair of kidnaper's pigeons outsmarted an airplane this afternoon, when the police called their newest anti-crime unit into service to combat a clever scheme of the abductor of Michael Cushing, 32 year old Long Island City man, who disappeared on Nov. 19.

Birds to Carry Ransom.

An anonymous telephone call to Cushing's brother, Robert Cushing, informed him today that Cushing would be returned if a $500 bill were tied to a leg of each of two homing pigeons which would be found in a stationery store at a certain Long Island City address.

Cushing called the police and they found the two pigeons in a small wood and wire cage in the designated store, just as the mysterious voice over the telephone had said they would be. The proprietor of the store said he knew nothing about them—said a man had left them there to be called for later.

Loses Pigeon in Flock.

This afternoon Lieut. Charles Dorshel went up in a police airplane and as he swooped low over the roof of the stationery store one of the pigeons was released—without the $500 bill, however.

Lieut. Dorshel saw it circle slowly, climbing all the time, and he maneuvered his plane to follow it. Finally, the bird gained altitude and seemed lined out for its home—but about a quarter of a mile away it ran into a whole flock of pigeons, forty or fifty of them, and the whole flock quickly disappeared.

CUNARD SIGNS CONTRACT FOR $22,500,000 SHIP

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Construction of the biggest ship ever to be conceived drew one step nearer today when the Cunard Line signed a contract for a 73,000 ton trans-Atlantic liner. It will be twenty per cent bigger than the American Leviathan.

This ship, resulting from Germany's challenge with the Bremen and Europa may bring back the ocean speed title to the British merchant marine. Although nobody was making any promises, it was believed in shipping circles that the new liner would be able to reach a speed of thirty knots.

It will be 1,013 feet long, and it will cost between $22,500,000 and $25,000,000. Later a sister ship is to be built.

'EXILED' POLICE CAPTAINS PUT BACK ON DUTY

New Jury Directed to Carry On Inquiry.

The "Siberia detail" of the police department was abolished last night in an order issued by Acting Commissioner Alcock. The abolition of the detail, which virtually exiled six captains in the abandoned North Halsted street station, came within a few hours after Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court had urged the December grand jury to carry on the work of previous juries in investigating conditions in the police department.

Chief Justice McGoorty had requested the assignment of the "exiled" captains to active duty in a letter to the acting commissioner last Friday. He had suggested that the captains be put to work to try to find Al Capone, if no other duties could be found for them.

Information Bureau Created.

The order issued last evening, which also created a new bureau of criminal information and statistics for the police department, made the following assignments of the six captains:

Capt. Richard P. Gill to the East Chicago avenue district.

Capt. Alfred C. Christenson, who went to the abandoned station after the papers of the late Jack Zuta showed an entry of $3,500 to the East Chicago avenue district, was transferred to the detective bureau in charge of the missing persons division.

Capt. John P. Ryan, deputy chief of detectives until a secret police list of gangsters scheduled for arrest was found under the pillow of a Capone bondsman, was put in charge of the motorcycle section. Lieut. Andy Smith has been in charge of this section for many years.

Other Captains Are Shifted.

Acting Commissioner Alcock made it possible to put all his captains to work by creating the new bureau of criminal information and statistics and by placing captains in charge of divisions which have heretofore been in charge of minor officials. The following captains were moved in these transfers:

Capt. Michael W. Delaney, from the East Chicago avenue district to the radio section. Capt. Delaney has been in ill health.

The only man left in the "Siberia detail" is Sergt. Joseph Spangler, who was placed in charge of the exiled captains. It is expected that he will be moved back to his old assignment and the station again closed up.

Sergt. Spangler's job was to see that the exiled captains arrived at 8 o'clock each morning, did not take more than

Omen of Early Trade Revival Seen in Sales

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Chicagoans put on their overshoes and mufflers yesterday and set out, Christmas savings in their pockets, to do their Christmas shopping. Many already had a good start, according to reports of State street stores, which have done a brisk business since Thanksgiving.

Reports from the outlying districts also indicated that Christmas buying rush has begun, and retailers both inside and outside the loop say business is fully as good as it was at this time last year. Bankers and business men see in the early buying a symptom of trade revival.

But while the stores yesterday were crowded with shoppers who trod on each other's toes, buying Christmas presents proved less of an ordeal than usual.

Some of the Reasons.

There are several reasons for this.

First, the saleswomen and men newly employed by the stores for the holidays are so glad to be working that they greet each customer as if the customer were Santa Claus himself.

Second, the prices of nearly everything are lower than last year's.

Third, if you want to be extravagant and buy, for instance, a pair of lounging pajamas of turquoise blue and black chiffon velvet for your mother or your wife, you can do it and feel virtuous about it, remembering the slogans about bringing prosperity back by spending.

Sensible Christmas Buying.

"The trend of the buying points to sensible Christmas gifts," said the head of one department store. "However, many of the usual Christmas merchandise items are enjoying a good sale. After all, no one can be excessively sensible at Christmas."

"More persons were in our store last Friday than on the day after Thanksgiving last year," said an executive in another large department store. "Our volume of business in dollars was not quite so great as the corresponding day of last year, but the number of sales was from 15 to 20 per cent ahead of the number on that day last year. Our business on Saturday was within $100 of that of Friday."

One store reported that the following departments ran ahead in the total money volume of sales for Friday and Saturday compared to corresponding days last year: Gloves, linens, blankets and comforters, cotton dress goods, women's coats, moderately priced dresses, misses and juniors' outer apparel, misses' overcoats, the book section, larger women's coats and dresses, lingerie, women's and misses' house dresses, misses' dresses, boys' clothing, shoes, men's underwear, rugs, furniture, and young men's overcoats and sports clothes.

Sales of Jewelry Heavy.

In one kitchenware section a little knot of women stood looking wistfully at a woman demonstrating a new ironing machine, and one was heard to remark: "I wish Bert could get me one for Christmas." But on the other hand, the counter at which turquoise beads and earrings, the smartest thing in the way of jewelry this season, were being sold was crowded in every store. These beads may be had as low as $2.50.

A rushing business was being done at various counters where cocktail shakers and glasses were sold.

"All out of blondes," one toy department salesgirl said to another. "Why does every one want a blonde doll? Why won't the dark haired ones sell?"

SWEPT BY GALE, GAS GONE, SHE FINDS A HAVEN

BY NORMAN STRATON.

NASSAU, Bahamas, Dec. 1.—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian pilot and former women's transcontinental speed champion in the United States, who has been missing since she left Havana, Cuba, Friday morning on a flight to Miami, Fla., is alive and safe.

She arrived here today aboard a fishing boat after her tiny bullet plane had been forced down on one of the Andros islands in the Bahama group on the same day she took the air at the Cuban capital.

Sees Land; Heads for It.

With the compass of her rickety plane crippled and without a radio or even a turn and bank indicator, Mrs. Keith-Miller flew "blind" for several hours as a terrific gale buffeted her about the sky. Only a drop of gasoline was left and the aviatrix had given up all hope when she spied the Andros islands.

"I saw land and turned my plane with the wind," she said upon her arrival here. "There wasn't enough gas left for me to try to make a safe landing. I zoomed down at a great speed and the machine clattered over the rocks and sand into a clump of bushes and stopped. I wasn't even hurt. I didn't know where I was."

According to Mrs. Keith-Miller the plane was not damaged in the forced landing.

Cables Mother She's Safe.

"Safe. Notify friends. Love."

Mrs. Keith-Miller, who left Havana at 9 o'clock Friday morning, made her forced landing at Kemp's bay in the Andros islands, which is about 120 miles east of Key Largo, Fla., at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. In the six and a half hours, her plane had been swept miles off her course to Miami by the gale from the west.

After she landed her plane by skillful piloting the young aviatrix called for help. There was no response. She looked for signs of habitation and found none. After wandering about for a half an hour she discovered a path and walked sixteen miles before she found the settlement of Mangrove.

Wireless Out of Order.

The settlement boasted a wireless station, but the apparatus was out of order, and she was unable to communicate to the world that she had not been swallowed up by the ocean. Commissioner Forsyth came to her assistance and secured a fishing smack to take her to Nassau.

When the weather permitted, the craft left for Nassau with Mrs. Keith-Miller as the sole passenger.

The Australian pilot tonight announced that she would return to Kemp's bay tomorrow by plane to retrieve her machine.

"I'll fly it to Miami, too," she added.

Flew a Tricky Plane.

New York, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—With several rescue expeditions forming for a wide search of the Florida keys and adjacent waters for Mrs. Keith-Miller, who had been missing four days, word of her safety came through by wireless from the pilot herself to her mother in New York.

In the flyer's temporary New York home her mother, Mrs. E. M. L. Beveridge of Sydney, Australia, smiled and cried a little and then smiled again as she clutched the bit of yellow paper on which the news of her daughter's safety had reached her.

Mrs. Beveridge, as soon as she had recovered from the joyful shock, telephoned to Miami, where Capt. W. N. Lancaster, Mrs. Keith-Miller's former flying partner, was organizing a search and informed him of the news.

Capt. Lancaster, who had flown with a navy pilot through bad weather, first from Pittsburgh and then from Washington, in the last two days, was in conference with Pan-American airways officials when he learned that Mrs. Keith-Miller was safe. He at once made arrangements to fly to Nassau.

The Australian woman flyer had left Pittsburgh on Nov. 22 in her tricky little monoplane for a flight to Havana. The trip south was attended with dif-

The Normal Buyers of Today Are the Leaders of Today

The past always looks rosier than the future. The reason for this, observers point out, lies in the fact that the past has had the fear squeezed out of it. Everything that's past is certain. It's the future that bothers us. The depressions of 1893, 1907, and 1920 pale into insignificance as we focus our attention on the one of 1930.

Yet this one, too, soon will become the property of the past. Then, when business begins to feel the spur of revival, the present fears will vanish and new and different problems will occupy the attention. The big thing to do now, it would seem, is to hasten the time of revival.

The surest way to do that is through the resumption of normal buying for normal needs on the part of every one whose income remains steady. The people who start it now will deserve to be recognized as the real leaders of the day. Through their foresighted action, business will steady itself and unemployment will go into a rapid decline.

ficulties. The plane was not equipped with the special instruments needed for an overwater flight and blind air travel. It had no artificial horison, the girl's mother said, no drift indicator, so necessary to flyers over seas to help them gauge the wind and keep their course, and no bank and turn indicator, an instrument almost a requisite in keeping a plane in stable position when visibility is not the best.

"These things cost money, and she didn't have any," her mother explained.

In spite of these handicaps, Mrs. Keith-Miller set out from Pittsburgh. She was forced down at Charleston, S. C., and after spending the night there went on the next day to Miami and Havana. She remained in the Cuban capital nearly a week and then started back.

Friends urged her to wait for the northbound Pan-American Airways plane and follow the radio equipped transport across to the Florida coast. She shook her head and insisted that she would start then.

Winds Against Her.

Winds were against her and the sky was not at its best, but in spite of the odds Mrs. Keith-Miller took off. She should have reached Miami within three hours.

Weather observers and experienced pilots said she might have struck a changing wind. One theory was advanced that she had flown to the south, had missed the keys and pushed out over the Gulf of Mexico.

As soon as news was received here that Mrs. Keith-Miller was safe it was flashed to friends all over the world. In six minutes Australia had it, and Mrs. Beveridge asked that a special message be sent to Wing Commander Kingsford Smith, a close friend of Mrs. Keith-Miller.

The aviatrix, wife of an Australian newspaper man, set an east to west transcontinental flight in the United States Oct. 16. She arrived in New York from Los Angeles ten days later with the west to east record.

"Sorry, Bill; Quite Safe."

Miami, Fla., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Capt. W. N. Lancaster, former Mrs. Keith-Miller's flying partner, received a message from the rescued airwoman tonight forwarded from New York.

He quoted it: "Sorry, Bill. Quite safe. CHUBBIE."

Capt. Lancaster said he expects to leave at dawn tomorrow in a chartered plane, pick up Mrs. Keith-Miller and return to Andros.

"I probably will not allow Mrs. Keith-Miller to fly her plane back here," the captain said, "but will bring it myself. She is heroic in her plan to continue the flight, but I think it best she should not fly from the island."

"Am at Nassau and Safe."

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. John Liggett Jr., Pittsburgh woman, who was one of the sponsors of the flight of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, tonight said she had received a cablegram from the Australian aviatrix, similar to the message sent Mrs. C. S. Beveridge at New York. The telegram received here said:

"I'm at Nassau and safe."

It was signed "Chubby Miller," "Chubby" being a name by which the aviatrix is known to her friends.

Hunt for Missing Flyer.

Try Dredge Company Suit Against City for $150,000

Trial of the suit of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company against the city for $150,000 for "extras" on its river straightening contract because of difficulties due to the high lake level, was begun yesterday before Chief Justice Stanley Klarkowski of the Circuit court. The suit was filed a year ago when the city council refused payment of the extra amount after Corporation Counsel Ettleson ruled that the claim should not be allowed and the Citizens' association, after an investigation, gave a similar opinion.

Ruth Nichols Sets Record Crossing Country by Plane

RUTH NICHOLS.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—With an elapsed time record better than any woman's and exceeded by only one man, Ruth Nichols, New York society woman, ended her flight from New York to Los Angeles today in 16 hours 59⅛ minutes flying time. She set her 450 horse power Crosley-Lockheed-Vega cabin monoplane down at United airport, Burbank, at 11:57 a. m.

Although she started from New York a week ago her elapsed time is within three and one-half hours of the east-west record of Frank Hawks, 12:35.43, set in a special racing plane on Aug. 6, 1930.

Miss Nichols clipped 8:44.30 off the mark established Oct. 10 last by Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller. Her Wasp motor drove her through the air at nearly 200 miles an hour on her last leg from Kingman, Ariz., and Miss Nichols averaged a fraction more than 143 miles an hour over the 2,446 mile airline distance from New York to Los Angeles.

Bad flying weather held the woman pilot on the ground at several points. She will increase the gasoline capacity of her plane, which now carries 350 gallons, and try for a west-east record next week.

Safe in Bahamas

Arrowed line on map shows direction in which plane of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix, was swept by gale last Friday, when she was forced down on one of the Andros islands in the Bahamas on her flight from Havana, Cuba, to Miami, Fla. She hiked 16 miles to the nearest settlement and was taken to Nassau aboard a fishing boat. The gale blew her plane 120 miles east of her course.

Auto Victim Dies; Toll for Year Is Now 1,014

Alonzo Robinson, 39 year old Negro, of 4431 Indiana avenue, died yesterday of injuries received July 3 when he was struck by the automobiles of Herbert Walker, 233 West 61st street. This death increased the Cook county motor toll for the year to 1,014.

Charges Fraud in Sale of Patent for Floating Safe

Menotti Nanni, inventor, began mandamus proceedings yesterday in which he charged that his cousin, John Cervelli, doublecrossed him and sold out a valuable invention while he was in Europe making contracts with foreign governments. Nanni was founder of the Ocean Floating Safe company. His bill says he had a plant at 4520 West Grand avenue and that his business was worth at least $2,500,000. His attorney, Blaine B. Gernon, says that Nanni's safe is designed for ocean liners. In the event the ship sinks, the safe bobs to the surface.

Mother of Condemned Man on Trial for Escape Plot

The trial of Mrs. Julia Glovka of Cleveland, who is charged with plotting to liberate her son, William Lenhardt, under sentence of death for murder, from the county jail, was started yesterday in Judge Joseph Sabath's court. She is on trial with Joseph Connior, 62 years old, former jail guard, and Walter Wheeler, a colored prisoner in the jail.

Spanish Archpriest Slain; Shot 3 Times by Assassin

MADRID, Dec. 1.— (AP) —Reports reaching Madrid tonight from Valencia said that the archpriest in Villar Del Arzobispo was assassinated by Francisco Lazaro, a resident of the town, who shot the clergyman three times. Residents of the village said the assassin was mentally subnormal.

MILDER WEATHER TO FOLLOW ZERO, FORECAST SAYS

Increasing cloudiness and temperatures "not quite so low" this afternoon and tomorrow will bring relief from the zero weather which last night and early today gripped Chicago and several nearby states, Forecaster W. P. Day predicted last night. There is a possibility that light snow may accompany the rise in temperature in the Chicago district tonight.

The temperature dropped steadily in Chicago yesterday afternoon and evening, standing at 7 above at midnight. A temperature of 2 degrees below zero was reported at Lake Zurich at midnight, while at Winthrop Harbor it was 1 below. Libertyville reported zero, as did Melrose Park and Bellwood. At Zion and Waukegan it was 1 above and at Lake Forest and Lake Bluff 2 above.

The lowest temperatures of the season were recorded yesterday as the cold wave swept across the northern tier of the central states. Bemidji, Minn., reported 20 degrees below zero while it was 18 below at Devils Lake, N. D., and from 10 to 14 below in various points in Minnesota. Temperatures were rising in this area last night as the storm moved over Illinois and Indiana.

Fine 2 in Faroe Isles for Pulling Down Dane Flag

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THORSHAVN, Faroe Islands, Dec. 1.—A Faroe island court today fined Patrusson and Nicklasen, who were arrested in July after the Danish flag was hauled down from the local parliament flagstaff and a special Faroe islands flag substituted. Patrusson was fined $80 and Nicklasen $26.

JAIL 2 FASCIST FOES FOR POISON PEN LETTER CHAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Dec. 1.—For the second time within a month the Fascist police sprung their traps during the last week-end and brought in scores of persons suspected of anything from conspiracy to a lack of enthusiasm.

The men caught in the dragnet include Renzo Rendi, a journalist, correspondent for the New York Evening Post and Prof. Maro Vinciguerra.

Both men are said to be accused of being the brains of a poison pen chain letter system with which leading personalities in Italy were circularized regularly.

Prof. Marara of Columbia university, who is here on sabbatical leave, was arrested Sunday morning when he called at Sig. Rendi's, but released released, as he was obviously unaware of the activities of his friend.

GOOD FELLOWS! CHRISTMAS CALL IS SOUNDED AGAIN

Rally to Take Baskets Into Poor Homes.

Good Fellows will play Santa Claus again this year. There will be a Christmas for the children of the poor.

For twenty years Good Fellows have carried baskets of fruit, candy, nuts, toys and generally some staple groceries to the homes of the unfortunate so that on Christmas morning there would not be the heart break of empty stockings. The Good Fellows will be carrying their baskets again three weeks from tomorrow.

This year the Good Fellows are doing something more practical than giving a holiday to the destitute. They are rehabilitating families, providing for standard minimum budgets, supplying the indigent with food, clothing and shelter until unemployed bread winners can get back to their jobs of bread winning. It's scientific charity.

Now Comes Christmas Time.

It's scientific charity, but it is Christmas. Santa Claus doesn't have an auditor on his accounts. Maybe he isn't even practical. But he's kind, and he's everything in the world to the thousands of little boys and girls whose faith in life itself will be blighted if he doesn't bring them a doll or a ball and some candy and nuts.

The Good Fellows are going to continue their scientific charity, aiding families through the temporary business depression to become self-supporting again, but they're also going to be humanly sentimental. They're going to play Santa Claus again to the children of the poor.

The rehabilitation welfare service, which will continue through the winter, is being sponsored by trained and experienced social workers, some employed by THE TRIBUNE and others by the United Charities, the Central Charity bureau [Catholic], the Jewish Social Service bureau, and the Salvation Army. The Good Fellow Santa Claus will have practically the entire job in his own hands.

Your Cash Is Needed.

The Good Fellow headquarters, in THE TRIBUNE offices at Dearborn and Madison streets, wants your cash contribution, for $1 or for thousands of dollars, to aid in effecting a permanent relief from destitution in some home. Every penny will reach some family whose needs and worthiness have been carefully investigated.

For the Santa Claus job, the Good Fellow headquarters doesn't want your money. It's your assignment to buy the groceries, the sweets and the toys and to take the basket into some home where it will be welcomed by boys and girls who have known all too few of the world's pleasures.

You wouldn't want the system to work any other way. You lack the training and the experience to guide a family through its economic trials, frequently complicated with other social problems, and onto its own feet again as a valued asset to society. You might cause the family to lose its self-respect. Or you might not furnish the proper encouragement and direction for the family to try to help itself.

Makes It Merry Christmas.

And you wouldn't want any one to take your place as Santa Claus on Christmas eve. You wouldn't want to be deprived of the pleasure of seeing little boys and girls beam with gratitude and delight in the unwordly happiness of childhood. That's what will make Dec. 25 a Merry Christmas for you. You don't need any training or experience to act as Santa Claus; all you need is a heart.

Here's the way the Good Fellow Santa Claus will work. Mail your request for families to the Good Fellows, THE TRIBUNE, Chicago. For your convenience, the coupon published elsewhere in this issue can be clipped from the paper and, with the blanks filled in, dropped in an envelope for mailing. The coupon is also being used by the Good Fellows who are furnishing necessities for the destitute, but there's a separate place for Santa Claus recruits.

You tell the Good Fellow headquarters how many families you'll visit on Christmas eve and in what section of the city you want them. The headquarters will mail you the names and addresses.

No one else will receive the family that is given to you. You'll be the only Santa Claus for that family, in all probability, unless some neighbor makes an unexpected visit. And if you fail to bring a basket to the family assigned to you there'll be empty stockings on Christmas morning.

The Good Fellow Santa Clauses, like the Good Fellow family rehabilitators, will have the services of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies as a clearing house to avoid duplication of gifts and to guarantee that the recipients are worthy. Companies, clubs, and churches that are planning to distribute baskets can also use this service.

There'll probably be many Good Fellows who have adopted a family for the period of the unemployment emergency who will want to provide a Christmas basket in addition to the necessities that are covered by their regular contributions. If these Good Fellows do not know their family, they can arrange for an introductory visit on Christmas eve by calling or writing the Good Fellow headquarters.

Should Deliver in Person.

The Good Fellows enlisted in organized charity activities this year because of the unusual demands will be encouraged to deliver their Christmas gifts to the poor personally, just like those Good Fellows who, following the custom of two decades, are going out to fill stockings of boys and girls in impoverished homes. Santa Claus doesn't have any deputies; he makes all of his deliveries personally.

The spirit of this Christmas Good Fellow work was never better told than in the original Good Fellow letter, now an historical document, that was published in THE TRIBUNE in December of 1909, launching the first Good Fellow campaign against unhappiness for children on the birthday of Jesus Christ. It's reproduced today. Read it.

If you want to help, either in providing bread and coal to those who are without, or in saving some children's faith in Santa Claus and in humanity, there's the coupon awaiting your pencil. Write the Good Fellows, THE TRIBUNE, Chicago.

To Chicago Good Fellows

My dear Friend—

Last Christmas and New Year's eve you and I went out for a good time and spent from $10 to $200. Last Christmas morning over five thousand children awoke to an empty stocking—the bitter pain of disappointment that Santa Claus had forgotten them. Perhaps it wasn't our fault. We had provided for our own; we had also reflected in a passing way on those less fortunate than our own, but they seemed far away and we didn't know where to find them. Perhaps in the hundred and one things we had to do some of us didn't think of that heart sorrow of the child over an empty stocking.

Now, old man, here's a chance. I've tried it for the last five years and ask you to consider it. Just send your name and address to THE TRIBUNE—address Santa Claus—state how many children you are willing to provide against grief over an empty stocking, inclose a 2 cent stamp, and you will be furnished with the names, addresses, sex, and age of that many children. It is then up to you; you do the rest, select your own presents, spend 50 cents or $50, and send or take your gifts to those children on Christmas eve. You pay not one cent more than you want to pay—every cent just where you want it to go. You gain neither notoriety nor advertising; you deal with no organization. No record will be kept; your letter will be returned to you with its answer. The whole plan is just as anonymous as Santa Claus himself.

This is not a newspaper scheme. THE TRIBUNE was asked to aid in reaching the Good Fellows by publishing this suggestion, and to receive your communication, in order that you may be assured of good faith, and to preserve the anonymous character of this work. The identity of the writer of this appeal will not be disclosed. He assumes the responsibility of finding the children and sending you to their homes, and guarantees that whatever you bestow will be deserved.

Neither you nor I get anything out of this except the feeling that you have saved some child from sorrow on Christmas morning. If that is not enough for you, then you have wasted your time in reading this—it is not intended for you, but for the Good Fellows of Chicago.

Perhaps a 25-cent doll or a 10-cent toy wouldn't mean much to the children you know, but to the poor child these in an otherwise empty stocking mean much—the difference between utter disappointment and the joy that Santa Claus did not forget. Here is where you and I get in. The charitable organizations attend to the bread and the meat, the clothes, the necessaries; you and the rest of the Good Fellows furnish the toys, the nuts, the candies—the children's real Christmas.

Sincerely

Good Fellow

Swift Inundation Makes Thousands Homeless.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 1.—A two foot wall of water rushing down the flooded valley of the Marne at unexpected speed, hit Paris tonight, driving thousands of persons out of their homes, making a lake out of one of the most thickly populated sections of the suburbs.

The flood has not yet spilled over the top of the high parapets which canalize the Seine, but it is seeping in cellars and sewers. Dozens of communities on the outskirts of town, at the point where the Marne and Seine converge, are completely inundated, the water reaching a depth of three feet in some houses.

Abandon Paris Terminal.

The level of the Seine tonight stands at 20 feet above normal at the Austerlitz bridge, six inches above the highest point reached in the city in the 1924 floods. The Invalides railroad station, near the French foreign office, has been closed as the tracks are flooded and the passenger traffic for which it is the terminus has been rerouted to the Champs de Mars and Montparnasse stations. Twenty-three pumps are at work keeping the waters from the underground tracks between the Quai d'Orsay and Austerlitz stations.

Thousands of rescue workers have been busy all day evacuating marooned suburbanites with the aid of row boats. Conservative estimates place the total of temporarily homeless at close to 5,000.

The authorities are having difficulty in trying to find accommodations for this army of refugees, despite the conversion of military barracks, hospitals and schools into dormitories.

Fear Spread of Disease.

If the flood continues the problem of taking care of the evacuated families and of preventing epidemics caused by the contamination of drinking water supplies, will be critical. But with two days of dry weather it is hoped that most of the victims will be able to return to their homes not later than Thursday. Strong hopes exist that this will happen as it has stopped raining.

THEATER PARTY ROBBED.

Gunmen early yesterday robbed Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sampson, 3300 Sheridan road, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Katzenberg, 5142 North Central Park avenue, of jewels with a total value of $600 as they drove up to the Katzenberg home, following an after theater party.

SURVEY SHOWS MANY WILD ANIMALS STILL LIVE IN CHICAGOLAND

Different families of wild animals ordinarily supposed to have been greatly depleted in Chicago and the surrounding territory, still survive in substantial numbers despite an inhospitable modern civilization, it was announced following the completion of a survey recently. Of the valuable fur bearers, only the beaver is extinct in Chicagoland.

The survey was conducted by Edwin Komarek of the Chicago Academy of Sciences and Donald Spencer of the biological survey of the United States department of agriculture. A year and a half was spent in a search in Chicago and the territory within a 50 mile radius which resulted in the finding that, of the 53 species of mammals known to have lived in this region, 38 still survive.

The red and gray fox and the mink exist in large numbers, the survey showed. Some of the other wild animals, most of them valued for their pelts, which were disclosed by the survey, are coyotes, skunks, badgers, muskrats, and woodchucks and many others. Approximately 3,000 specimens of the 38 species were collected. Many were found in the public parks.

DRY LAW HAS ITS BUSIEST YEAR; 27,709 JAILED

Prisons Reported Jammed to Breaking Point.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Prohibition put more persons in jail and prison for longer terms, placed more cases on the court dockets, and snapped more padlocks on private property this year than last, according to the annual report of Attorney General Mitchell, made public today. The report said enforcement during the fiscal year 1930 "showed improvement over 1929."

The dry law in the year ended July 1, the report showed, gave the federal prosecutors, judges, and prison officials their biggest year of prohibition activity since the dry era began.

"Enforcement of the national prohibition act during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, as reflected in prosecutions, showed improvement over 1929," the report said. "From the reports of district attorneys it appears that enforcement officers filed stronger and better cases this year and that, as a rule, the courts acted upon them accordingly.

More Jury Trials.

"While there were only 206 more cases instituted this year produced 105 more trials by jury. Nevertheless the ratio of convictions by juries remained constant. Evidently the commercial violator was having more of his day in court.

"A like trend further appears from the increases in the number of permanent injunctions granted by the courts and the greater number of jail and prison sentences imposed. Jail and prison sentences were imposed in 27,709 cases in 1930, 5,107 more than in 1929. The average length of sentences increased in greater proportion than did the number.

In another section the attorney general deplored the "serious congestion" in some of the courts, while in another section, dealing with the new prison expansion program, the report said:

"Everywhere there has been overcrowding, wholesale treatment of offenders, and overtaxing of facilities until the breaking point has been reached. As in the immediate past the population of our institutions has continued to mount during the fiscal year just closed."

FIVE NEW DRY LAW BILLS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Wets in the house of representatives got away to a speedy start on proposed new legislation today.

A national referendum on repeal of the eighteenth amendment was proposed in a resolution presented today by Representative A. Piatt Andrew [Rep., Mass.].

Representative Clarence J. McLeod [Rep., Mich.] introduced by proxy three anti-prohibition measures, one calling for a constitutional convention, another for a national referendum, and a third providing for submission of an amendment banning the manufacture or use of liquor "except for use in the home and places of abode."

At the same time Representative Roy O. Woodruff [Rep., Mich.] introduced a bill to invoke the powers of the federal government under the commerce clause of the constitution to aid in suppression of racketeering and gangster activities.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Woman, in winning new legislative victories for herself, has changed from a female to a citizen, so far as this lame duck session of the 71st congress is concerned.

So this noon, when the house of representatives assembled, the seven of its nine feminine members present took their seats quietly, without the old time accompaniment of flashlights and flowers. A few wore orchids, but the bouquets were small and businesslike.

The arithmetic of sex for this congress gives the following overlapping facts:

In all, nine women will sit, five Republicans and four Democrats. Eight can look back on former congressional experience, one is a newcomer. Six can look forward to seats in the 72d congress; three will be absent from that session, through choice or chance. Eight states are represented, with Arkansas sending two women. All the ladies are wives or widows.

Some Lady Lame Ducks.

The trio who today began their final session are, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick [Rep., Ill.], Mrs. Katherine Langley [Rep., Ky.], and Mrs. Pearl Oldfield [Dem., Ark.].

Mrs. McCormick preferred to take a chance on being the first woman senator in the United States to making a more certain run for reelection. Mrs. Langley was defeated and Mrs. Oldfield is going to put into practice her theory that woman's place most decidedly is not in congress. She declined to run again.

All three were present. Mrs. Langley was as gay and composed as if her defeat hadn't jolted preëjection forecasts all out of line. Mrs. McCormick was chummy with her good friend, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, who, rumor insists, will some day try for the senatorship on the Democratic ticket in Florida.

Widow Replaces Wingo.

Mrs. Oldfield sat next to the newcomer, also from Arkansas, Mrs. Effie Gene Wingo, who fills the vacancy caused by the death of her husband, the late Representative Otis Wingo.

It wasn't an easy day for Mrs. Wingo. Condolence tinged congratulation. Almost the first thing she heard, in the house, was a resolution of sorrow over the death of her husband, which occurred six weeks ago tomorrow. Tears came to her eyes and Mrs. Oldfield reached over and held her hand.

Later, Mrs. Wingo sat in the office that had been her husband's, with his picture on the desk before her, and said:

"Everything has come so suddenly that I think it is almost harder for me than for the other widows who have taken up their husbands' duties. Six weeks is a short time in which to gather up the threads and to try to go forward. But I have been in Washington for seventeen years, working with my husband, and for the last three years I have been particularly active in his work, so that I have that experience to help me."

Mrs. Rogers in Gray.

Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers [Rep., Mass.], the first woman ever to preside over a regular session of the lower house, attracted considerable attention on two scores: she was wearing a gray gown instead of the black she usually chooses, and she was wearing her fluffy gray hair in a new style. Even the men weren't indifferent to this change.

Mrs. Mary J. Norton [Dem., N. J.] pointed out all the celebrities, except herself, to her niece, Miss Mary McDonagh of Pelham Manor, New York.

That accounts for seven. The two absentees were Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of California and Mrs. Ruth B. Pratt of New York, both Republicans. Mrs. Kahn, with a famous sense of humor, is the oldest woman in the group, and not afraid to say so.

These nine, distinctly individual in their tastes and clothes, want to be known as equally individuals when it comes to politics. They resent very much being called "the woman's bloc."

WELLAND, Ont., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Morley A. Parrett, quietly enjoying oyster stew, looked distressed when her teeth clamped unexpectedly on something hard. You know the rest. It was a pearl—the biggest and best a local jeweler had ever seen.

FLOOD OF BILLS TO HELP FARMER AND IDLE TOILER

Government Aid Asked from Congress.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Drought and unemployment relief measures were most numerous among bills introduced today as congress reconvened.

Senator J. T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], minority leader of the senate, announced the terms of a far reaching drought relief bill, one of the features of which is an authorization to the President to obtain possession of wheat financed by the farm board for distribution through the Red Cross or other agencies for use as seed, feed, or food.

The Robinson bill, which the Arkansas senator said was presented on his own responsibility, also authorizes a $60,000,000 fund for seed and feed loans in the drought areas and further authority to make loans to states up to a maximum of $5,000,000 per state for building of "farm to market" roads. Authority is given for the issuance of bonds to provide funds.

In the house there were a number of drought relief bills introduced, including what is regarded as the administration bill for a $60,000,000 loan fund, which was presented by Representative J. B. Atwell [Dem., La.], ranking minority member of the committee of agriculture, and which will be offered in the senate by Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], chairman of the senate committee on agriculture.

MAY UPROOT GRAPES TO END SURPLUS IF U. S. WILL PAY FOR IT

Fresno, Cal., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—An organization of San Joaquin valley grape growers today proposed cooperative effort to uproot 50,000 acres of grape vines. The intention is to cut down a yearly surplus and raise prices. The federal farm board will be asked to reimburse the growers for their destroyed acreage, the sum estimated being $750,000. In the last five years more than 40,000 acres of grapes have already been torn out in an effort to halt a yearly deficit to the grape growing industry.

Acidity
More insidious than skulking assassins, Acidity lays more men low than all the guns of gangdom! Many a rundown condition, many a case of "nerves," sleeplessness and melancholy is really Acidity.
When the stomach secretes too much acid it causes acid-indigestion, with gas, sourness, and burning. It also sets up fermentation and putrefaction in the intestines, creating poisons which pull down physically and mentally. A marvelous German development, called Magnesia Oxoids, corrects Acidity in the right way. Upon contact with the gastric juice, Magnesia Oxoids generate nascent or active oxygen. The oxygen stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus which keeps the acid in check; corrects intestinal fermentation and stimulates peristalsis or the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary, and only Magnesia Oxoids supply them because it is the only magnesia product known to science which, when taken internally, releases oxygen to the system.
To see just how "acid" you are, make this test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from (Walgreen's Drug Stores or Economical Drug Stores) or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal and see how much better you feel—how much more soundly you sleep and how much more energy you have. If after taking the contents of one bottle, the results don't more than amaze you, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money promptly and in full.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

CONGRESS OPENS WITH BANG—ON RADICAL PATES

Gavels Pound Desks; Police Pound Reds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICE PRESIDENT CURTIS.

It was noon of Dec. 1.

Congress, obedient to section 1V., article 11., of the United States constitution, was in session again.

Inside the capitol's classic pale gray walls, in their respective assembly chambers, which had been freshly swept and polished, senators and representatives shook each others hands with the dignity befitting high office and passed resolutions with the casualness befitting experience.

Outside, 400 delegates to the National Conference for Protection of the Foreign Born—some of them citizens, most of them aliens; some of them white, some of them black, and all of them a reddish political hue, waved placards and kicked at the shins of the law's majesty.

Senate Comes to Order.

Vice President "Charlie" Curtis, swart, solid, pounded his gavel and remarked: "Let the senate be in order, please." And got order enough to get along on.

SPEAKER LONGWORTH.

Speaker "Nick" Longworth, pink, polished, pounded his gavel and vociferated: "The house will please come to order." And got very little order at all.

Half a hundred policemen, irritated, warm, pounded billies on radical crowns, punched radical noses, took the radical banners inscribed, "Down with Lynching!" "Down with Discriminatory Legislation!" "Down with Finger Printing of Aliens!" literally, and tore them down, and got the least order of any one.

In the senate Chaplain Z. B. Phillips led the senators, devoutly standing, in prayer. In the house Chaplain James S. Montgomery led the representatives, quiet at last, in prayer. In the plaza, the police turned their tear gas equipment on the radicals, who were far from devout or quiet, and chased them down the street.

A Boisterous Beginning.

All in all, it was a boisterous beginning to what is likely to be a boisterous session, even though it is only three months and four days long, holidays included.

And it was a significant beginning. For the riot outside epitomized more than one of the troublous questions that this congress will try to settle. Screaming women, struggling men were the personifications of the issues senators and representatives will be asked to legislate into black letters on white paper—communism, immigration, alien control, industrial unrest, depression, and unemployment.

There was a hush in the senate as Vice President Curtis leaned forward, produced a sheaf of resplendently sealed documents, and announced:

"I am laying before the senate the following certificates of election."

Heads in the galleries, packed as the galleries seldom are when there's only the beginning of a "lame duck" session to watch, craned forward and voices whispered. "That's Bob Bulkley of Ohio—a Democrat, from Ohio," as John Crockett, chief clerk, read that Bulkley was entitled to all the rights and privilege of such office.

Enter McGill of Kansas.

Fingers pointed. "Sure, that's the fellow that beat Henry J. Allen," as the new senator from Kansas, George McGill, strode down the center aisle beside the veteran senator from Kansas, Arthur Capper.

They lined up beside the rostrum—Bulkley, McGill, Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware, William E. Brock of Tennessee, Robert D. Cary of Wyoming, and Ben Williamson of Kentucky—and took the oath of office.

Over in the house Paul John Kvale, youthful Farmer-Labor member from Minnesota, strode down the center aisle, shaking Democratic and Republican hands impartially. He smiled and said he was "reserving judgment" regarding which side would get his support at the first session of the seventy-second congress, which will convene after the present "lame duck" session expires.

He urges the independent program of legislation of Senator George Norris and wants to learn before aiding either party if his "vote is going to mean anything more than one in 435."

Thirteen New House Members.

The house had thirteen new members, twelve men and a woman. They were: Mrs. Effie Gene Wingo [Dem., Ark.], E. W. Goss [Rep., Conn.], Burnett M. Chiperfield [Rep., Ill.], Claude V. Parsons [Dem., Ill.], John L. Dorsey Jr. [Dem., Ky.], Frank Hancock [Dem., N. C.], Hinton James [Dem., N. C.], Edmund F. Erk [Rep., Pa.], Robert F. Rich [Rep., Pa.], Francis B. Condon [Dem., R. I.], Frederick C. Loofbouron [Rep., Utah], Robert L. Hogg [Rep., W. Va.], and Michael K. Reilly [Dem., Wis.].

The house passed resolutions appointing a committee to wait upon President Hoover and tell him the members were ready to hear any communication he wished to send them. Which meant that they will meet tomorrow to listen to the President's message as it is read by the clerks in the two houses.

They received and voted on memorial resolutions for members who had died since they last met. There were six in the house.

And then Senator Watson in the senate and Representative Hawley in the house rose and put the resolutions to adjourn.

The 400 radicals by that time were blocks away, wiping the tear gas out of their eyes, a dozen were in cells for disorderly conduct, and one was in the hospital with a broken jaw.

SHOWGIRL BECOMES THE FOURTH WIFE OF NEW YORK FINANCIER

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Ruth Morgan, Ziegfeld showgirl and daughter of State's Attorney M. Earle Morgan of Fairmont, W. Va., was married last Friday to James V. Converse, financier, the Evening World said today.

The marriage took place in New York, the World said. Miss Morgan came here from Hollywood some weeks ago to join the cast of Mr. Ziegfeld's musical comedy, "Smiles."

Converse, member of the firm of Bennett, Converse & Schwab of New York and Washington, is known as a horseman, tennis player and clubman

2½ CENT LETTER POSTAGE URGED TO END DEFICIT

Postmaster General Cites Cost to Taxpayers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Forced to announce a postal deficit of $59,000,000 for the last fiscal year, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, in his annual report issued today, advocated increasing the first class postal rate from 2 to 2½ cents an ounce.

"The mounting deficit should be a matter of concern to every citizen," he said. "It, of course, was made good out of the general funds of the treasury by the taxpayers at large, without regard to the extent of their use of postal facilities or, indeed, to whether they used them at all.

"Why Pay for Private Mail?"

"It is my judgment that the postoffice department should conduct its strictly postal operations without financial loss. It is no more logical to expect the government to transport and deliver private mail for less than cost than it would be to ask a telegraph or telephone company to furnish communication service at less than cost."

Other services performed by the postoffice department have competition, the postmaster general pointed out. To raise such rates would be to invite further competition and greater deficits.

"The only practical solution appears to be an increase in the rate on first class mail, where the government has a monopoly and therefore would run no risk of driving business to competitors," he said.

Minor Revision Suggested.

Such an increase, it is estimated, would result in an anual postal income of $55,000,000. Proposed minor revisions in money order, registered insured, and collect on delivery rates would be counted on to bring in an additional $8,000,000, and thus the deficit would be wiped out.

Actually, as the report showed, the department's gross deficit last year was $98,215,987, as compared with $85,461,176 for the year before.

GIRL, 10, HOLDS FATE OF FATHER IN SLAYING TRIAL

Andrew Belak's liberty depends on the attitude to be taken by his 10 year old daughter, Harriet, when she is called to the witness stand today in Judge E. I. Frankhauser's court to testify as the only eyewitness to the slaying of her mother, Mary Belak. The murder occurred on March 17 in the Belak home at 840 Holt street.

The child at the last trial charged that her father had committed the crime and then shot himself in the wrist to bolster up his claim that the shooting was done by a mysterious George.

STATE REVEALS JUDGE'S SON ON CANAL PAY ROLL

Oppose Trying Sanitary Case Before Williams.

First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup, who has charge of the prosecution of the sanitary district case involving Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the district, and other former officials, last night declared that he will fight to keep the case from the courtrooms of a dozen or more judges because of their political or patronage connections with the former board members.

JUDGE CHARLES WILLIAMS.

Mr. Northup disclosed yesterday that the son of Judge Charles A. Williams, who was scheduled to preside at the trial of the sanitary district case, was on the district pay roll through the sponsorship of his father. The prosecutor said this disclosure would be mild compared to some others he is prepared to make if forced to do so in his fight to get the case before a judge who has no connection with the persons indicted.

It was pointed out by Criminal court officials, however, that if Judge Williams persists in trying the case, despite the disclosure, the prosecutor would be helpless to do anything.

Northup to Go to McGoorty.

Mr. Northup said he intends to appeal for help to Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court. It was pointed out by the officials that Judge McGoorty under the rules of court is powerless to act if Judge Williams insists on trying the case. Judge Williams has the same jurisdictional powers as Judge McGoorty, it was said.

At the hearing yesterday Judge Williams allowed Prosecutor Northup to file his certificate of prejudice to show that the judge had sponsored his son on the district pay roll. He denied the petition, however, and indicated that he would start hearing a motion to quash the indictments on Dec. 15.

Yesterday's hearing opened peacefully with the prosecution asking that the case be transferred to some other judge because Judge Williams is planning a three months vacation in California. Mr. Northup asked not to be compelled to file the certificate of prejudice which he had prepared.

Defense Attorneys Protest.

Attorneys Albert Fink and John L. McInerney for the defense countered with the statement that the prosecutor had agreed on Judge Williams as the trial judge and urged that the case proceed before him.

Northup then read his charges and supported them with photostatic copies of the sponsorship cards and affidavits. One affidavit charged that Willard Williams, 3516 Janssen avenue [the judge's address], collected his salary of $225 a month as a law and docket clerk for the sanitary district without doing any work. It charged that he never made an entry in a docket book and that many of his monthly pay checks were mailed to him so that he would not have to go to the district offices to collect his pay.

"Upon that [the petition and affidavits] we hold your honor is not competent to sit as a trial judge in this case," said Prosecutor Northup. "I don't believe your honor would want to hear the case."

The prosecutor then went through a long recital of the pay vouchers paid to the judge's son.

Judge Raises Question.

"I am not interested in this," replied Judge Williams. "If you had this information, why did you have the case sent to me?"

"I was asked at the time that the case was assigned if I had any objection and I said 'No,'" replied the prosecutor. "At that time I had no objection, but this matter was not fresh in my mind then.

"I am not going to try this case before any judge who was sponsored directly by the officials of the sanitary district, or any judge whose relatives or friends had anything to do with that mess down there, when there are perhaps twenty others on the bench who would not be open to any such objection.

Charges Judges Made and Broken.

"We all know the power of these gentlemen. They have made judges, independently, one or two of them, but when they join themselves together they can make or break judges, and I will not try the case before any judge they made or who can be broken by them," said the prosecutor, pounding the counsel table.

"I don't think you should be quite so broad in your statements," replied Judge Williams.

"I cannot be fair to the public and not be," said Northup. "I am not going to be crucified."

"I don't know whether your crucifixion is any worse than anybody else's," retorted the judge. "You picked me here, and I am up against this proposition here."

The defense attorneys refused to budge from their position that Judge Williams try the case, and it was announced that the arguments on the motion to quash the indictments would be started on Dec. 15. If the indictments are quashed, new ones could not be obtained because, it was said, the statute of limitations would be operative.

DEMOCRATS STILL IN DEADLOCK ON CHOICE OF SANITARY CHIEF

Democrats were still deadlocked over the presidency of the sanitary district last night as the five newly elected members prepared for today's installation in office. At headquarters the leaders generally held that Trustee Elect Thomas J. Bowler appears to be leading Trustee Ross A. Woodhull.

On the new board will be eight Democrats and one Republican, Howard W. Elmore, now president. The Democratic holdovers—Trustees Woodhull, John J. Touhy, and James M. Whalen—and Trustee Elect Dennis A. Horan are for Woodhull.

With the eight Democrats divided four and four, Mr. Elmore looms up as a sort of balance of power in the reorganization of the board. The talk has been that Mr. Elmore is disposed to favor whatever candidate is favored by A. J. Cermak, Democratic county chairman, inasmuch as he was elected president last time through the 40-60 Deneen-Cermak arrangement. Mr. Cermak is regarded as friendly to Bowler.

A conference is to be held today before the new board takes office, and last night both Woodhull and Bowler camps were claiming they would win.

BOMB EXPLOSION ON CANAL BARGE STILL A MYSTERY

Quiz Company Officials in Hunt for Clews.

After 24 hours of investigation the bombing on Sunday night of the $400,000 sand barge, Materials Service No. 1, which injured seven persons, one of them a woman, remained a mystery yesterday. A theory that the explosion resulted from political warfare over forthcoming contracts in the city, county and sanitary district was advanced along with possibilities of labor trouble.

The bomb exploded while the boat, owned by the Latham, Smith & Putnam Navigating company and chartered by the Materials Service corporation, was in midstream in the drainage canal near Summit. The blast wrecked the crew's quarters and the pilot house. The damage was estimated at $10,000 after the barge proceeded to its dock at 34th street and Racine avenue.

Nitroglycerin, Expert Says.

Lieut. Make Mills, bomb expert, declared that the bomb was made of nitroglycerin. He expressed the opinion that the charge had been placed on a movable part of machinery near the steering gear and discharged by motion of the machinery after the barge was five hours out of Lockport. No traces of timing apparatus were found and Lieut. Mills expressed strong doubt that the bomb had been thrown, because of the risk that the thrower would take.

These findings were reported to Alexander Jamie, chief investigator for the "Secret Six" crime fighting committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Demand for investigation by the association was made by Maj. Rufus W. Putnam, former United States army engineer and official of the company owning the boat. A second inquiry is being made by Capt. Peter Larson, government steamboat inspector.

Both Putnam and Henry Crown, president of the materials company, had doubted that the blast was due to a bomb. However, they hinted that a disgruntled employé might have placed an explosive charge.

Officials Are Questioned.

The company officials were questioned on the possibility of a political attack in a struggle for coming contracts. Investigators were told that the materials company has powerful political backing and has incurred the enmity of other political groups supporting rival concerns.

Crown declared that his company has no political connections. He discounted the suggestion that war over support to companies on contracts in the city, county, and sanitary district might have been a motive for the outrage.

Investigators learned that truckmen in a strike at the sand and gravel yards of the company had urged the crew of the boat to go on a sympathetic strike. The overture was turned down. Maj. Putnam said the labor dispute was not serious. He denied that his company has political connections.

President Anton J. Cermak of the county board denied rumors that he has an interest in the Materials Service corporation.

BIG CIRCUS BARN BURNS; HORSES AND DOGS SAVED

Peru, Ind., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—A loss of $140,000 at the Ringling Brothers' circus winter quarters, two miles east of Peru, was caused by fire, presumably of incendiary origin, tonight.

The blaze started in the mow of the John Robinson circus ring barn, destroyed the building and contents, including three hundred tons of hay and fine harnesses for two hundred head of ring and draft horses.

More than 200 horses and several troups of trained dogs were rescued from the blaze by employés of the circus.

$250,000 Fire at Galesburg.

Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Loss of $250,000 was caused by fire which destroyed the gate and hog feeder sections of the Rowe Manufacturing company plant here tonight. An overheated stove is believed to have started the blaze.

Do you know what foods help your teeth and gums?

To HAVE good teeth, science says, you must eat generously of foods containing vitamins and mineral salts. Fresh vegetables, milk, fruits, eggs should be eaten daily.

And then there's the question of dentifrices. What type is best to use? E. R. Squibb & Sons asked a leading research institution to tabulate opinions among 50,000 practicing dentists. Read the summary of the replies received:

95% of the answers stated that germ acids most frequently cause tooth decay and gum irritation. . . .
95% of the answers agreed that the most serious trouble occurs at the place where teeth and gums meet—The Danger Line. . . .
85% stated that the best product to prevent these acids from causing decay and irritating the gums is Milk of Magnesia. . . .

What better evidence could there be that Squibb Dental Cream will protect your teeth and gums? It is made with more than 50% Squibb Milk of Magnesia. Just try Squibb's. See how beautifully it cleans. A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs and colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—(Adv.)

VON HINDENBURG DECREES 25 LAWS TO SAVE GERMANY

Slashes Public Expenses and Reduces Salaries.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 1.—Making use of the dictatorial powers given him by the republican constitution in times of emergency, President von Hindenburg today signed a decree enforcing 25 financial reform laws worked out by the Bruening cabinet in an effort to straighten out the country's finances. The new laws include drastic cuts in public expenditures, sweeping reductions in salaries of public employés, a ban on government contributions to doles, and a halt on increasing taxes.

Three of the laws which originally belonged to the group were taken out because they required constitutional changes, and such laws cannot be issued by decree. They will be reshaped until they have a chance of getting a majority in the reichstag and then they will be submitted to that body.

Fascists Want New Elections.

Although all parties protest vigorously that the proclamation of the financial laws through the emergency decree is a curtailment of the reichstag's rights, Chancellor Bruening said he feels certain the reichstag will accept the emergency laws quietly, because a new uproar would lead to new elections, which neither the bourgeois nor Socialist parties dare risk.

Only the Fascisti and communists want new elections, because the number of their followers is still increasing. They have been winning hand over fist in all recent local elections—far beyond the huge victories recorded in the reichstag elections in September. In the elections yesterday at Bremen and Bielsfeld the Fascisti won votes away from even the solidly organized Socialists. At Bremen the Fascists captured 30 seats in the state senate. Previously thay had no seats.

Make Concessions to Socialists.

To make it easier for the Socialists to support the government, the decrees promulgated last July are being purged of points to which they objected, such as the "panel card." This required the payment of 11 cents by each health insurance patient before being treated by a doctor or hospital. There are numerous cases in which the sick are unable to pay the initial 11 cents.

The Socialists contend that twenty or more people died before they could scrape enough pennies together for a panel card, and therefore its abolition will be greeted as a great victory, which numerous Socialists will feel is worth a vote in support of the Bruening cabinet when the reichstag convenes on Wednesday.

Fascisti Consider Action.

The Fascisti, Nationalists, and communists called extraordinary meetings of their leaders tonight to decide what measures to take.

The general aim of the laws decreed today is to compel the government to keep the budget at $2,500,000,000 for each of the next three years. The laws provide, among other things, a simplification and reorganization of the tax laws, tobacco tax, and a general parole for those who have failed to pay taxes fully, which it is hoped will encourage them to pay now. A revised tax on bachelors and old maids is reintroduced, while a whole group of laws deals with the alteration of the head tax, jobless insurance, and illness insurance.

Because the usual Christmas boom is missing, 50,000 employés of Berlin stores and shops, mostly women, were today notified of a wage cut, to go into effect on Jan. 1. The amount of the cuts will be determined from the results of the Christmas sales. The employés and trade unions protest that wages in the retail trades are now at the minimum level for existence. The unions are organizing big protest demonstrations.

Police Use Clubs on Mob.

BERLIN, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Police swung their clubs on a mob of communists who gathered this afternoon in front of the city hall shouting that now familiar battle cry, "We want work or wages." It was a riot like others in which fifty were injured and one was killed all over Germany during the week-end. There were hundreds of men and women in the crowd which marched through the center of the city today. As police moved in, scattering the crowd, others barricaded the city hall doors. Several arrests were made but no one was badly hurt.

SEIZE BATTAGLIA AS SUSPECT IN FATAL ROBBERY

Sam Battaglia, young hoodlum, was arrested last night as a suspect in the attempted robbery Saturday of the restaurant at 818 West Randolph street, in which Leonard S. Sanor, produce man of Springfield, Mo., was killed when police trapped four of the bandits. He was seized by Sergt. W. F. McCarthy and a squad near the Racine avenue police station.

The holdup was frustrated as a result of police information and ended in a wild gun battle. The fifth member of the robber gang, believed by police to have been Battaglia, escaped amid a hail of police bullets after wrecking his car. Battaglia recently was acquitted of complicity in the robbery of Mayor Thompson's wife and her chauffeur.

Meanwhile, Sanor was revealed last night as the secret husband of Mrs. May Prince Williams, assistant cashier of the Peoples bank of Springfield, Mo. She told friends she and Sanor were married Sept. 6 at Fort Scott, Kas., and that they intended announcing their wedding Christmas time. She will arrive in Chicago today.

CITY WINS NEW TRIAL IN SUIT TO CUT PHONE RATE

Supreme Court Ruling Is Partial Victory.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—The United States Supreme court today remanded to the federal District court at Chicago for further consideration the seven year old Chicago telephone case, involving the rates for four classes of coin box service.

Chief Justice Hughes delivered the opinion of the court, which was interpreted as a partial, although not decisive, victory for the telephone users as represented by the Illinois commerce commission and the city of Chicago. The lower court had held in favor of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, now placed on the defensive in what will probably be another long drawn out battle before the case is finally decided.

Should the company eventually lose, it will be compelled to refund to the telephone users a fund amounting to $11,000,000 on Jan. 31, 1930, representing the amounts paid by them in excess of the reduced rates as ordered by the commerce commission and enjoined by the district court. Meantime, the restraining order will be continued, keeping the higher rates in effect.

Attorney Reserves Comment.

"We will make a statement when we have had an opportunity of studying the opinion," said Attorney Benjamin F. Goldstein, special counsel for the city, when notified of it by telephone.

Mr. Goldstein, with Attorney George I. Haight, was counsel for the city throughout the proceedings, while the Illinois company was represented by the late William Dean Bangs. The attorney for the American Telephone and Telegraph company, who assisted Mr. Bangs, was Charles M. Bracelen. Mr. Bangs died recently after presenting oral arguments before the Supreme court in October.

The outstanding point stressed by Chief Justice Hughes was the fact that no fair determination of the case could be made by the Supreme court because of the failure of the commerce commission and the lower court to distinguish the intrastate and the interstate property and business of the company. It was largely for this reason that the case was returned for further deliberations.

Calls Findings Incomplete.

"At the threshold of the discussion," said the Hughes opinion, "we are met with the fact that in these findings the commission and the court made no distinction between the intrastate and the interstate property of the company.

"It appears that the property of the company in Chicago is used to render:

"1. What is called exchange service, all of which is intrastate.

"2. Intrastate tolls service over its own lines and under arrangements with companies other than the American company.

"3. Interstate toll service, which includes all the toll service rendered under arrangements with the American company.

"The company introduced evidence separating the intrastate and interstate business and also the intrastate exchange business.

"While the court regarded these computations as correct and approved the method in which they had been made, still the court made no specific findings based on a separation of the intrastate and interstate property, revenue and expenses, but determined the issue on the basis of the total Chicago property of the company."

Emphasizes the Point.

Again, at the conclusion of the opinion it was stated that "there should be appropriate findings as to the results of the intrastate business in Chicago and the effect of the rates in question for each of the years since the date of the commission's order."

Litigation in the telephone case started in 1923, when, after hearings, the state commerce commission ordered the four classes of coin box service rates cut. The company went into the federal court on the ground that the order was confiscatory and the injunction was granted on condition that if dissolved the refunds should be made. Last January the District court rendered its decision in favor of the company and the commerce commission and city appealed to the Supreme court.

The city contended that the Illinois company in reality is only a part of the A. T. & T. company and that under its valuations and accounting Chicago subscribers were paying undue sums into the coffers of the latter group.

The Supreme court held that there was no basis for the city assailing the standing of the Illinois company rather than the parent concern as the real plaintiff in the case.

Wants More Information.

Concerning the payments of the local to the parent company the opinion said "we see no reason to doubt that valuable services were rendered by the American company, but there should be specific findings by the statutory court with regard to the cost of these services to the American company and the reasonable amount which should be allocated in this respect to the operating expenses of the intrastate business of the Illinois company in the years covered by the decree."

The opinion said there also should be further findings upon the point made by the city, that the Illinois company buys virtually all of its equipment from the Western Electric company and that the net earnings of that company destroy the company's charge of confiscation.

Discusses "Fair Return."

The court, in discussing the question of a proper rate of return for a utility company—a question which has arisen repeatedly in utility cases—made the general statement:

"A public utility is entitled to such rates as will permit it to earn a return on the value of the property which it employs for the convenience of the public equal to that generally being made at the same time and in the same general part of the country on investments in other business undertakings which are attended by corresponding risks and uncertainties, but it has no constitutional right to profits such as are realized or anticipated in highly profitable enterprises or speculative ventures."

In the present telephone case, the opinion continued, "it is evident we are not dealing with an ordinary public utility company, but with one that is a part of a large system organized for the purpose of maintaining the credit of the constituent companies and securing their efficient and economical management.

Reviews Illinois Company.

"The record of the Illinois company shows that for many years it has been able to expand its business so as to meet increasing demands, to pay its operating expenses, including interest on money borrowed, to pay dividends of eight per cent upon its capital stock, and to accummulate a surplus. It was found by the court that the reduction in revenue caused by the rates in question, as applied to the entire business for the year 1923, would amount to about $1,700,000, and the question is whether the loss, when ascertained, with respect to the intrastate business, would cause confiscation."

SEEKS A RULNG ON PROPOSAL TO START BOND JOBS AT ONCE

Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee, yesterday asked Corporation Counsel Ettelson for an opinion as to whether the council can make appropriations out of the bond funds approved at the Nov. 4 election before the first of next year. Plans for spending the money on improvements have been prepared by the department heads.

"I am for starting work at once if the money can be appropriated now," said Ald. Clark. "Under the financial relief legislation obtained last spring the council cannot make supplementary appropriations after the annual budget is passed. If the corporation counsel rules that the restriction applies only to corporate funds and not to bond funds the finance committee will start work on the appropriations."

A meeting of the finance committee has been called for Thursday by Ald. Clark to start the preparation of the 1931 budget. If, however, the bond money can be appropriated now Ald. Clark said the committee would attend to that first.

$100,000 BONDS FOR RUM SELLER AT FATAL PARTY

Clarence Johnson, alleged bootlegger, who supplied the liquor at the party which led to the killing early Sunday of Miss Arlene Draves, 18 years old, Gary High school graduate, and for which five men are being held, was held in $100,000 bonds in Gary last night.

Four charges, one of accessory before the fact to murder, were lodged against him. The other three allege violations of the Indiana dry law. Johnson, known to Gary authorities as the "high school bootlegger," was arrested early yesterday in Indianapolis and returned to Gary in custody of Sergt. Charles McCarthy. He was immediately arraigned in City court and bonds were fixed.

"Poison Rum" Defense Seen.

Johnson's arrest was considered important by police in view of the intimated defense of attorneys for the five men being held on murder charges that poison liquor and not a criminal attack killed Miss Draves. Johnson refused to talk last night. He was reported to have told Indianapolis police, however, that he had overheard a remark at the fatal party that Miss Draves was struck on the head with a bottle.

The five other prisoners, all held on inquest charge of murder, will be arraigned in City court this morning.

The five—Virgil Kirkland, 20 years old, Gary high school football player of 1929; Paul Barton, 21; Leon Stanford, 21; Harry Shirk, 24, and David Thompson, all of Gary—are accused of participating in the slaying of Miss Draves at a gin party at the home of Thompson early Sunday. Kirkland has confessed attacking the girl. The others, according to the police, tried to attack her.

To Seek Death Penalty.

The preliminary hearing today will be held before Judge H. L. Key. If the accused are bound over to the Lake county grand jury they will be transferred to the Crown Point county jail and held for further action by the grand jury and for trial. According to Prosecutor Floyd Draper, a charge of first degree murder, which carries the death penalty, will be asked.

Following the inquest yesterday, in which Chief Deputy Coroner C. A. Owen ordered Kirkland and the others held to the grand jury without bail on a murder charge, the defendants were removed to the Crown Point jail. Several hours later they were returned to the Gary city jail.

KEGEL'S BAN ON VERTICAL SQUIRT STARTS DISPUTE

Argue Against Drink on the Angle.

Health Commissioner Kegel's educational campaign for water drinkers yesterday ran into a bog of conflicting opinions over his theories of quenching thirst. Some of the health department employés upheld the commissioner's belief that the drinking fountain with an angle jet is best, while others came out for the vertical squirt which Dr. Kegel has banned.

Dr. Gottfried Koehler, first assistant commissioner, stepped into a commanding position among the backers of the straight up delivery of water to the consumer. He mentioned that a uniform pressure, a thing foreign to Chicago, is needed with angle jets, and expressed a belief that if too many changes are ordered people might question the mental processes of health department officials.

Too Little or Too Much.

"In a fountain with an angle jet a shield prevents the drinker's lips from coming in contact with the faucet," said Dr. Koehler. "But if the pressure is low the water doesn't come out far enough to catch, and if the pressurre is too strong the water squirts clear over the catch basin and onto the floor. A uniform pressure is a prime requisite.

"At the Spaulding School for Crippled Children a lot of money was spent to install the angle jets. When the water pressure was low the children had to lean down into the bowl to get a drink, and I think that is responsible for the recent spread of trench mouth among the pupils.

What People Might Think.

"About a year ago we had all the water fountains in the city hall changed. Now if we ask that they be changed again people will think we are mentally unbalanced. This thing needs more study before a definite ruling is made."

While the dispute waged Joel L. Connolly, chief of the sanitary engineering bureau, continued to send out notices to factories, schools, and office buildings to discard the vertical jet equipment, which he and Dr. Kegel hold to be insanitary. Samples of the angle jets are on display in the department.

BRITAIN VOTES NEW $50,000,000 JOBLESS LOAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The house of commons tonight gave authority to Minister of Labor Margaret Bondfield to raise a further $50,000,000 loan for unemployment insurance. This will bring the total to $253,000,000. The debate disclosed that the government's unemployment fund is insolvent to the amount of $200,000,000 yearly.

When the Labor government took office the debt on the insurance fund amounted to $150,000,000. Now it is $280,000,000. If the average number of unemployed registrants rises to 2,500,000—"Which God forbid," said Miss Bondfield—the expenditures will exceed the revenue by $4,000,000 weekly and the fund will be exhausted by next March.

Woman and Agent Robbed of $1,500 Rent Receipts

Mrs. Mabel Kempston, 1100 Hayes avenue, Oak Park, and William Rainey, 1000 North Leclaire avenue, renting agent, were counting rent receipts last night in the basement office of her husband's apartment building at 4938 Quincy street when two masked bandits interrupted them. Mrs. Kempston and the agent were looked inside a small closet and the collections, amounting to $1,500, were stolen.

"Let's Make This A Good OLD-FASHIONED CHRISTMAS"

The True Story of American Business Affairs

In this, and the pages to follow, we shall try to give you an analysis of the true condition and probable outcome of America's business affairs, as reflected by America's wage-earning masses in their inevitable control of the necessary mass production of America's wage-paying classes.

This, barring fire, flood, war and pestilence, in a country that is ninety per cent self-sustaining, is not an impossible thing to do.

For here at True Story Magazine, where this is being written, we happen to be by rare good fortune at the receiving end of the entire reactions of wage-earning America. We are the great nucleus about which the mass thought of America seems to revolve. Our readers are our writers and the composite reaction of their thousands of manuscripts and letters is the testament of their thought.

Probably never before, in all the history of science, has any professor had such a microscope through which to study this tremendous mass activity which cannot operate under its own power. Certainly no sociologist has ever had such a sweep of humanity passing like a panorama before his eyes.

Now, in a situation like this, with the professor's eye screwed to the microscope, for the first time in the history of scientific research it is not very important to know what the professor thinks of the bug. But it is absolutely vital to the whole future of America to know what the bug thinks of the professor.

For on the other side of the glass are millions upon millions of America's wage-earning masses, without whom all of America's tremendous mechanism for mass production becomes obsolete overnight.

After the rather bitter experience of maladjustment of production of the past year or two, none of us is ever likely to forget again that no click of an automatic machine is ever safe without the click of a thousand cash drawers at the other end.

That is why it is so important to have an absolutely direct contact with these great wage-earning masses, who cannot operate under their own power, who are entirely dependent upon your power, and yet without whom you cannot operate under your own power. A rather complicated method of expression, but a rather complicated situation to express.

Therefore, the whole topic of these pages to follow will deal with the readjustment of mass production to mass outlet.

And our job will be to deal with that end of the microscope which we know best, which is mass outlet.

Only one thing we promise you: we shall not offer you any of the Pollyanna platitudes about good times being just around the corner, nor any of the dangerous quackeries about opening up on production and letting consumption take care of itself, nor any of the more dangerous propositions about the further cutting of prices below production cost in order that some stupid retailer may offer a bargain as a bait.

Your job has already been too well done for any chicanery like that. As a matter of fact, if it hadn't been for the far-sighted policies of American manufacturing and financial interests during the past two years, this country would not be in anywhere near as hopeful a condition as it is right now. And this is no idle flattery, as will certainly be attested by the pages of history in the years to come.

In the meanwhile, you may lay this flattering unction to your soul. When Nature takes a hand at this readjustment business, such as the changing of a climate or the moving of a glacial floe or the inundation of a continent, she usually wipes out about ninety per cent of all living forms and leaves about ten per cent to begin all over again.

So you have Nature beaten, at any rate. For, apparently, when you make the readjustments that need to be made and make them in time, it looks already as if ninety per cent of you will not only survive but thrive, and even the remaining ten per cent will be able to struggle along somehow.

There are, however, very important things to do besides just waiting. A man-made crisis is no different from one made by Nature. The survivors, when Nature upsets the apple cart, are those who are able to adjust their circumstance to the new order of events.

Fortunately, in your readjustment to the new order of events, you have in True Story a magazine that gives you direct contact with millions of wage-earning America and offers the penetration point to millions on millions more.

We are dealing with masses now, both in manufacture and in men. And neither of these can be left out of consideration for a single moment. For this is where the problem starts—and ends.

SAMMONS IN CELL FOR LIFE, IS VIEW OF PAROLE BOARD

Approves Return of Gang Gunner to Prison.

The state parole board, meeting at Joliet yesterday, confirmed the return to prison of James [Fur] Sammons, machine gunner for the Capone gang, and added a new order which made it almost certain that the gangster will spend the remainder of his life in a cell.

Sammons was taken before the board and informed that under Attorney General Carlstrom's ruling he had 32 years of a 70 year sentence for murder yet to serve.

"But I get some time off for good behavior, don't I?" queried Sammons.

"The opinion of the attorney general is that no time off for good behavior can be allowed," said Commissioner Thomas Cannon. "Moreover, we find that a one year to life sentence for burglary is still alive against you. When you get through serving the 32 years, then you can start serving the one year to life sentence."

Sammons is now 47 years old. He will be 79 years old when he starts serving the one year to life sentence, it was pointed out. In addition, there is still to be imposed against him a sentence, probably for six months, on a conviction of vagrancy.

Condi Sent to New York.

Joe Condi, minor hoodlum who has a long record as a burglar and pickpocket, yesterday waived extradition to New York before Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court and was taken on a 3 o'clock train to the east to be arraigned on a burglary charge.

Condi was captured in 1925 fleeing from a woman's dress shop in New York with dresses valued at $3,400. He forfeited a $5,000 bond there and has been a fugitive since. Condi was recently tried in Chicago on a vagrancy charge and although he was found not guilty the resulting investigation revealed that he was wanted in New York.

Government authorities lent a helping hand in ridding Chicago of hoodlums by ordering the deportation of Giuseppe Tuchillo, known as a pander and gunman. Tuchillo first entered this country in 1908 and was deported as a pander in 1912.

He reëntered America illegally in 1915 and since then has been charged successively with carying concealed weapons and sauult to kill. Federal Judge George A. Carpenter dismissed a writ of habeas corpus sought in Tuchillo's behalf and immigration authorities said the man would be deported immediately.

Judge Lyle Cancels Bond.

Judge John H. Lyle yesterday cancelled a bond presented in behalf of George Overholdt, 27 years old, 921 North Mozart street, charged with vagrancy, although the bond had been approved by Circuit Judge Joseph Burke.

"Since when has it been the custom of judges of the Circuit court to approve bonds in cases of the Municipal court?" asked Judge Lyle. "I'll cancel this bond."

Judge Burke, informed of this statement, quoted the statutes to show that any judge of the Circuit or Superior courts can approve any bond and commented that it has been for years the custom to do so. He pointed out that similar bonds have been approved in a number of recent cases.

Clarence Duvall, 3509 South Green street, and Mrs. Helen Chapman, 418 South Central Park avenue, were arrested at Joliet yesterday on charges of attempt to assist in a prison break. Duvall was arrested when prison authorities discovered half a dozen steel saws secreted beneath a false bottom in a box of fruit he attempted to pass through to Joe Moran, Chicago convict. His confession implicated Mrs. Chapman.

Install Lester Tiffany as Lake County Sheriff

Lester Tiffany, retiring police chief of Lake Forest, last night was installed as sheriff of Lake county at a ceremony in the Circuit court room in Waukegan. He was presented with a gold star with a diamond setting. At an earlier meeting of the Lake Forest city council Sheriff Tiffany was given another gold star bearing the city seal of Lake Forest, which Mayor A. B. Dick Jr. said would enable him to continue as ex officio police chief of Lake Forest. At the same ceremony Frank Tiffany, formerly police chief of North Chicago, took over the office vacated by his brother.

'EXILED' POLICE CAPTAINS PUT BACK ON DUTY

New Jury Directed to Carry On Inquiry.

30 minutes for lunch, and did not depart before 5:30 in the evening. The captains spent the time playing pinochle, they testified before the grand jury.

"I do not believe that Capone is in Chicago," said Alcock when asked if it was Chief Justice McGoorty's suggestion that influenced him to make the changes. "I have enough confidence in the men in my department to feel that they will get Capone if he is in the city. If he is not in Chicago then it is up to other agencies to arrest him."

McGoorty's Charge to Jury.

Chief Justice McGoorty, in charging the grand jury yesterday, complimented Alcock and Chief of Detectives Norton for doing good work under adverse conditions. In his charge he said:

"It has been the unanimous finding of three preceding grand juries that there is an inherent defect in the system under which our police department of Chicago is organized. The November grand jury recognized the fact that the rank and file of the Chicago police are brave and honest men.

"The present acting commissioner of police and the chief of detectives have rendered notable service during their brief and uncertain tenure of office, worthy of public commendation. They are handicapped, however, by the tradition of a department which has corruptly permitted organized crime to flourish for many years, to the serious detriment and almost irreparable injury of Chicago.

"Divorce Police from Politics."

"It has become increasingly manifest that there can be no permanent improvement in the crime situation in Cook county until there is a complete divorcement of the police from politics. A special grand jury will be convened in January to make an exhaustive inquiry along constructive lines of the entire subject.

"It is your duty, in the meantime, to consider carefully such evidence of an emergency nature in this regard as may be submitted to you."

The inquiry into the police department started with the September grand jury under the foremanship of Gabriel Slaughter, steel company executive. Each succeeding grand jury took up the matter and charged police inefficiency. The November grand jury suggested the appointment of a special grand jury in January to do nothing but investigate police conditions.

Each jury was particularly interested in the "Siberia detail." The six captains were called before the jurors and asked why they had been exiled. None could give any definite reason, according to reports from the jury room.

WOMAN, 5 MEN FACE INQUIRY ON BAIL BOND CASES

Evidence to Be Presented to Grand Jury Today.

The first evidence to be presented to the newly impaneled December grand jury in the bail bond investigation will involve a woman and five men, Assistant State's Attorney A. C. De Witt announced last night. He said he will present his evidence in this case to the jury today.

According to the prosecutor, charges of perjury and fraud will be made in this case in connection with the schedule of $50,000 worth of bonds. Some of the bonds involved were presented in the Criminal court and others in the Municipal court, he said.

Orders Inquiry on Bail.

Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court had specially instructed the jurors under their foreman, I. B. Peters, 1007 Thatcher avenue, River Forest, president of the Peters Trimming company, to investigate the bond situation.

"An impelling sense of duty causes me to direct your attention to the bail bond situation," said the judge. "Fraud, including forgery and perjury in the making of bail bonds, has been long prevalent in Cook county. Professional bondsmen have been instrumental in turning loose upon the community the gunman and gangster.

Cites Increased Forfeitures.

"Six times as many bail bonds were forfeited in the courts of Cook county during 1929 as were forfeited in 1921. During the last five years bail bonds aggregating more than $10,000,000 were forfeited, with less than one per cent of that amount being collected.

"Bail bond judgments aggregating millions of dollars have been wiped out by mortgage foreclosures. In the Municipal court of Chicago there has been no system of investigation as to the value of real estate offered as security."

Victim Turns Tables on Bandit; Takes His Gun

Manuel F. Ramme, 46 years old, an undertaker, was in the office of his place at 3918 Irving Park boulevard last night when a man approached him from behind, thrust a revolver between his shoulder blades, and said, "Put 'em up, or I'll bore you." Ramme did, and the bandit searched his pockets and extracted his wallet. Ramme suddenly wrested the robber's gun away as he was examining the contents, and felled him with a blow on the head. He then held him till the Albany Park police arrived. The bandit refused to give a name or address.

THREE JURORS CHOSEN TO TRY FRANK FOSTER

State Lists Witnesses for Defense.

At the close of a court session spent yesterday in questioning veniremen appearing for jury duty in the trial of Frank Foster, charged with the murder of Alfred Lingle, three jurors had been tentatively approved by both sides of the case.

Fifteen other veniremen had been questioned and excused by defense or state counsel, or by the court. Several of those excused declared they had opinions on the guilt or innocence of Foster, and others told of scruples against the infliction of the death penalty. The prosecutors, Special Assistant State's Attorneys Charles F. Rathbun and James E. McShane, are qualifying the jury for the death penalty.

Three Tentatively Accepted.

The jurors tentatively accepted are William Brust, real estate man, 6201 Vernon avenue; William R. Chamberlain, salesman, 3907 Dickens avenue; and Alford G. Canar, engineer, 746 Brompton place.

In questioning the jurors, both the state and the defense, which is represented by Attorneys Everett Jennings, Emmet Byrne, and Harold Levy, always inquired whether the fact that Lingle was a reporter for THE TRIBUNE would influence them in any way in their consideration of the evidence.

The state made certain that the prospective jurors had no prejudice against circumstantial evidence. Five veniremen were peremptorily excused by the defense, and three by the state.

During the morning session the defense sought and obtained from the state, by ruling of Judge George Fred Rush, a list of the witnesses who will testify against Foster.

The witnesses, as named, are Patrick Campbell, Harry Komen, Louis McCann, James B. Collins, Howard Cleveland, James Whitman, Otto Svoboda, Agnes Griffen, Mrs. Julia Turk, Dr. Thomas L. Dwyer, coroner's physician, Coroner Herman N. Bundesen, Peter Von Frantzius, Lieut. Col. Calvin Goddard, and Sergt. Frank J. Donohue of the coroner's office.

Some of the witnesses are among those who were present when Lingle was murdered last June 9. Von Frantzius is a sporting goods dealer who is said to have sold to Foster the weapon with which Lingle was killed. Other witnesses are those who shattered Foster's alibi that he was in Santa Fe, N. M., on the day of the murder.

Policeman Not on List.

Absent from the list is the name of Traffic Policeman Anthony Ruthy, who during a previous hearing, when Foster was seeking release on bail, identified the defendant in open court as the man he had chased from the scene of the killing.

Although Prosecutors Rathbun and McShane declined to comment on this situation, it was reported as possible that Judge Rush may cause Ruthy to be examined as the court's witness.

$55,725 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,725 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 502 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

5 SWIM TO SHORE AFTER ROWBOAT TIPS IN ICY LAKE

Three boys and two men, thrown into the stormy water of Lake Michigan off Wilson avenue, saved their lives yesterday by swimming through the icy waves 600 feet to shore.

The five are Saul Falgin, 15 years old, 817 Lakeside place; Mario Coco, 15 years old, 806 Montrose avenue; Carl Sheets, 17 years old, 839 Lakeside place; Gerald McGrath, 24 years old, 5442 West Monroe street, and William Blanchard, 36 years old, 1345 Jarvis avenue. Falgin and Coco are high school students, and with Sheets are members of the Junior Life guards.

Late yesterday the five set out in a rowboat for the Lawrence avenue crib to get a dog. Their rowboat was overcrowded, however, and suddenly was overturned by a heavy wave. Despite heavy outer clothing, the five all expert swimmers, started for shore. They arrived here to greet Capt. Hugh McCarthy and a squad of Town Hall police who had been summoned by more than a dozen calls. Police took the swimmers to the Clarendon Beach building. They were none the worse for their experience.

BURMA, NOW PART OF INDIA, TO GET DOMINION STATUS

Wins Right to Separate as Individual Nation.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Burma is to be separated from India and set up as a separate dominion of the British empire. This decision was taken in principle today by the round table conference on India. It was decided to appoint a committee to work out a method for separation, which, it is understood, is to take effect at the earliest possible date, so that a Burmese constitution may be framed and become effective at the same time as the new constitution for India.

Burma is an integral part of British India, with an area of about 233,700 square miles and a population of about 13,250,000. Its capital is Rangoon and the only other large city is Mandalay.

Today's action came as a surprise even to the delegates, who voted for it unanimously. The Burmese delegates so far have not taken part in the deliberations of the conference on the ground that they do not want to become a part of the Indian dominion. Today U Ba Pe, chief Burmese delegate, attended the conference of the committee of the whole and secured permission to address it.

Appeals for Separation.

His address was an appeal for immediate separation from India. Union with India, he pointed out, would never be approved by the people either of India or Burma, and he said he saw no difficulty for an early separation, subject to a fair financial adjustment, provision for mutual trade arrangements and protection of minorities which could be guaranteed by treaties between the two dominions.

"We have nothing in common with the Indian people," U Be Pe declared. "We are more Mongolian than Aryan. We have customs and manners quite different and our women are as free as any women in this country, if not more so. We are known by law as Indians and we do not like to be called Indians, not because we are anti-Indian, but because we do not want the Burmese race to disappear from the earth. Burma has no such thing as communal religious or caste questions. All communities live very cordially and amicably together."

Proposes Separate Conference.

Mr. Chintamani, speaking for the Hindus, said that the desire of the Burmese people alone should be consulted. The maharajahs of Alwar and Bikaner and Lords Reading and Peel blessed the decision, and Prime Minister MacDonald, who presided, said that the agreement seemed unanimous and announced that a committee would be appointed to "consider the nature of the conditions which would enable Burma to be separated from India on equitable terms and recommend the best way of securing this end."

U Ba Pe in his speech suggested the immediate withdrawal of the Burmese delegates from the Indian conference and the setting up in London of a separate Burmese conference of about twenty persons to work out the future Burmese government.

Police Inspector Murdered.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

CALCUTTA, Dec. 1.—Police Inspector Mukerji, who had gone to the Chadpur station today to meet the Bengal inspector general of police, was killed on the station platform by two young men who arrived on the mail train on which the inspector general was traveling. The assassins escaped under fire.

3 Police Shot by Suspect.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

ALLAHABAD, Dec. 1.—E. W. Hunt, assistant superintendant of police, the head constable, and a deputy constable were wounded early today at Cawnpore by revolver shots fired by Saligram Shukla, a revolutionary suspect. Shukla was shot dead by Supt. Field.

Editor and Publisher Jailed.

BOMBAY, India, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The editor and the publisher of the Bombay Chronicle, one of the most important Nationalist newspapers in India, today were sentenced to five months' imprisonment because they printed a news item about the Bombay congress committee, previously declared an unlawful body.

The Indian Nationalist press condemned the sentences as a "flagrant invasion" of the freedom of the press.

Create New Nation

Burma, a territory with an area of about 233,700 square miles and population of about 13,250,000 people, and now a part of British India, will be given dominion status in the British empire and the right to secede from India. The round table conference on India yesterday appointed a committee to draw up a new Burmese constitution, after agreeing, in principle, to the scheme.

7 Canadian Phone Systems Unite to Link East-West

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REGINA, Sask., Dec. 1.—With a view to creating a trans-Canada telephone toll system for the interchange of business between the different units throughout Canada and to establish "through" toll lines from Halifax to Victoria, the seven large Canadian telephone systems, both in the east and west, will shortly enter into an agreement. This was decided at a convention here of the Telephone Association of Canada.

Mrs. Helen P. Luce, 72, ex-Chicagoan, Is Dead

Pueblo, Colo., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen P. Luce, 72, widow of Franklin A. Luce, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mahlon D. Thatcher Jr., here. Burial will be here. Mrs. Luce came here from Chicago in 1922. She was a member of the Colonial Dames and Daughters of the American Revolution.

GOTHAM GRAFT SCOPE WIDENS; CITY WRIGGLES

More Police Are Shifted; Rackets Bared.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—This city continued to wriggle uncomfortably in the crime spotlight today. Its investigating boards, citizens' committees, courts, and police department revolved in agitated circles, somewhat like an animal scratching its fleas but with considerable less precision and effect. Everywhere any one poked a finger there was a soft spot until it began to look as if the whole barrel of apples was rotten.

Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney put six more of the vice squad back to pounding pavements, transferred a lieutenant and began checking up on twelve other cops as the official police department reader got well along into the transcript of Chile Acuna's recent testimony before the state authorized Seabury-Kresel inquiry into the Magistrates' courts.

Makes Loans to Judges.

Meanwhile the aforementioned inquiry continued to hear witnesses in police vice graft preparatory to the next public hearing Thursday. For a time today the roving spotlight shifted to Essex Market court, on the east side, when "Uncle" Nathan Voldinger, who runs a restaurant hangout for politicians and does a bail bond business on the side, confessed he had made loans to several judges and had "exchanged" checks with them.

A policy slip gambling ring's racket, the dope business, the shakedown of musicians, and the "home serving" racket each contributed its headline to the news and in some instances its members to the courts, and all in all it became irritatingly apparent that there are a lot of rascals in Father Knickerbocker's front parlor. In fact the home town reformers are suggesting asking Chicago to "coöperate" in this city's scratching process, forgetting for the moment that about all New York ever gave to Chicago was Al Capone, and even that was Brooklyn's gesture of friendship.

Notes Turned Over.

"Uncle" Nathan Voldinger told reporters after his chat with Mr. Kresel's operatives that Kresel has in his possession a number of notes given to the restaurant man by various magistrates and ex-magistrates and judges. Kresel also has, according to "Uncle" Nathan, canceled checks signed by magistrates payable to him (Voldinger) and checks signed by him payable to magistrates, which appear to be similar in rates and amounts.

"They asked me," said "Uncle" Nathan, "if I ever gave money to judges. I told them I loaned them money. I told them, too, that I was not in the bonding business, but that I go on bonds for friends. Yes, I told them about the judges and magistrates. You see, they impounded the notes and checks a couple of weeks ago in the bank where I keep my account."

Two Names Revealed.

The names of two who had financial transactions with "Uncle" Nathan were revealed. They were General Sessions Judge Max Levine and former Magistrate Hyman Bushel. Later this afternoon Chief Magistrate Joseph Corrigan denied he had been asked to remove four magistrates, declaring it was not within his power.

MINER ENTOMBED THREE DAYS FED THROUGH TUBE

DORTMUND, Germany, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Deep underground in a cavity of a coal mine near Kastrop lies a miner buried 72 hours in a collapse of a gallery, but still alive, and being fed through an air tube.

The gallery caved in Friday noon, engulfing two men who were given up for lost until after 36 hours, when one of them was able to communicate through an air tube that he was not hurt.

Milk and beef tea are being administered to him by means of compressed air, he being able to catch the food in his shoe. It is believed he can be saved but his companion is thought to be dead.

Gun Battle in New York Rialto Causes Uproar

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The theater district was thrown into an uproar tonight when three men engaged in a gun fight in front of an apartment hotel in West 47th street. Jack Leinhardt, 24, of Brooklyn, was shot and two companions who attempted to flee were captured. Taxicab drivers deserted their vehicles when the shooting began, and pedestrians ran for cover in near-by doorways. Five shots were fired and Leinhardt fell with three bullets in his back, groin, and right arm. Police refused to disclose the identities of their captives.

Deaf Hear Again Through New Aid

Earpiece No Bigger Than Dime Wins Enthusiastic Following Ten-Day Free Trial Offer

After twenty-five years devoted exclusively to the manufacture of scientific hearing aids, the Dictograph Products Co., Inc., Dept. 609M, 180 North Michigan Blvd., Chicago, Ill., has just perfected a new model Acousticon that represents the greatest advance yet made in the re-creation of hearing for the deaf. This latest Acousticon is featured by a tiny earpiece no bigger than a dime. Through this device, sounds are clearly and distinctly transmitted to subnormal ears with wonderful benefit to hearing and health alike. The makers offer an absolutely free trial for 10 days to any person who may be interested, and a letter will bring one of these remarkable aids to your home for a thorough and convincing test. They will send you as well details of their special Christmas offer, which represents a saving of $10 in the cost of your renewed hearing. This offer expires December 24th. So clip this advertisement and send it to them with your name and address today! Advt.

RHEUMATIC AGONY GOES IN 10 HOURS OR MONEY BACK

If you want prompt relief from the dreadful pains, stiffness, inflammation and swelling of rheumatism stop pelting your system with harsh drugs.

They may upset your stomach, weaken the heart and undermine your health. Instead go to your neighborhood druggist and ask for a jar of Rhuma-Jell, and see how quickly your suffering goes.

Rhuma-Jell is a simple salve which you apply externally. Just spread it on a piece of linen, apply to the painful, swollen parts and in 10 hours (overnight) the worst pain is gone, or your druggist will refund your money ($1.25).

Rhuma-Jell checks sharp, lightning pains of neuritis and sciatica just as quickly as it does the dull, throbbing ache of rheumatism, lumbago or muscular pain. Get today at Walgreen's, and other drug stores.

Lower prices for the holidays

THIS year, more than ever, the gift which combines utility with lasting charm is doubly welcome. Mindful of the fact that hundreds of cultured people would rather receive pedigreed furniture for Christmas than any other gift, we have assigned special prices to many of our most desirable pieces. These prices will apply until Christmas, and are exceedingly tempting.

Each piece bears the unmistakable marks of fine joinery, for all Danersk Furniture is fashioned by the colony of master craftsmen in our New England shops. To find the best selection, we recommend an early visit.

PURDUE, ILLINOIS WIN AWARDS AT LIVE STOCK SHOW

Iowa State Also Comes In for Ribbons.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Chicagoland demonstrated yesterday the superiority of its agrarian output as judges at the International Live Stock exposition began their selections for champions in meat producing animals and in fine grains from the prairies.

Trim, fine wooled sheep and rolly polly swine were seen in the tanbark arena by a large crowd during the day, and in the evening the awards showed Purdue university, the University of Illinois, and Iowa State college had taken the lion's share of ribbons.

The agricultural school at Lafayette, Ind., displayed lambs that won over all other entries from the United States or Canada. Purdue's collection of sheep of all breeds captured both the grand championship and reserve championship, with pure bred Southdowns as the favorite.

Wins All Hog Prizes.

College bred Poland China, Berkshire, and Chester White fat hogs from Purdue also tramped out of the ring victorious. The school had already taken all of the Shropshire wether classes, with Iowa State college a close second.

The University of Illinois shepherd was also wreathed in smiles last night, as he displayed ribbons of championship hue in the Hampshire and Rambouillet wether lamb classes of sheep.

From Iowa's state agricultural school at Ames came the best pen of Tamworth barrows and reserve champions in the Poland China barrow and Tamworth barrow hog judging. Michigan State college was recognized for its showing of reserve champion Hampshire wethers, while the University of Wisconsin exhibited the champion Yorkshire barrow and the best pen of Tamworth hogs.

Sprinkled between these honors, however, were those for many outstanding breeders of live stock and grains in other sections of the United States and Canada. Kansas, Kentucky, Ohio, Missouri, and other states had sent blue bloods to the International, the judges found.

Legge at the Show.

Prominent in the roster of guests at the largest agricultural show in history yesterday were Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board; Frank O. Lowden, Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the federal animal industry bureau; Oakleigh Thorne and G. Howard Davison of Mill Brook, N. Y., and Robert A. Fairbairn of Westfield, N. J., all veteran stock breeders. A. G. Soderberg, the 80 year old Osco, Ill., farmer who has exhibited and attended every International since 1900, came in yesterday also.

F. W. Hubbell of Des Moines, Ia., was handed the senior and grand champion ribbons in the afternoon, indicative of the outstanding qualities of his Shorthorn bull, Collynie Clipper Star. This bull has marched triumphantly into judging rings and out again all through life without meeting his superior.

Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer, won junior champion honors in the Shorthorn bull judging with his Calrossie Lord Rothes, from his Edellyn farms. Speculation was rife as to the type of animal that would be named grand champion of the entire show. The Aberdeen Angus breed has eclipsed the Shorthorns, Herefords, and other beef breeds in recent years, it was pointed out. The decision is being made by Walter Biggar.

The grain show is attracting more interest than in any previous year, according to officials. This is accentuated by the showing of a new type of corn from Illinois and Iowa for the first time. Known as utility type, it is characterized by a hard, smooth kernel and longer, narrower ear than the thick ear of rough kernels usually grown.

Packed into the amphitheater last night after a day of favorable weather, the crowd witnessed a new and exciting feature of the annual International horse shows. Two youngsters from Cheyenne, Ralph and Loraine Graham, mounted in pony drawn chariots, raced over the tanbark and gave rodeo exhibitions that brought a cheering audience to its feet.

Plans were being made last night for the final housing of a large flock of poultry, game birds, fur animals and pets that arrive today for the Coliseum poultry show.

4-H Club Boys and Girl Inject New Life Into Farms; 1,400 Guests at Stock Show

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Fourteen hundred boys and girls of the 4-H club were guests of the International Livestock exposition at the stock yards yesterday. They were more than guests, for many of them were exhibitors and way showers to the hardened, old fashioned farmers, and walked away with prizes. They are the new farmers and farm women, proud of the job, the product of the combined educational methods of federal and state governments and county and township organizations.

Educational critics who insist upon strictly scholarly ideals for American universities would hold up their hands in horror to see the sign of the University of Illinois over a litter of pigs or a fat steer, but that is the way things seem to be going, for the 4-H club is one of the most significant movements in the United States. It comprises 830,000 members in 42 states, and these boys and girls, between the ages of 10 and 20, raised products last year of an estimated value of $16,000,000.

Given Dinner by Wilson.

The growth of the club during the last ten years has been remarkable. Nine years ago Thomas E. Wilson, who was instrumental in having them come to the live stock show with their exhibits, entertained 12 at dinner. Last night he had the whole 1,400, and later those who had won special achievement prizes were paraded around the arena in the big six team wagons, and the winners announced.

President Hoover, who is honorary chairman of the club, addressed a few words of welcome to them over the radio at the Wilson dinner. The four H's stand for head, heart, hand, and health, and the President said he was particularly interested in the fourth H.

"Agriculture in many ways is the best of all callings," he said. "One boy out of every four is not enjoying the health he should. Rows of corn in a field are the most healthy when given the best attention. Ten million boys and girls of the nation would be enriched throughout their lives by better health. Our nation will succeed only with the widening vision of each new and succeeding generation."

432 Awards Announced.

At the dinner 432 special awards were announced. The leaders in these were six boys who get college scholarships worth $300 each. These contests were the Thomas E. Wilson meat animal project and junior live stock feeding contest. The winners in the first were Keith P. Jones of Grand View, Wash.; Charles L. Brown of Battleground, Ind., and James William son Jr. of Marysville, W. Va. In the second contest the winners were Raymond Long, Orion, Ill.; Louis Butzow, Milford, Ill., and James Lockwood of Salem, Ind.

What the boys and girls think of their own organization is shown in one of the exhibits in their club building just inside the stock yards gates. It is in the form of a lighthouse on a stormy sea. There are two boats, and one marked 4-H is on even keel, while the other is on the rocks. "Lifesavers lighting the way to happiness and prosperity" are listed as follows:

Get Pleasure from Work.

And the pleasures they get out of it are "music, health, tours, camps, demonstrations, and exhibits."

The girls have contests in room improvement, canning, dress making, etc. The winner in the room improvement exhibit was Ruth Stoakes, 16 years old, of Tama county, Iowa. She selected wall paper, paint, varnish and furniture and fixed up a farm home room at a cost of $12.20.

Margaret Loar of Rawlings, Md., won the prize in the dress exhibit with a cotton school dress which she made for $1.88. Margaret has dark hair and eyes so she chose a blue and white print and designed a 3 piece garment with a tuck in blouse and bolero jacket.

Arma Remesberger of Hampton, Neb., won the blue ribbon for window treatment. Her exhibit was pink tan dotted voile curtains, made at a cost of $2.35.

Winner in Canning Contest.

Honors in the canned menu contest went to Florence Dressel, an 18 year old girl of Logan county, Okla. Her menu was baked chicken, mashed potatoes, buttered beans, stuffed tomato with a salad made of chopped cabbage, carrots and onions, hot biscuits with watermelon preserves. There were several other canning contests. Ruth Nance of Fulton county, Ga., won a prize for a sport costume costing $3.51.

The boys came in strong on the feeding contests, and in pig clubs, lamb clubs, corn, cotton, and vegetables. Sarah Ann Tolan, a freshman in high school at Farmingdale, Ill., won the steer championship of the junior feeding contest with her pet "Chocolate." She has been in club work for four years, under the direction of farm adviser Eddie Bay, and the college of agriculture at Urbana.

Philip Robinson of Evansville, Wis., won the purple ribbon in the lamb club for his pen of Southdowns. Gerald Simonin of Brook, Ind., won the pig club championship with a Duroc-Jersey entry weighing 340 pounds. James Thornton of New Berlin, Ill., was reserve champion in the junior livestock contest.

In addition, in raising healthy cattle the club members have established health records for themselves, and there will be a contest today in this, with judges from the McCormick Memorial hospital.

NEURITIS

There is nothing quite so torturing—so utterly unbearable as Neuritis. It robs life of all joy—and makes people desperate. But Neuritis is not hopeless—it responds to proper treatment just the same as other diseases. A well-known physician has written us, "Have been drinking Mountain Valley Water for six weeks for Neuritis and am glad to say I am feeling better than I have for two years". Mountain Valley Mineral Water brings relief in Neuritis because it gets at the root of the trouble—it tends to neutralize the acids which are irritating the nerves and retards the further accumulation of these acids by aiding healthy, normal elimination through all four natural channels. BRING IN $10,000 NEW CLOTHES IN DRIVE FOR NEEDY

3,000 Club Women Scour City for Garments.

Gratifying returns from the first day of the week's drive to obtain clothing for the poor and unemployed was reported last night by the women's division of Gov. Emmerson's relief commission. For the next five days Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, chairman of the division, and her staff of workers, aided by the club women of the city, will try to gather enough new and second hand clothing to clothe the destitute over the winter.

Get $10,000 Worth of Garments.

Mrs. Fairbank's assistants told her last night that new garments worth $10,000 had been turned over to the commission during the day. These were immediately distributed through the charity agencies. The wholesale houses contributed most of the clothing and late last night it was announced that the Michigan avenue shops, under the solicitation of Mrs. Edward R. Fifield, had contributed 3,000 new garments.

All day long about 3,000 club women made house to house canvasses over the city, asking housewives to give old clothing, which will be rehabilitated, and to buy new clothing to take the place of the old. A telegraphic appeal to club leaders who have 100,000 women on their membership lists was sent last night, repeating this plea to give used garments and purchase new ones for immediate needs.

List Receiving Stations.

The clothing solicited from the homes should be taken to receiving depots throughout the city. The addresses of these depots were made public last night as follows:

Women Placed in Stores.

Women were stationed at special counters in the department stores yesterday urging customers to buy from special lots of clothing marked down for the sale. This will be added to the new clothing and will be distributed immediately.

Philip R. Clarke, chairman of the $5,000,000 drive sponsored by the governor's commission to tide the jobless over the winter months, yesterday termed the current week the "crucial" period for the collections and asked that employés and employers being solicited give their utmost in raising the sum.

This morning Evanston will begin its 11 day drive to raise $50,000 for the poor and unemployed of the suburb. The entire day's receipts of the Evanston Railway company will be donated to the fund.

Job Offers Sent to Sally Make Many Women Happy

They're still talking about the day after Thanksgiving as "one of the happiest days we've ever had" over at the Illinois Free Employment service, 116 North Dearborn street.

Seeing a lineup of job seekers waiting one might wonder how a day there can be described as happy. But the worker who has charge of day work for women will tell you that 29 job offers from Sally Joy Brown of THE TRIBUNE 's employment service on last Wednesday were filled by women and girls who went out to serve, cook or wash dishes at Thanksgiving feasts.

"On the next day several women who employed them called us to say how delighted they were with the girls we sent, and the girls came in to thank us for giving them a chance at a few dollars' work to tide them over," said the worker. "Some of them get additional work, such as cleaning, all were well paid, and many went home with a generous helping of the Thanksgiving feast. It was wonderful what the Thanksgiving spirit did for those women."

Tells Benefits of Plan.

How the work of the Sally Joy Brown department has proved a God-send to hundreds upon hundreds of the unemployed was told by Mrs. Lilla H. Walter, head of the women's and girls' division of the Illinois free service.

"A beauty operator out of work and a child to support appealed to us for a job," she said. "A Sally Joy Brown offer came from a Wilmette woman for a beauty operator. We made the contact. And now this young woman is practically taken into a partnership and has established herself in an apartment where the child will have a good home."

Day Work Helps Needy.

One of the best aids in the unemployment problem is the day work, Mrs. Walter said. Unskilled help at the end of the day is paid money which will tide them over for a few days. The bureau has been also especially pleased with the factory work offered through Sally Joy Brown.

Among the job offers yesterday was one for a chocolate dipper, a man to fix furniture, several handy men, addresser, laundress, bookkeeper and stenographer, clerk in a store, a cook who is offered $20 a week and board and room.

If you can find a job for a man or woman, telephone it to Sally Joy Brown at Superior 0100. She will see that it reaches the Illinois Free Employment service.

Alma Rubens and Cortez Reach Separation Terms

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Alma Rubens and her actor-husband, Ricardo Cortez, have agreed to an amicable separation and divorce and are now engaged with aid of an attorney in dividing their joint property. The couple's divorce intentions were announced here today. Miss Rubens is said to be in New York.

SCHOOL SOCIETY GIVES CLOTHING TO NEEDY PUPILS

Mothers bringing their children trudged many a weary block yesterday in the bitter cold to the Dante school, 840 South Des Plaines street, in the hope of receiving clothing from the Chicago School Children's Aid society, which has headquarters at the school. After arriving each applicant was given a number and told to rest in a comfortable room instead of standing in line to await her turn.

As fast as the corps of workers could assemble the clothing it was distributed. Children whose shoes were without soles were given brand new ones that fit and every child was outfitted from underwear to winter coat and gloves.

The applicants were recommended by principals of the Chicago public schools, who upon investigation had found that the children could not attend school because they had no clothing. The School Children's Aid society is supported for the most part by children in the schools, who raise about $80,000 a year through a thank offering. The needs of the society have doubled this year because of unemployment and the public is being asked to help contribute.

Overweight?

"Welch's made me forget what the word means"

said Mrs. Everett J. Lyon
221 E. Superior St., Chicago

"Tell Welch's specialist for me that his advice was priceless. Now, with two glasses of Welch's daily I keep my weight under perfect control and I never feel tired even after a hard day."

Frances Lyon
(Registered Nurse)

Welch's contributes the energy necessary to her double duties as home maker and registered nurse.

Now the famous grape weight control plan as successfully practiced for years at Baden-Baden, Montreux and other European health resorts, comes to America.

This simple formula of two glasses of Welch's grape juice daily has earned the gratitude of literally thousands of American women. Now instead of starvation diets, strenuous exercise, headaches and dizziness, weight is controlled at will by this simple, practical plan.

Immediately assimilated and carried into the blood the mineral salts, neutralizing acids and fruit proteins provide magical energy without adding one ounce of weight.

The ideal fruit juice, Welch's brings abounding health to the whole family. Make it the fruit juice course in every meal. Serve it daily for a month and watch everyone's health improve. The children's glowing cheeks alone will repay you. Keep a bottle on hand always and serve it daily. Welch's is pasteurized, pure. No sugar or anything else is added to nature's own health elements.* Many prefer it diluted with one-third to one-half water.

Ask for Welch's by name as your doctor does—for this reason—Welch's is pasteurized. Be sure you get all the precious health elements.* Insist on pasteurized grape juice as processed by Welch's.

THE DRIFT OF OUR FOREIGN POLICY.

The President announces that he will present the protocol providing our adherence to the league court to the senate. He hopes that it will be acted upon, noting, however, that it is for the senate leaders to determine if it should be brought up in the press of other business during the short session. He declares that it certainly should not be made an instrument of obstruction in attempting to force an extra session, but we do not see how it can fail to be so used, since there will be the usual internationalist lobby clamoring for its adoption regardless of any other consideration, and the senatorial group which wants to force an extra session will be quick to make use of any senators who are subservient to this lobby to win their votes for the extra session.

It seems to us, therefore, that the President has increased the probability of an extra session which the country does not want for the sake of a measure which the country does not want. There is no mandate whatsoever from the nation for our entrance into the league court. If the simple question of going in or staying out could be submitted to a popular referendum the answer would be decisively in the negative. The proponents are in a minority that has means of making itself heard and finds in Washington an impressibility not shared by general public opinion.

We have had for some time an anomalous condition in our foreign affairs, which has no counterpart in any other important nation. We have had representatives in the executive and in the senate who represent not the national tradition nor the instinct and conviction of the people, but are preoccupied with the judgments and opinions of Europe, to the exclusion of American sentiment, and under this influence are persistently edging us farther and farther, year by year, into the political complex of European interests and policies.

This is an extraordinary phenomenon in a supposedly representative government and is possible only because of our want of interest in our foreign policy and our intense preoccupation with our private concerns and our urgent domestic problems. Before the late war we have always had in control of our foreign relations men who were stalwart Americans, convinced of the wisdom of our policy of independence, quick to assert and protect American interests, undoubting our right to such assertion and protection. Since the election of Woodrow Wilson a new spirit has infected our foreign policy, applauded by a small minority of theorists and shortsighted humanitarians backed by an influential class financially or socially interested in Europe.

Under this influence our foreign relations have been conducted without practical respect for American interests or regard for American prestige. Its lowest stage was the blundering mishandling of our relations with Mexico, one of the most humiliating chapters of our history. This was followed by Wilson's attempt to jettison our tradition of political independence and to commit us to a permanent entanglement in the old world political system. We were saved from that only by an exceptionally able and determined minority of senators, and though the people, so far as they were given opportunity to express themselves, emphatically indorsed the result, we have had a feebler and more guarded yet persistent continuation of Wilsonism which has made repeated uncompensated concessions to European pressures.

Thus behind a façade of altruistic rhetoric and vague international responsibility, both our power to protect American interests and our influence in world affairs, so far as it is expressed by diplomacy, have been progressively weakened. It is a course which is not only hurtful to our national interests but even to our ability to serve practically the altruistic ends it is designed to achieve.

What we need sorely is a renewal of the stalwart self-respect, the vigor and clear-headedness which marked our foreign policy under Washington and John Adams, under Jackson and Lincoln, under Cleveland and Roosevelt. The vast and rapid expansion of our foreign trade and financial commitments, the multiplication of our foreign contacts and responsibilities do not justify unnecessary involvements in the political complications of Europe. On the contrary they demand urgently, perhaps more urgently than ever in the past, a clear sighted and cautious regard for American interests and the resolute maintenance of American independence of judgment and action.

INDIANA REVIVES.

A number of leading citizens of Indiana have formed a state board of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. They include men of national reputation like George Ade and Meredith Nicholson and an impressive list of citizens prominent in business and the professions. Many of these citizens have been active in the revolt against klan corruption and Anti-Saloon league fanaticism and misgovernment, and the new body taken as a whole makes one of the most formidable agencies for political and social reform which the fight on prohibition has brought forth.

Indiana and all the forces of good government and American principle are to be congratulated upon this reinforcement. It represents the highest character, intelligence and public spirit of an American community which has been afflicted and humiliated by the coöperation of corrupt politics and bigotry. The sorry chapter of tyranny and misgovernment which the klan and the Anti-Saloon league politics has written in the annals of Indiana and the nation is not truly representative of the quality of a commonwealth justly proud of its citizenship and of its honorable contributions to American life. It is the new board that truly represents Indiana, and its leadership will restore it to its proper place in the esteem of the nation.

LOSSES AT PANAMA.

In his annual report the governor of the Panama canal, Col. Harry Burgess, notes that $27,000,000 was collected in tolls in the last fiscal year, a slight decrease from the preceding year. After expenses of operation were met, the net receipts from the canal were $18,000,000.

"Considering the capital invested and accumulated interest," Col. Burgess comments, "the present total capital liability is such that the canal is not as yet earning the annual interest charge at 4 per cent, the current borrowing rate of the treasury of the United States." Accordingly, he concludes, there is no present reason for reducing the toll rates.

Congressmen from the central states who wish to serve their constituents might well carry Col. Burgess' report around with them, ready for instant use. It is certain that manufacturing and commercial interests and the intercoastal shipping lines will continue to demand reductions in the canal rates. It is to their advantage to do so. It is just as definitely to the advantage of the great central valleys to have the tolls maintained at least at their present figures.

Our factories and merchants formerly had extensive markets on the Pacific coast. Much of this trade has been lost because the Panama canal offered a cheaper route to Pacific ports from New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore than overland from Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Louis, although we are upward of a thousand miles nearer the west coast. Any lowering of the existing Panama rates can only mean a further loss to the central states and a further gain for our competitors to the east.

The next time that the question of reducing the rates is raised in congress we may hope that Col. Burgess' statement will be cited. If there is to be any revision it should be upward, for, as Col. Burgess has made clear, the present tolls are not adequate to repay the government for the costs of the canal. Nor are they likely to prove adequate for some years to come. The receipts at the peak of business activity the world over were insufficient, as an examination of the balance sheet shows; it is not likely that intercoastal and international trade will again reach the levels of 1928 and 1929 for some years to come.

EUROPEAN RESTORATION.

From Premier Tardieu's assertion that Europe must be reconstructed economically if prosperity is to return with a restored buying power there will be little dissent, but his suggestion of coöperation between the United States and France for that purpose will be received with a certain reserve. Certainly America will do what it can, but coöperation with France will depend upon a change in French policy. French financial thought has been too much infected by considerations of French politics and international policy. No country has so persistently resisted mitigations of the treaty conditions imposed by the military victors at Versailles, none has been more shortsighted or more ready to endanger the stability of Europe. If France is now ready to make concessions for the sake of European stability and restoration, coöperation will be possible, but this involves a surrender of the fallacy that French security depends upon the permanent subordination of Germany. The restoration of Germany is an essential factor in the restoration of Europe, politically, socially, and economically.

A SERMON IN RIDICULE.

[San Diego Union.]

We are indebted to Mr. John T. McCutcheon, dean of American cartoonists and one of this republic's great men, for a devastating sermon on the failings and shortcomings of the legal profession.

The sermon takes the form of a cartoon, recently published by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, entitled "If Lawyers Fought Fires the Way They Fight Crime." It shows a burning house surrounded by a concourse of legal talent, and from an upper window a distressed lady with a small child in her arms is shrieking for help.

"First," says one of the lawyers, "we've got to prove that there is a fire, and that it is this fire." "The plaintiff's appeal is not in proper form. It would never be sustained by the higher courts," observes another. "In her appeal she doesn't give the number of her house or what ward it's in—most irregular!" is the criticism of a third. A fourth is drawing up a legal notice to the fire department, stating—with ample "whereases"—that "there has been caused to exist, from causes unknown to appellant, a fire or conflagration——"

This is devastating ridicule, yet there is hardly one layman in a thousand who would object to it as unfair. There can be relatively few leaders of bench and bar who have any idea whatever of the amazement, resentment, and bitterness which the law's delays, and its feeble attack on the crime problem, have instilled into the lay public.

The legal mind is a thing apart from ordinary life, apparently, concerned with serving or exploiting a system rather than with the objectives which the system itself purports to serve.

Within the profession itself there will be none to maintain that the courts mete out ideal justice—and there will be few outside the profession to claim that such a feat would be possible in a world marred by multifarious imperfections. But both within and without the profession there is need for education as to the fundamental purposes of law and the really fundamental rules that safeguard those purposes.

Courts and laws were invented to eliminate haste—due deliberation is an essential of ahy sound system of doing justice. Mr. McCutcheon's parallel between fire and crime is a distortion. But it is the fault of the law—the fault of the courts, of the legislators and of the lawyers—that this distortion is reflected today in the mind of the average layman. Speed is not incompatible with deliberation—speed is not the same thing as haste—and the law has exaggerated deliberation out of all proportion to its rightful and orderly place in the process of justice.

The purposes of the law—such matters as right and fairness, respect for person and property, the pursuit of guilt, the protection of innocence—have been subordinated to the deliberate routine that has been built up to serve them. A great reform in the law—a reform that must begin within the legal profession—is needed before it can be restored to the respect which its principles ought to guarantee it.

NERVOUS HEART.

AURICULAR fibrillation is one of the nervous diseases of the heart—one of a group that were lumped together and not much known individually until the newer instruments for examining the heart became available. The use of these elaborate instruments has taught us much about this group of disorders. It has taught us that some are not as bad as we thought they were; their bark is worse than their bite. They frighten unnecessarily. Others are very important.

The nerve ganglia which act like electric jars to keep the heart muscle contracting and relaxing with regularity and precision are located within the heart wall up towards the base. The nerves which come to the heart from outside it supply impulses which put a brake on things.

Each set of nerves and each kind of nerve action has its work to do in keeping the heart muscle steadily on the job, adjusting its effort to the work to be done, adjusting the different parts of the heart to the other parts, and to other parts of the body.

The waves of impulses which shoot out from the nerve center or nodes in the heart can be compared to flashes of lightning or the flashes of light which we sometimes see in an Edison light when something has gone wrong and the current is not steady. These flashes of nerve force flow swiftly across the muscle of the auricle, the upper muscle, and then across the ventricle, the lower one. If the heart is beating normally the wave of muscle contraction can be seen to pass from the auricle to the ventricle. Normally, these nerve impulses shoot out about seventy times a minute at clocklike intervals.

There is a group of diseases in which this mechanism does not work in a clocklike fashion. Auricular fibrillation is one of these. In this condition the auricle muscle fibers contract with great rapidity and irregularity. Meanwhile, the ventricle, the other muscle, is trying to beat regularly but is succeeding poorly. For the machine to work right these two must check, one right after the other. In consequence, the job of keeping the circulation normal is poorly done.

Auricular fibrillation is one form of nervous heart. It is a disorder of the heart nerves. Behind it sometimes lies a disease of the muscular or heart arteries, but not always. Just why the running gear of this clock gets out of rhythm is sometimes discoverable and sometimes not. Medicines to steady the heart are of great service in treatment.

In this disorder life may terminate suddenly, but that is not the rule. The rule is that people with auricular fibrillation live for years. As soon as they become accustomed to the heart irregularity they are reasonably comfortable. Life may be terminated eventually by reason of extension of the irregularity to the ventricle beat or by reason of some trouble elsewhere in the body.

SPOTS ON FINGERNAILS.

Miss E. A. writes: I am bothered with quite a few small white spots on all of my fingernails and would like to know the cause and remedy. Does my diet have any effect?

REPLY.

We had an article on white spots on the nails some time ago. A white spot means that there was some interference with nail growth at the place and time when that particular piece of nail was forming. The most frequent cause is pushing back the cuticle. Too much manicuring is a potent cause. Fungi cause it. There are still other causes.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE.

A daily reader writes:

1. What causes high blood pressure?
2. How can it be cured?
3. Is it dangerous?

REPLY.

1. Among the causes are heart disease, kidney disease, old age, wear and tear of life, worry and other emotions, overeating, and lead poisoning.
2. It is not difficult to lower high blood pressure in the earlier stages of the disorder. It is not so easy to keep it down. Refraining from worry, fear, and other emotions is the best single procedure.
3. Sometimes it is; sometimes not.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU FEES.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I accepted a position through an employment agency at a salary of $250 per month. They demand 6 per cent of a year's salary, $60 upon acceptance and $20 per week until payment is made. Is this rate legal in Illinois? 2. If I lose my position in two months can I demand any of the money I paid them? 3. If I cannot meet the payments promptly what steps can they take to collect? O. E. B.

1. The Illinois statute limits the charge that can be made in advance but does not limit the charge that can be made for the actual securing of the position.
2. The agreement should cover this point.
3. They can take judgment and follow it up with garnishment or levy of execution.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ASH NUISANCE.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—[Friend of the People.]—There is a private alley to the rear of my home. The ashes of a ten flat building are thrown under my bedroom window, causing the dust to float in when windows are open. What can be done about this? P. O.

Due to a former complaint, an inspector was assigned to make a thorough investigation, which resulted in the following report: "A quarter of a load of cinders in private alley which creates no nuisance. When a full load is accumulated it is immediately hauled away. No cans or other rubbish deposited at this location. No odor nuisance at the time of inspection." However, a reinspection will be made and if any violation is observed over which we have jurisdiction proper action will be taken to effect abatement.

HOUSE WIRING.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is it permissible for a home owner to do his own house wiring, additions or alterations, provided the proper permits are secured, approved material used and the work done in such a manner as to pass both the city and Edison company inspection? J. W.

Ordinarily, no trouble is encountered if it is inside work and is done with reasonable skill. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Don't Sneer—Those Boys Are Setting the Style These Days.

We heard of a bootlegger the other day who ordered from a big Boul Mich shop a complete wardrobe of party and evening gowns, nighties, lingerie, and what not, and directed that the lady's pet name "Dearie" be worked in neat letters an inch high in chip diamonds. And, fellow citizens, do you remember away back when the farmers got lots o' money selling their grain to the distilleries? And when the government soaked each gallon of spirits that was manufactured ninety cents? And when the whole running expenses of the government was paid out of the revenue tax? Hey? And now the money goes to embroider "Dearie" in chip diamonds on the backs of opera capes and lingerie! Huh! And the rest of us have to form in line at the income tax office and drive 'em crazy; and, gosh knows, it isn't their fault. Anyhow, we're glad our pet name isn't embroidered in chip diamonds on the back of our red flannel unnawares. The thing isn't in good taste; and, besides, the damn things must scratch something awful.

A KNIGHT RETIRES.

He was her mighty warrior,
Her little lad of three,
Who vowed as valiant knights of old
To guard her gallantly.

His tiny wooden sword in hand,
A fearless search he led
For hidden foes the whole house through Before he went to bed.

"I am a man and not afraid
Of anything at all!"
The daring words were stoutly said;
He was her Siegfried small.

At length he climbed up into bed
To rest from doughty deed,
And underneath his pillow slipped
His sword in case of need.

But (foibles dwell in bravest breasts!)
He also smuggled there
A strange companion for his blade—
A little woolly bear.

ADELAIDE P. LOVE.

THEY'RE pushin' over joints, as the police quaintly say, all over Chicago looking for Al Capone and all the time, according to dispatches, Al is rambling around Miami buying garters and silk socks and things at the stores. Are they really trying to pinch Al or are they just showing us a good time?

DOGGONE, WE'RE NEVER SATISFIED!

Russian exiles in Paris groveled before ex-Grand Duke Cyril in Paris Sunday, kissed his hand, hailed him as czar, and looked forward to the overthrow of the Reds and the restoration of monarchy. And lots of these exiles were probably slung out of Russia by the neck and the seat of the pants for throwing pineapples at the last czar. And soon after they return to Russia (Mr. Stalin, please write) and enthrone their new czar they'll be taking potshots at him with machine guns every time he sticks his nose out of the palace. The human race is mighty hard to understand. Or, as old Bill Dorgan often said, "Everybody iz nuts."

ANYHOW, IT'S WORTH TRYING

Jim of Jump River hurries a letter to inform us that Strong & Manley is the name of a business firm at Eagle River, Wis. We remember 'way, 'way back when we were called to the conductorship of the Colyum of Calumny the first letter we opened from the contribs informed us that Strong & Manley was the name of a business firm in Eagle River, Wis. We had seen the paragraph in B. L. T.'s column—in fact, he told us as much as fifteen years ago that he dreaded opening the mail for fear of being told that Strong & Manley was the name of a business firm at Eagle River, Wis. We have always tried to be brave and uncomplaining in the face of sorrow and trouble, and we have tried to ignore the pain in the neck as every week brought us the tidings that Strong & Manley was the name of a business firm in Eagle River, Wis. The years have passed and still the mail makes us tremble and grow pale, for ever and anon out jumps Strong & Manley. We had resolved to go on suffering in silence, but we are only human—we can stand no more. To the contributor who stands pat the longest, who sits on his hand and refuses to tell us that Strong & Manley is the name of a business firm at Eagle River, Wis., we will give a gold plated bologny sausage suitably engraved. Now, remember, this is to the one that refrains the longest.

THE MIGHTY HUNTER

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 2, 1914.

LONDON. — Official news of the great battle in northern Poland continues to be scanty, and with both headquarters claiming successes it is impossible to say how the battle is going. Of its intensity, however, there ca.. be no doubt. On one point both Russian and German dispatches agree. This is that the German army, divided and in danger of being surrounded, has escaped the trap, but only with enormous losses.

LONDON.—F. W. Rennet, war correspondent, sends this report from Petrograd: "The Germans persist in the furious struggle to burst through northward from Lowicz and end their besieged position. They are charging the Russians' position night and day for control of the north road through Kutno, leading to Thorn."

PARIS.—The French official statement notes a lively cannonade in Belgium and German activity to the north of Arras. This may mean that the Germans have begun another attempt to get through to the French ports.

CHICAGO.—The municipal dance hall idea will be christened tonight at Dreamland hall, Van Buren and Paulina streets, with Mayor Harrison and Mrs. Harrison leading the grand march, according to an announcement of Mrs. Leonora Z. Meder, commissioner of public service.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 2, 1900.

CHICAGO.—The grand jury in its final report condemned in positive terms the action of Mayor Harrison's administration in permitting the continuance of dives, infested at all hours, day and night, by the worst classes in the city. The report was presented by Foreman Arthur Gourley to Judge Tuley.

NEW YORK.—The young duke of Manchester, with his newly wedded American duchess, who was Miss Helene Zimmerman of Cincinnati, arrived on the St. Louis. The first person to greet the duchess was her father.

LONDON.—The Evening Standard reports that a battle is in progress between Gen. Knox and the Boers under Gen. De Wet, near Rouxville, in the southeastern extremity of the Orange river colony, and that the capture of Gen. De Wet is considered imminent.

NEW YORK.—Between 500 and 600 sturdy Boer families, exiled by war from their homes in the Transvaal, have applied through the department of state to know whether they will be welcomed in the United States as settlers.

PARIS.—Maharajah Kapurthala, playing through Liane de Pougy's magic hand, broke the bank at Monte Carlo. They divided their gains. Friends are bringing Liane back to Paris to take her away from temptation to play again.

MANILA.—Twelve hundred rebel bolomen entered Vigan, Island of Luzon, and surrendered to Capt. Green of the 33d infantry. This is the largest number of men who have yet surrendered in Luzon at one time.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 2, 1880.

CHICAGO.—Gurdon S. Hubbard, the oldest resident of Chicago, delivered an interesting lecture to a large audience at Masonic hall, Clark and Center streets, for the benefit of St. Matthew's Reformed Episcopal church. His subject was "First Year in the Northwest," covering a period from 1818 to 1819 when he was a clerk in the employ of the American Fur company. He was then 15 years old.

NEW YORK.—The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, in a lengthy interview, expressed himself clearly and forcibly on some industrial questions. Among other things he said: "I have been reproached for saying that $1 a day was enough for a laborer to live upon. It is my belief that with an economical wife and helpful children a prudent man could not only support his family but gradually amass a property on $1 a day. Of course, he could not do this and smoke away a portion of his income in tobacco nor swill it away in lager."

LONDON.—For the seventh time during his career as a Free Mason his royal highness the prince of Wales has been nominated for the office of grand master of the order throughout the kingdom.

A REVOLUTIONARY BATTLE NEAR CHICAGO.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Friday, Dec. 5, will be the anniversary of the revolutionary battle or skirmish between the Americans and the British on Dec. 5, 1780, at the old Indian Council grounds at Trail Creek [Michigan City] in and around the beautiful Liberty park, about one mile east of Sheridan beach.

In 1780 a band of rugged fighters left Cahokia, opposite St. Louis, to attack Fort St. Joseph, near the present Niles, Mich., in revenge for the British burning part of Cahokia some months before, and also to loot the fort of its choice furs. On reaching it they found the garrison and the Indians, with the traders, were on their annual hunt, as they did not expect an attack. The Americans took twenty-four packs of choice furs, loaded their pack horses, and started for home via Trail Creek, Beach, and Chicago Portage.

Word was sent from Fort St. Joe to Champion, head trader, who collected some picked warriors and rushed after the Americans. They overtook them at Trail Creek, undoubtedly at the beautiful Indian Council grounds with its fine springs. Champion attacked the Americans and after a bitter struggle succeeded in defeating them. Capt. Hamelin was fatally wounded, several were wounded, a few were captured and a few escaped into the thick woods. Lieut. Tom Brady was captured but later escaped and became a sheriff in Illinois. Hamelin died a short time after he was wounded.

Lieut. du Quindre, the military commander there, claimed he defeated the Americans at Fort Petite [Little Fort], at the present Waverly Beach, Indiana State park, but Lieut. Gov. Sinclair of Mackinaw notified Gov. Gen. Haldeman that Du Quindre was a fraud and that Champion was the victor at Trail Creek. Haldeman sent word to Sinclair to reward Champion for his good conduct in defeating the Americans at Trail Creek.

These are the official statements from the British officials regarding this revolutionary battle, which had been located at various places.

AIR PORTS.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Chicago has always been divided into three sections geographically, and I suggest that in establishing airports each section of the city should be considered. The idea of leasing the school property at the present Municipal airport for a term of 50 years is shortsighted indeed, especially when there are available in the same location full sections of land which can be acquired by outright purchase for permanent airports.

Chicago should map now a program consisting of at least three large permanent ports, one on the lake front, one near the present airport, and another in the northwesterly part of the city.

EMMET KENNEDY.

ONE MAN BUSES.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Entirely aside from the fact that the introduction of the one man buses has contributed to Chicago's unemployment problem there is this: They provide rotten transportation for the passenger who parts with his good dime.

The low buses are particularly bad. Is the coach company waiting for a death by asphyxiation before they do something about the gas fumes and ventilation?

The one man buses are slower. The poor badgered driver must open the door, make change, clear the step, and close the door before he can be on his way.

The lower decks of the one man buses represent the very worst in discomfort for passengers. The seats for three are plain silly; two must sprawl in the aisle when one on the inside gets up. And that aisle doesn't provide room for a good sized pair of feet. Of course passengers stand downstairs, as close to the door as possible. Who can blame them when the long trek downstairs and through the coach might carry them three stops beyond their destination? J. M.

SAMOA UNDER THE LEAGUE.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—It is a pleasure to compliment you and express approval of the editorial in THE TRIBUNE of Nov. 13 on "Samoa Under the League." It shows a correct understanding, not only of the ways of those who control the league but of the situation in Samoa under the New Zealand mandate, and it has been a pleasure to me to mail some copies of the editorial to friends in New Zealand who were deported from Samoa by the administrator.

However, there is one inaccuracy, a mere technical one, in your editorial, where you say "this British" dominion got a mandate composed of former German possessions in the Pacific, etc." As a matter of fact, no part of the Samoan group was ever a German possession. On the other hand, the entire group was by formal treaty, signed by both Germany and the United States, recognized as an independent kingdom, and the treaty is still in effect. This point is made abundantly clear in the petition to the league of nations by Edwin William Gurr, one of those deported two or three years ago from Samoa, and William Cooper, a former resident of the islands.

J. J. MULLIGAN.

COMMENDING GOV. MOODY.

Waverly, Ia., Nov. 28.—Gov. Moody's rejoinder to your editorial is very good and it seems to me that you might well study it. I read only THE TRIBUNE and from the information gained from you the presentation of Moody is quite correct. If your descriptions are true, you had better adopt Moody's attitude and do it very vigorously.

FRANCE, BRITAIN SPLIT ON RESERVE AIRPLANE FORCES

London Wins Fight to Put Them in Disarm Pact.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Dec. 1.—Great Britain and France split today over including in the draft disarmament convention reserve airplanes in the enumeration of aviation forces. When Lord Robert Cecil forced the issue to a vote, despite Rene Massigli's plea, the plan was carried by one vote. Germany, the United States, Russia, and Italy lined up behind the British.

Today's issue marks the first time during the session of the league of nations' preparatory disarmament commission that England has not supported France, in accordance with the ill fated naval compromise of 1927, when London agreed to champion the Paris government's demands for trained reserves in exchange for France supporting the admiralty's naval proposals.

England Remembers Air Raids.

But England's memories of raiding Zeppelins and Gothas during the war are stronger than combinations at the conference here, and raiding aircraft over London loomed larger than apprehensions over the combined French and Italian naval strength in the Mediterranean.

Germany made an alternative proposal when the debate seemed deadlocked, by suggesting the complete abolition of military aviation. Russia supported this proposal. But the other delegations, despite their outcries against air bombing of unprotected cities and the slaughter of civilians, women, and children, did not heed the proposal. Germany is barred from possessing military aviation by the Versailles treaty any way, and Russia lacks the factories to construct an appreciable air force.

Germany also demanded that a general disarmament conference be summoned for Nov. 2, 1931. The proposal did not come to a vote, but it is doubted that the conference will be called before 1932.

Canada Seeks Unlimited Power.

Canada tried to jam through an amendment eliminating the restriction on the horsepower of airplanes, but despite lukewarm support by Lord Cecil and American Ambassador Hugh Gibson, it failed under an assault by Rene Massigli, N. Sato of Japan, E. Cobian of Spain, and others.

Visions of future fleets of flying battleships, carrying tons of deadly explosives, were conjured up by M. Massagli. The French delegate pointed out that aviation is in its infancy and as aircraft are perfected the machines become larger and faster, and capable of higher altitude and longer radius.

"Eventually there will be categories of airships, such as capital ships, cruisers, and other types," he declared.

PROBATE DAWSON WILL; 20 HEIRS PLAN CONTEST

The will of Martin Dawson, candy manufacturer, which leaves an estate of approximately $2,000,000 to Catholic organizations, was admitted to probate yesterday over the protests of twenty of Dawson's heirs. The heirs, who are nephews and neices of Dawson's four brothers, filed notice with Oscar Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Horner, that they will contest the will on grounds that Dawson was unsound of mind.

Dawson died Oct. 28 at the Congress hotel, where he lived. He was 86 years old and a bachelor. The will, drawn on Oct. 23, was witnessed by three members of the firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw. One of these, Attorney Anthony M. Michel, testified in court yesterday that Dawson was competent at the time the will was signed.

Under the will Dawson left $300,000 to Cardinal Mundelein for the purpose of erecting a building to be dedicated to the Little Flower; $300,000 for a new building for St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, 9th street and Wabash avenue, and the remainder of the estate—about $1,300,000—to the Catholic bishop of Chicago to be distributed as he shall direct. The will made personal bequests of $35,000.

PEACE MOVES IN SCOTTISH COAL MINE STRIKE FAIL

Price of Fuel Boosted as 75,000 Men Walk Out.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The British coal crisis worked slowly toward a solution with hurried meetings in various parts of the country today as the Glasgow dealers raised the price of coal 3 cents per hundred weight because of the strike of 75,0000 Scottish miners.

The strike call was issued for 92,000 members of the Scottish national union but was not answered by the miners in several districts. With the big majority idle, workers' representatives met the owners in an effort to arrive at a temporary agreement but failed. They will confer again tomorrow. In the meantime the unions have ordered the men to "stand firm and await further instructions."

London Parley Is Sterile.

The most important move to bring peace in the coal fields was made in London in protracted meetings between Emanuel Shinwell, minister of mines; A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners' federation, and William Graham, president of the board of trade. No results were announced, but during question time in the house of commons Mr. Shinwell was asked to declare whether provisions had been made for feeding the miners whose families will go hungry if the strike lasts for many weeks. Mr. Shinwell declared that such a contingency was not likely.

In answer to another question he declared that the government was studying the technical violation of the new coal mines act, which went into effect today, by the Welsh and English mines where better than 200,000 miners are working under a temporary arrangement. At most of these mines the men have accepted a "spread over" of 90 hours fortnightly instead of demanding a rigid six day week and seven and one-half hour days as provided by the new act.

Alternative Was Banned.

This is a violation of the law, since the permission to accept this alternative instead of a wage cut was withheld by vote of the delegates of the miners' federation at their national conference last Friday. The group is meeting again next Thursday and is expected to modify or rescind this action.

It is not felt in authoritative circles that the strike will spread, and there are hopes of thrashing out a permanent understanding within a few days.

500 BANDITS FIRE AT TWO WOMEN ON RAFT IN RIVER

BULLETIN.

PEIPING, China, Dec. 2 (Tuesday).—(AP)—The British legation today received a telegram from a party sent to rescue Mrs. H. D. Hayward, American missionary, and her nurse, Miss E. Gomersall, from bandits who had captured them, saying they were safe at Mongol Hill camp, thirty miles from Paotowchen.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, China, Dec. 1.—Unofficial advices report the arrival at 9:30 o'clock tonight at Paotow of Lieut. C. J. Kanaga of the United States marines, Capt. Staples of the British legation and the Rev. G. Findley Andrew, British missionary. The trio are attempting to rescue Mrs. H. D. Hayward, of Seattle and her nurse, Miss E. Gomersal, who are s "i under heavy fire on a raft in the Yellow river.

A Swedish missionary named Oberg, the first to send news of the women's plight, dispatched a runner to Paotow, who, upon returning, stated that the report that the women had been robbed of their clothing is probably untrue inasmuch as eight Mongol soldiers, who acted as an escort, have been keeping the bandits off the raft. According to his report, 500 bandits are keeping a steady stream of fire on the craft.

Forty Bandits Slain.

The runner also states that 40 bandits have been killed by the Mongol soldiers.

Both the British and American legations are using pressure at Nanking, but unofficial information from there intimates that troops in that region are not obedient to the Nationalist government.

The "first Red army" has reduced the ransom demanded for the release of Christopher Tevedt, a Norwegian missionary, and the Rev. Bert Nelson of Minneapolis to $30,000. The two are connected with the Augustana synod mission, which has already paid $3,000 for the release of Miss Bergiolt Evenson of Seattle.

Two Irish Priests Freed.

The communists are offering to apply this sum as credit on the other ransoms.

According to dispatches, two Irish priests, Fathers P. Laffan and J. Lineham, captured by bandits in Hupeh province April 25, have been freed. The missionaries are said to be aboard a British gunboat on the upper Yangtze river. The two priests had previously been reported murdered.

VET BEQUEATHS FEDERAL BONUS TO EMMERSON

A world war veteran of whom he had never heard made Gov. Louis L. Emmerson beneficiary of his federal compensation, and yesterday the governor turned the money over to the American Legion relief fund.

The veteran was Vladimir Andrycak, 9130 Woodlawn avenue, who died on May 10. He served with the A. E. F. as a volunteer from Illinois. Following his death an investigation by Public Administrator Halbert O. Crews disclosed that his compensation, $643.43, had been made payable to the governor.

"My theory is," said Gov. Emmerson, "that Andrycak meant to return the money to the government and that I was merely the medium. However, I felt it would be more appropriate to give it to the Legion relief fund."

Dictator Expels Three Russian Chiefs for "Telling Secrets"

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Dec. 1.—Sergei Cyrtsov, Rykov's former assistant as head of the soviet people's commissars of Russia; Lomanadze, former confidant of Dictator Stalin and former secretary of the Georgian communist party, and Lzar Schapkin, former right hand man of Leon Trotzky, were expelled from the central committee of the communist party—the bolshevik parliament—at a special meeting of the committee today. The three were charged with plotting against the dictator and with divulging party secrets. Vassili Schmidt, vice president of the council of people's commissars, was dismissed from that post and appointed vice commissar for agriculture.

Latvian frontier guards near the village of Linava today caught an old woman crossing the frontier. She pleaded for permission to join her relatives in Latvia, saying that the majority of the inhabitants in her village of Gorki, in the parish of Tolkovo, had been arrested and exiled to the Archangel district. The guards, having strict orders to turn back refugees, were forced to return the woman across the border, where she was captured by Red guards. Her eyes were gouged out and she was shot before the horrified Letts.

Tells Sabotage of U. S. Machines.

MOSCOW, Dec. 1.—(AP)—One of the eight Russian engineers on trial for high treason tonight expressed the belief that soviet Russia would not get ahead of the United States in technical production for many years.

The defendant, 67 year old Alexander Fedotov, had been asked by Prosecutor Krilenko whether he thought the plans of the soviet to outstrip America would succeed.

"I am guilty, of course," replied the aged engineer, "but I must admit I don't believe the soviets will get ahead of America for many years."

Another witness said that American textile machines had been discarded by the conspirators for English machines of an inferior type. This witness, Alexei Kirpotenko, a textile expert and a confederate of Fedotov in the work of sabotage, had been called to confirm some of the defendant's statements.

He did this and then told of the discarding of the American machines which had been undergoing tests in Russia. He said he considered this an act of sabotage because the American machines were better adapted to Russian conditions.

British Ambassador Protests.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The British government has taken official exception to the charges in the indictments of the eight engineers on trial in Moscow. Foreign Minister Henderson in the house of commons today declared amid cheers:

"Sir Esmond Ovey, the British ambassador to Moscow, on my instructions, has informed the soviet government that I have taken exception to those passages which contained adverse and unfounded reflections on the late and the present British governments."

HISTORIC CHURCH IS DAMAGED BY SUSPICIOUS FIRE

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Police tonight expressed belief that a fire which swept through the upper structure of historic St. Andrew's church, in City Hall place, causing $100,000 damage, was of incendiary origin.

The flames started in the belfry of the edifice erected in 1808 and known as "the Printers' church" for its ministrations to newspaper typographers from nearby Park row. Fire Marshal Brophy tonight began an investigation.

Msgr. William E. Cashin, rector of the church, and a score of city officials joined the firemen in guarding relics of St. Andrew in the building, where today had been observed as that patron saint's day.

COURT REFUSES BILLINGS' PLEA IN 1916 BOMBING

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 1.—(AP)—For the second time this year the California Supreme court refused today to recommend a pardon for Warren K. Billings, serving a life sentence for bombing a preparedness parade here in 1916, killing ten persons and injuring forty.

The decision likewise affects Thomas J. Mooney, also serving a life term for the bombing. Mooney, at San Quentin, and Billings, at Folsom, said they were not surprised by the decision.

The court's refusal to recommend a pardon was based on the contention Billings had not made a case or materially altered the status of the case since the previous decision.

The decision was forwarded to Gov. C. C. Young with a letter which said certain sections of the public and press apparently had assumed the hearing which preceded the decision was a new trial with the usual presumption of innocence.

Holds Proof Not Produced.

This, it was pointed out, was not the case. Instead the letter said Billings had been fairly and constitutionally tried and the burden of proof of innocence in his petition for a pardon lay on him and not the state. The court held such proof had not been produced.

In the decision today Justice William H. Langdon dissented, as he did last July, on the ground Billings is entitled to clemency. He prepared a separate opinion. Two other justices, although concurring, issued separate opinions.

Mooney has a plea for a pardon before the governor, who said he will deal with Mooney's case according to the decision in the Billings case.

Based on Long Hearing.

The decision was based on a long hearing here last summer in which the justices, sitting off bench, went into every angle of the bombing case without hindrances incident to ordinary court procedure.

Edvin Mackenzie and other attorneys for Billings and Mooney, who initiated the hearing, asked the justices to consider two things: the allegedly perjured testimony of several witnesses and the alibis of the prisoners. It was contended the alibis had been strengthened by time.

CAUGHT COLD?

IT'S easy to throw off a cold when you know what to do—and do it. Two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin will break up a cold in a jiffy! Take them promptly. Bayer Aspirin will check your cold at any stage, but why wait until you are miserable? These tablets are perfectly harmless because they don't depress the heart. If your throat feels sore, crush three more tablets in half a glassful of water and gargle. This will ease your throat instantly and reduce any infection. A cold needn't worry you when you take these simple precautions. But the simplest cold is serious when you don't. Remember that, and remember to get the genuine tablets stamped Bayer. Read the proven directions for headaches, neuralgia, neuritis, sciatica; and for the prompt, positive relief of periodic pain. Until you are familiar with the many valuable uses of Bayer Aspirin you can't realize how much suffering is really needless.

All druggists have the genuine tablets of Bayer Aspirin. The box says Bayer, and you will see the word Genuine printed in red.

Who owns the FAMILY CAR?

BLEAK winter mornings usher in days of sleet and snow. Around 8 a. m. you drive off to work in the family car. Winter won't bother you on the way. But at eight-thirty your children start their dreary tramp to school.

Slippery sidewalks invite broken limbs. Shopping and visiting become trials of nerve. Home becomes a prison, a breeding place for winter nerves.

A good used car would change all this. If you had one, your school-bound children wouldn't have to trudge through slush. Your wife wouldn't have to take chances on life and limb every time she goes out.

Good used cars are easy to get through Tribune Want Ads. There you can find every type and make listed. Many are almost as good as new. All are serviceable. Many can be bought easily out of income. Let your family's health and happiness induce you to consult Tribune Want Ads today for a good used car.

COUNTY BOARD MORE LADYLIKE THAN OF YORE

Only Four Are Left of Jovial Old Guard.

The county board of 1926-1930 passed from existence yesterday with the installation of eleven new commissioners, four of them women. Several thousands of words of oratory greeted the new board, but there was a general air of subdued mourning in the county building at the passing from public life of a jovial and colorful group of men.

There remained of the old crowd only Anton J. Cermak, president, Emmett Whealan, Maurice Kavanagh, and William Busse and while this quartet had never been backward in contributing to the repartee which so enlivened the Monday afternoon sessions, they were none the less reckoned among the more conservative conversationalists.

Bicker Over a Committee.

The first meeting of the new board was not devoid of fun. There were a few witticisms and a bickering over committee chairmanships which developed a moderate degree of warmth. But the steady customers whispered mournfully to each other that the old spirit was gone. The presence of the four women commissioners was partly to blame, they agreed. The meetings of former days were characterized by an essentially masculine sense of humor.

State's Attorney Swanson, remembering perhaps the lively nature of former sessions, opened his address to the new commissioners on a jocular note which encouraged the veteran hangers-on to a temporary optimism.

"I saw the crowd hanging around here and thought some trouble was up," he said. "As the state's attorney, I'm supposed to enforce law and order and I came in to investigate. But I see only a crowd of jubilant Democrats and I feel lonely. You know, I'm the only Republican left in the building."

Wallace Comes to Rescue.

Several self-appointed messengers broke away from the crowd and rushed word of this statement to Circuit Court Clerk Thomas Wallace. Mr. Wallace came breathlessly to the county board rooms with a correction. He was a Republican and he was still in the building, he would have the assemblage know.

Apologies having been made and accepted and this momentary hitch in diplomatic relations having been smoothed away 'amidst smiles and handshakings, the state's attorney became serious. He predicted that the board of thirteen Democrats and two Republicans would work efficiently and harmoniously.

President Cermak followed with a recital of the accomplishments of the last four years and a similar prophesy that the going would be smooth and easy. Busse and George A. Miller, the two lone Republicans on the board, who are from the country towns, agreed with him. There followed speeches from all members of the board, the keynote being "Peace and harmony among us all."

Then the Fun Starts.

The clerk began reading the list of committee chairmanships, previously agreed upon at a caucus. He recited the names of Emmett Whealan and Peter Kelly as chairman and vice chairman of the finance committee.

"What?" said Commissioner Kavanagh, rising from his seat. "I'm vice chairman. Where does Kelly come in?"

"There goes our Democratic harmony," said Commissioner Dan Ryan.

President Cermak admitted reluctantly that he had probably juggled the appointments about a bit. There was some talk and a change made. Kavanagh replaced Kelly as vice chairman.

Mrs. Plumb Gets Plum.

The clerk read the names of Walter La Buy and Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb as chairman and vice chairman of the rules committee.

"What!" said Mrs. Plumb, following Commissioner Kavanagh's example. "I was to be chairman of that committee."

A similar admission by President Cermak, another change. Mrs. Plumb became chairman.

But that was all. It would have been only a prelude at an old board meeting, a mere warming up of temperaments for the sputtering verbal fireworks to come.

Where, asked an old customer, were the picturesque members of yore? He enumerated them.

There was John Jaranowski, tall and lanky with a big smile, to whom his fellow members in brotherly affection dedicated a song chanted to the inspiring refrain of "Constantinople." Each verse ended:

"John Jaranowski!

Johnny Gibson Is Gone.

There was Johnny Gibson, who died in office a few months ago, the leading spirit in the yearly dinners of the board. The old guard often recalled with reminiscent chuckles the time that John spilled the bottle of catsup on the immaculate shirt bosom of a distinguished statistician at one of the annual parties.

There was Louie Nettelhorst, whose famous bon mot about the board "getting religion" at the time that State's Attorney Swanson went into office in 1928, provoked gurgles of laughter in every political circle.

Recall Days of Schmidt.

There was Oscar Schmidt, whose humor was of the back-thumping, arm-pounding variety. A good, substantial, practical joker always ready when work was done and minds relaxed from the weight of county business.

And the others. Andy Metzler, whose artistic drawing of initials was always entertaining. Charley Peterson, who did not run for reelection because he held office as city treasurer, who never made a joke but took good naturedly a thousand quips. Penn Carolan, once called the Cataline of the board, the constant foe of President Cermak. Francis Boutell, Frank Kriz, and Harry Newby, good fellows all.

The new board may be efficient and constructive, the old customer sighed. But the Monday afternoons will be drab and drear in the county building.

LOS ANGELES BREAKS MONTH CRIME RECORD; TRY POLICE SHAKEUP

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Los Angeles broke all monthly crime records in several ways last month. "Violent" robberies totaled 273, which is 136 more crimes of this nature than in October. Burglaries in November set another record—628. Chief Roy Steckel announced a shakeup of the police department. It was hastened by the fact that six young women were abducted and assaulted within the past week.

SONSTEBY TAKES OATH; PRAISED BY RETIRING JUSTICE

Other Judges and Officials Begin Terms.

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court began his judicial career yesterday with the well wishes of the man he succeeded, Chief Justice Harry Olson, who had held that office twenty-four years and who now retires to the private practice of law.

"It pleases me greatly to be here to welcome in my successor, Judge Sonsteby, a man of such integrity and fine qualifications," said Attorney Olson.

Judge Sonsteby's reply was filled with praises for Judge Olson's administration of the office and a pledge to carry on in the same manner.

Judge Padden Presides.

Judge Frank Padden presided over the ceremony with which Judge Sonsteby, a Democrat, was inducted into office. Numerous speeches were made, including that of William J. Bartholf, who was superintendent of the Von Humboldt school which Sonsteby attended as a boy. In other courtrooms Judges Jay A. Schiller, Thomas A. Green, Joseph A. Graber, George V. McIntyre, Edward S. Scheffler, J. W. Brooks, Justin F. McCarthy, and Leon Edelman were presiding over courts for the first time amidst the eulogies of their friends and Judge John O'Connell was returning to the bench after a period in private practice.

Judge John H. Lyle, whose reputation as a terror to public enemies is well known, began his second term after considerable congratulatory oratory and well wishes, and with him were the two other Republicans elected in the Democratic landslide, Judges John J. Lupe and Edgar Jonas.

Judge Schiller was especially commended at his installation, at which Col. A. A. Sprague was master of ceremonies. His work as an assistant corporation counsel and particularly in his conduct of the experts' case "in the face of powerful and corrupt political opposition which threatened your future success" was praised by Attorney Weymouth Kirkland.

Gill Takes Up Duties.

Joseph L. Gill became clerk of the Municipal court at 6:30 o'clock in the morning so he would have time to deputize every clerk in the employ of his office so the courts could be opened on time. The reception and formal induction came later.

Bailiff Albert J. Horan appointed fifty new process servers when he took over the office vacated by Bernard W. Snow yesterday morning.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki started upon his third term of office with the appointment of former Gov. Edward F. Dunne as attorney for the board of election commissioners. Attorney Dunne, who is also a former mayor of Chicago and a former circuit judge, succeeded Francis X. Busch.

Sheriff William D. Meyering was formally inducted into office and named Frank Wright, an attorney and former assistant corporation counsel, as assistant sheriff, and William J. Flaherty, a partner of Michael L. Igoe, Democratic national committeeman, as his attorney.

County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough appointed John E. Sullivan, vice president of the Foreman National bank, as acting first assistant treasurer and Edward J. McCabe as secretary.

MOTHER JONES WILL BE BURIED IN MOUNT OLIVE

Body to Rest in Illinois Union Cemetery.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Last rites for Mary "Mother" Jones, beloved of trade unionists for her part in the struggle for the right of workers to organize, have been arranged by friends and Illinois miners who knew her best.

John H. Walker, national secretary treasurer of the reorganized United Mine Workers of America, and a committee of other men from the pits of Illinois left here today for Washington to escort the body of the plucky little Irish woman back to Mount Olive for burial.

Funeral arrangements call for a requiem high mass at St. Gabriel's church, Washington, D. C., before the journey back to Illinois. Burial will be made in the Union cemetery at Mount Olive. A special car will carry the body from Washington to the cemetery. It will arrive in St. Louis at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The body will lie in state until next Monday morning.

Dies After Long Illness.

"Mother" Jones died at her cottage near Washington, D. C., last night after an illness of more than a year. She was 100 years old in May.

"The death of Mother Jones brings to an end a noble career spent in helping humanity," Secretary Walker said, "a career dedicated to making the lives of others brighter and better. Her passing will be felt by every trade unionist in the country and especially those who were close to her; who knew her hopes for those who toil, her sacrifices and unwavering courage during her years of struggle for the right of workers to organize.

"Her crusades in the interest of unionism in the bituminous coal industry must have a foremost place in the history of the American labor movement."

Picked Site of Grave.

The centenarian labor crusader willed she be buried in the Mount Olive Union Miners' cemetery, the necropolis dedicated to the strikers killed in the Virden mine riot of 1898. Her grave faces the memorial. Her wish was recorded three years ago in the Macoupin county courthouse.

Five of those killed in the Virden riot—whom labor calls "martyrs to unionism"—sleep in the Mount Olive memorial. To their graves Mother Jones often came. They were her "brave boys." In Mount Olive she rested from many of her arduous campaigns for the betterment of labor conditions.

Mother Jones was especially active during the bloody coal strike of 1913-'14 in southern Colorado coal fields.

During the 14 months of the strike, which had its climax in the Ludlow massacre, where a number of women and children were shot down, Mother Jones was a familiar figure.

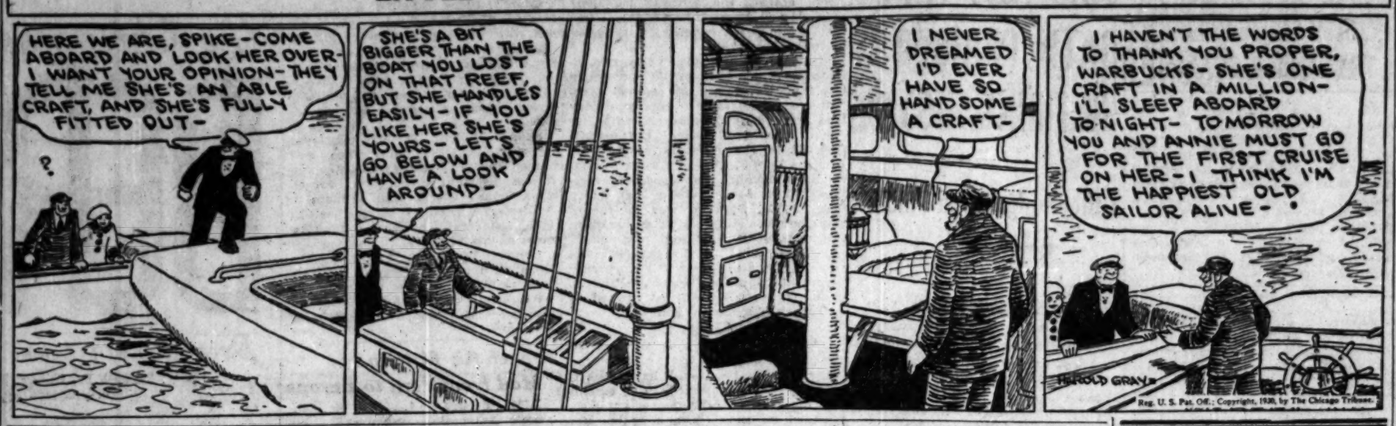
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: A Dream Come True



CROWDS MOURN BESIDE BIER OF BISHOP GRISWOLD

Rites This Morning for Prelate.

Crowds paid silent tribute to the Rt. Rev. Sheldon Munson Griswold, fifth Episcopal bishop of Chicago, as his body lay in state at St. James' cathedral yesterday awaiting burial services in the cathedral today. Bishop Griswold died late Friday night after a long illness.

An honor guard of seven clergymen accompanied the bishop's body to the cathedral yesterday. They were the Revs. G. G. Moore, J. J. Stephens, G. A. MacWhorter, John B. Hubbard, J. E. Charles, and Charles T. Hull. The bishop lies in a purple coffin on which is laid the crozier and purple biretta of his episcopal rank.

Clergymen Watch at Bier.

Clergymen of the Chicago diocese watch at head and foot of the casket. Hourly the guards are changed. Nearly 200 clergymen and bishops of the church will take part in the service. At 10 o'clock this morning the burial office will be read by the Very Rev. J. H. Edwards, dean of the Chicago clergy, and Dean Duncan H. Browne of St. James' cathedral.

Following the Burial Office solemn requiem Eucharist will be celebrated by Bishop Griswold's successor, the Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart. Bishop Stewart will be assisted by Bishop James Wise of Kansas, epistoler; Bishop Reginald H. Weller of Fond du Lac, gospeller, and the Rev. G. G. Moore and the Rev. Dr. E. J. Randall, deacon and subdeacon.

Priests to Be Pallbearers.

Seven priests whom Bishop Griswold ordained will act as pallbearers. They are the Revs. Samuel J. Martin, Walter P. Crossman, H. L. Forbes, John B. Hubbard, E. Victor Kennan, Mansel B. Green, and Norman B. Burke. Honorary pallbearers will include many priests of the diocese as well as laymen representing the various organizations of the church.

In the procession will be bishops and clergymen from all parts of the country. The Church of Canada will be represented by the bishop of Algoma. Bishops from virtually all of the central western dioceses will be present. Sections of the cathedral will be reserved for members of the various diocesan organizations.

Frank D. Novak, Publisher, Dies After Long Illness

Following a long illness, Frank D. Novak, 51 years old, 1832 South 50th court, Cicero, publisher of the Suburban News, died yesterday at his home.

ALD. KAINDL TO CALL MEETING THIS WEEK ON NEW I. C. STATION

The railway terminal committee of the city council will be called into session on Thursday or Friday to consider the long deferred request of the Illinois Central railroad, which wishes to build its new passenger station at 12th street without including other railroads entering the downtown district from the south. Ald. E. J. Kaindl, chairman of the committee, said last night that today he would issue the call for the meeting.

Last March the railroad asked to be relieved from the clause in the 1919 lake front ordinance which compels it to give space to other lines which wish to occupy the terminal. None of the railroads have indicated a desire to accept this invitation, thus leaving the three lines now entering the station—the Illinois Central, Big Four, and Michigan Central—as the only tenants.

If the amendment is passed, the Illinois Central, according to Vice President F. L. Thompson, would speed up its plans and begin construction in the hope that a new station with adequate facilities would be ready to handle the world's fair crowds in 1933. Mr. Thompson said that if technicalities are cleared away at once, it might be possible to start work in the spring, perhaps in March, which would be of aid in relieving the unemployment situation.

Ald. Kaindl announced before the Nov. 4 election that he would call a meeting of the committee soon after election. Instead, with the victorious Democrats, he made the patronage junket to Hot Springs, Ark. The committee met last Tuesday but spent most of its time considering the new postoffice matter and the terminal question was not reached.

COL. C. R. MILLER, FORMER STATE OFFICIAL, DIES

Col. Cornelius R. Miller, director of the state department of public works under former Gov. Len Small, died yesterday in St. Mary's hospital at Kankakee, Ill. Death was due to heart disease. He was 64 years old.

Col. Miller was born in Essex township, Kankakee county. He attended district schools and joined with his father in the latter's hardware business as a young man. In 1894 he was appointed a deputy clerk of the county. He left this post to become assistant cashier of the City National bank in Kankakee. In 1897 he became secretary-treasurer of the state hospital at Kankakee.

In 1899 Col. Miller became cashier of the First Trust and Savings bank of Kankakee, of which Small was president. When Small became governor Miller was made head of the department of public works and held the post for eight years. Mr. Miller is survived by his widow and his mother.

Lotta Crabtree's New York Estate Rated at $161,253

New York, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Lotta M. Crabtree, actress, who died in Boston on Sept. 25, 1924, and who left the bulk of her $8,311,806 to set up a number of philanthropic funds, had net assets of $161,253 in New York state. That was shown by a transfer tax appraisal filed today. The New York assets consisted of real estate and jewelry.

The most valuable realty holding was a plot on Madison avenue, appraised at $140,000. The jewelry included two diamond necklaces, one valued at $7,500 and the other at $4,650.

The funds set up under the terms of the will were a $2,000,000 trust to be known as the "world war veterans' fund," three funds of $100,000 each to be known as the "Lotta Theatrical fund," the "Mary A. Crabtree fund," and the "Lotta Fund for Aiding Discharged Convicts," a $50,000 trust to be known as the "Lotta Hospital fund," a $25,000 "Lotta Educational fund," and a $300,000 trust to be known as the "Lotta Dumb Animal fund."

Dr. Bartning, Physician of Heir to Spain's Throne, Dies

MADRID, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Dr. Javier Bartning, 35, physician to the prince of Asturias, heir to the Spanish throne, died today. He was well known in America where he had made an exhaustive study of methods of medical education.

JOHNSON CITY AND MARION JOIN BANKLESS TOWNS

Four Closings in Day Through State.

Marion, Ill., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Two banks closed today in Williamson county while preparations were being made for the reopening soon of two others which closed eight months ago.

The First National bank of Marion and the Johnston City State bank of Johnston City failed to open for business today following runs Saturday, apparently caused by the closing the previous day of the First National bank of Benton.

The Marion State bank, organized to take the place of the Marion Savings and Trust bank, will open for business in about ten days and the Cartersville State bank will open soon. The Marion Trust bank and the Cartersville State bank were among the seven in Williamson county to close last April.

The closing of the First National of Marion and the Johnston City State bank left both towns without banking facilities. Many persons today used postoffice money orders for remittances, while business men said they would go to neighboring towns to get drafts cashed.

Four Banks Left in County.

The four banks still in operation in Williamson county include two in Herrin, one in Carterville, and one in Creal Springs.

Two other Illinois banks failed to open today. They were the State bank at Rock Grove and the Marine Trust bank of Carthage.

At the opening of business this year the Johnston City bank had deposits totaling approximately $930,000, capital stock of $50,000, and a surplus of $50,000. Loans amounted to approximately $655,800 at that time.

The bank at Rock Grove had deposits of $226,936, capital stock of $30,000, and a surplus of $5,000 at the last examination.

Deposits in the Marine Trust company at Carthage amounted to approximately $255,000. The bank had capital stock of $100,000 and a surplus of $25,000.

Marion Bank Has Cash.

Officials of the Marion bank said the institution had $107,000 cash on hand this morning. The bank had deposits totaling $1,500,000 with a surplus of $75,000 and capital $100,000.

County, city and school warrants held by the two Marion banks amount to about $300,000. A bond issue of $190,000 was voted by the people to take care of the Marion warrants, but bonding houses refused to advance the money until the legislature gives the city authority to float bonds above 5 per cent of the total assessed valuation.

Indiana Bank Reopens.

New Albany, Ind., Dec. 1.—(AP)—The New Albany American Bank and Trust company reopened here today after having been closed since Nov. 20. It was closed by directors to safeguard its resources after financial conditions here were disturbed by a series of bank closings in Kentucky.

Kentucky Banks Sued.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Suit to recover $25,000,000 from officers and directors of the Bancokentucky company, the Louisville National Bank and Trust company, the National Bank of Kentucky, and the Louisville Trust company for the benefit of stockholders and depositors was filed in Jefferson Circuit court here today. It was brought by Dr. Luther F. Scholl, Jamestown, Ky., stockholder, and the Rogers Brothers Coal company, Bevier, Ky. Recovery was sought on the ground of mismanagement and waste.

Deputy Marshal Named as Federal Probation Officer

Thomas C. Smith, for 17 years a deputy United States marshal, was appointed federal probation officer for the northern Illinois district yesterday by Judges George A. Carpenter, James H. Wilkerson, and Charles E. Woodward. Heretofore the practice has been to designate any member of the marshal's staff or some attorney as probation officer for individual cases without remuneration. The new probation office was recently created by congress and an appropriation made therefor.

U. S. INDICTS SIX AS VIOLATORS OF BANKRUPTCY LAW

Five men and a woman have been charged in a suppressed indictment returned by the federal grand jury with conspiracy to violate the bankruptcy laws through manipulation of the assets of the Chicago Beaux Arts Gift Shops, Inc., Assistant United States Attorney Joseph Struett revealed yesterday. All have been arrested and their bonds have been fixed at $3,000 each.

The defendants are George E. Roberts, president and treasurer of the company, which operated stores on Broadway, Howard street and Bryn Mawr avenue; Lawrence M. Fine, vice president and attorney for the company; Simon Falick, secretary; Agnes Cleaver and Ladley P. Varman, employes, and Attorney Julius Rieger.

Speakeasy Facing City Hall Is Raided by Drys

Prohibition agents yesterday raided a speakeasy across the street from the city hall, in rooms 425 to 428 at 110 North La Salle. A large supply of beer, gin, and whisky was seized, and Jack Bennett, the alleged operator, was arrested.

LAND DEFENSES DRAINED TO AID FLYING—HURLEY

War Secretary Warns of Lack of Reserves.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley today advised President Hoover that the general effectiveness of the land military establishment was being adversely affected by existing policies which build up the air corps at the expense of the regular army and fail to provide for keeping up adequate war reserve materials.

Secretary Hurley said that unless the policy of reducing the regular army to strengthen the air corps is abandoned it will be necessary to assign the regular army a smaller rôle in the national defense. Further reductions of the regular army would necessitate a reorganization of the existing program of the 1920 national defense act.

Training of the civilian component of the American national defense team already, Mr. Hurley said, has been adversely affected by the reductions in strength which hit the regular army.

"Must Be Available."

War reserves of materials, such as ammunition and supplies, will not be available quickly in time of war, Secretary Hurley warned, at the present rate of depletion. "It will be but a matter of several years," he said, "when there will be no properly balanced war reserve stocks on hand for immediate issue to mobilized land power. The lack of such reserve stocks would make prompt and complete military effectiveness impossible in a given situation."

He reported that "the army as a whole is more efficient today than at any time since the world war," and advocated a raise in pay for the army.

On Mobilizing Industry.

While advocating mobilization of industry and man power in war, Secretary Hurley took the view it would be better not to enact such enabling legislation until an emergency existed.

"Industrial mobilization," he said, "must constantly adjust itself to the varying industrial conditions of the country and the ever changing demands of possible military operations. To incorporate such plans into a peacetime law might result in making them so inflexible as to render them entirely inapplicable to the needs of the country in a future emergency."

TWO GUNMEN ROB WOMAN.

While she stood at the curb in front of the fur shop of her father at 3724 West 25th street, yesterday, preparing to go to the bank, Miss Anne Taleta was robbed of $351 by two armed men.

BANDITS GRAB $13,000 OF STREET CAR MONEY AND 24,000 FREE RIDES

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 1.—(AP)—A Cincinnati Street Railway company money truck was commandeered and four street car employés were kidnaped today for 15 minutes by three robbers, who transferred $14,250 loot, $13,850 of it in cash, from the truck to a stolen automobile and escaped. Nearly 24,000 car tickets also were stolen. The robbers entered the money truck, an unarmored car, as it was leaving the street railway offices at the Dixie Terminal building in the downtown district. The street car employés had no guns, and their abductors forced the truck driver to stop near the Pennsylvania station, where the transfer was effected. The robbers then jumped into the automobile and drove off. Fred C. Wykoff, assistant paymaster of the street car company, said the robbers overlooked nearly $8,000 in silver dollars. Wykoff was among those kidnaped.

4 MILLION FUND FOR WATERWAY WORK ASSURED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—War department plans for expending $3,950,000 on the Illinois river system of waterways during the 1932 fiscal year were announced today by Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers. Of this fund $2,850,000 is for use on the Lockport-Utica section, the balance to be expended between Utica and the mouth of the Illinois river. This allotment is exclusive of such appropriations as may be made available by congress for construction work on the Lockport-Utica project prior to July 1 next.

Audit Shows $1,900,000.

From other sources it was learned that the recent audit of the Illinois waterway fund disclosed a balance of but $1,900,000 free from encumbrance. As the cost of the bridges over this project is estimated at $2,700,000 it is possible the state may experience difficulty in fulfilling its part of the agreement which resulted in the government taking over the Lockport-Utica section, but hope is held out, however, that the state may be able to settle some of outstanding claims against the waterway on a basis that will leave sufficient money for bridge construction.

Surplus May Be Available.

It is possible the claims can be settled in such a way that a surplus will be left which can be turned over to the war department at some future date for construction work. No federal funds are available for bridge construction on this project.

In his annual report Maj. Gen. Brown stated that the war department planned to expend $30,000 on the Chicago harbor. Other expenditures in that section include $50,000 on the Chicago river, $65,000 on Calumet river and harbor, and $286,000 at Indiana Harbor, Ind.

Two men argued about cigarettes. Each claimed his brand was much the best. "Mine's Raleigh," said the first. "Why, so is mine!" said the other, and the fight was over.

TASTELESS TABLETS BUILD UP TIRED NERVOUS PEOPLE

No need now to be sickly and run down. New discovery makes life worth living

TIRED, nervous, and run down? Cod liver oil will quickly give you new vigor, robust health. And now, because of a new discovery, you can take cod liver oil in tasteless tablet form. McCoy's Tablets give all the benefits of the liquid oil—without that nasty fishy taste.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are made from the finest cod liver oil that Norway can produce. From it we extract all the vitamins, all the properties that make cod liver oil such a wonderful health-building food. Then, from these vitamins, we make the tablets that doctors so widely recommend.

These tablets taken regularly will build up weight and resistance to colds and lung disease. Actual tests prove the value of these wonderful little tablets. The Good Housekeeping Institute has tested them and given us its seal of approval. Leading doctors and physicians everywhere are now prescribing cod liver oil in this new form.

Your druggist has McCoy's. Go to him and get a box today. Just remember that they are a food, not a medicine and for very best results you must take them regularly and faithfully. Today is the day to begin.

COUGHS KEPT THE WATKINSONS AWAKE

GERTRUDE WATKINSON

Till REM quieted Gertrude's coughing

Little Gertrude Watkinson of 1929 S. 23rd St., Philadelphia, gets a few bad coughs-and-colds every winter, but her grandmother has learned how to relieve them quickly. "We've known about REM for several years now," says Mrs. Watkinson. "My little grand-daughter likes to take it and I'm glad to say that we can always depend on it. It's good to have a reliable cough remedy on hand, for it means restful nights instead of being kept awake by coughing. I myself think REM's great. We always get it at Lerman's Drug Store at S. 23rd and Mifflin." Restless nights don't do coughs any good, and many a person has REM to thank for a good night's sleep. REM is sold with a money-back guarantee--but not one in a thousand ever wanted it back!

REM's easy to take, too. Children and parents can both appreciate that!

REAL SALES STORY OF 1931 REVEALED BY CENSUS FIGURES

STUPENDOUS GROWTH OF GARDENED HOMES IN SUBURBS ESTABLISHES MOST IMPORTANT MARKET

A MANUFACTURER or merchant measures the value of a market by its buying habits and buying power—intelligence and money.

The suburban market—the market of gardened homes—existed for many years as the frosting on the cake, the cream on the milk bottle. It offered a top market for both luxuries and necessities, but in the total scheme of things it was only a drop in the bucket.

Ten years ago the suburban market first made itself felt seriously. Today it stands revealed by the 1930 census as the most receptive and valuable market in the country for manufacturers of goods of the better quality to reach.

Gardened Homes Market Sets New Standards

Never before has there been a market to compare with it. Grown to vast proportions in a few years, its growth, based on love of home, has been sound. Made up of millions of families of similar plane of living, social habits and point of view, the gardened homes market possesses a uniformity and consistency of thought and action that no other market has had.

Not only in buying power but in intelligent appreciation and acceptance of sound values in standard merchandise, improved services, new fashions and worth while luxuries, the suburban market stands alone.

Gardened homes which surround every city, town and hamlet may be reached with comparative ease, despite their great number. For they are all founded on one universal interest—love of the gardened home.

One Outstanding Leader in the Gardened Home Field

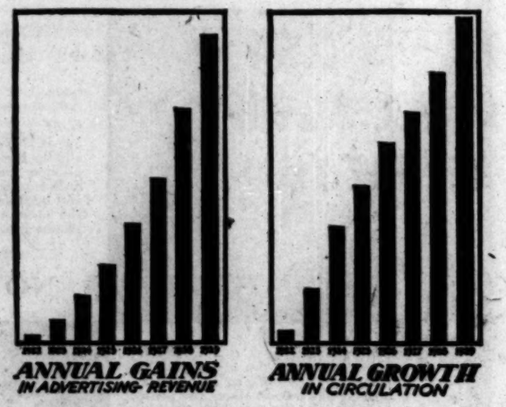
The Meredith Publishing Company established Better Homes and Gardens in 1922, with an editorial policy centered on serving families which had the desire and financial background to enjoy the privileges of home ownership away from the crowded sections of cities and towns. Through its life, Better Homes and Gardens has stimulated and accelerated the trend from cities to suburbs. Without the use of fiction or fashions, the magazine has attracted 1,400,000 families with interests in the suburban gardened home—a circulation greater by more than 1,000,000 than other mediums in this rich field.

As the suburbs continue to sap the cities of their best classes, as leading families in every town move from the town proper to "acreage" on improved highways, advertisers turn in increasing numbers to Better Homes and Gardens as the outstanding medium with which to reach this receptive primary market.



The sound growth of Better Homes and Gardens is emphasized by the even ratio maintained between circulation volume and advertising lineage during the past 8 years.

NOTRE DAME FOOTBALL TEAM LEAVES FOR WEST

PICKED TO TAKE JOB HELD BY HEINIE WAGNER

Made Fine Record in Minor Leagues.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 1.—(AP)—John F. (Shano) Collins, former White Sox and Red Sox outfield star, today returned to the American league as the 1931 manager of the luckless Boston club.

In announcing his appointment, Owner Bob Quinn, who has tried out three other pilots since he assumed control of the club, said:

"Collins has made a wonderful record as a minor league manager and I see no reason why he should not do well with the Red Sox."

Succeeds Heinie Wagner.

Collins succeeds Charles Heinie Wagner, who was made manager last season when Bill Carrigan retired. Lee Fohl was manager in 1923, when Collins was last identified with the club.

The new pilot, born in Boston 45 years ago, broke into professional baseball in the now disbanded New England league as a pitcher a quarter of a century ago. An injured arm forced him to become an infielder and he played first and second base until 1910, when he went from the Springfield club of the Eastern league to the Chicago White Sox.

Collins then became an outfielder and during his Chicago career, which lasted 11 years, he played on two championship teams, in 1917 and 1919. He was one of the players absolved of all blame in the world series scandal that caused the retirement of several White Sox players from organized baseball.

Joined Red Sox in 1921.

Collins and Nemo Leibold came to the Red Sox in 1921 in a trade for Harry Hooper. The former remained here as an outfielder until 1925, when he became manager of the Pittsfield Eastern league club. The next two seasons were spent piloting the Des Moines club in the Western league, and he returned to Pittsfield, now his home city, for the seasons of 1928 and 1929.

He started last season as manager of the Nashua club in the New England league and, when that twilight circuit disbanded, returned to Des Moines, jumping that club from last to third place.

Halaiko Whips Mandell in 8 Round Fight

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Steve Halaiko of Auburn, N. Y., former national amateur lightweight champion, tonight won a decision from Sammy Mandell, former lightweight titleholder. Halaiko gave his more experienced opponent a boxing and slugging lesson in a gory eight round scrap. Both of Mandell's eyes were closed at the finish, his face was cut, and his lips puffed, while Halaiko was practically unmarred.

The Auburn flash steamed into his task from the opening gong and had the former lightweight boxing king bleeding from the cheek in the first round. Halaiko won six of the eight rounds and was awarded a unanimous decision by the referee and judges. Mandell weighed 140 pounds and Halaiko, 137.

LEE HANLEY IN COURT; ASSAULT, BATTERY CHARGE

Lee F. Hanley, Northwestern quarterback, and brother of Coach Dick Hanley, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Edgar A. Jonas in the South State street court on charges of assault and battery. The charges were made by Louis Allais, 5145 University avenue.

Evidence disclosed that Hanley, trying to get to Soldiers' field to see the last half of the Army-Notre Dame game Saturday, jumped out of his taxicab at the very moment Miss Mary Miller, 5202 Woodlawn avenue, companion of Allais, tried to enter. A fist fight followed between the escort and Hanley. In court Hanley pleaded self-defense. The case was continued to tomorrow.

BOBBY JONES IS NEW DIRECTOR OF INSURANCE FIRM

New York, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Robert Tyre Jones of Atlanta, Ga., holder of every major golf title, who on Nov. 17 announced his retirement from active tournament participation, has been elected a director of the Public Indemnity company of Newark, it was learned today. The Public Indemnity company is a casualty insurance firm. It is understood that Jones' duties as member of the board of directors will not interfere with his law practice in Atlanta, or with his announced plans of making a series of sport reel motion pictures on golf.

Shamrocks and Millers Take Up Ice Feud Tonight

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Chicago Shamrocks tonight will seek to make it five victories in a row when they line up against the Minneapolis Millers at the Chicago Stadium.

RALPH TAYLOR.

It will be the first clash between the two hockey clubs on on Chicago ice, but the third of the season, the Chicagoans having taken the Millers for a pair of defeats earlier in the schedule.

They Say It's Grudge Fight.

Although the Shamrocks and Millers are reported to be stepbrothers in the intricate formation of the new American league, it is not a happy family circle, 'tis said.

The public relations counselors are not seeking to put over a grudge ballyhoo, they contend. They simply point to the fact that Mr. Coutu in one of the Minneapolis games slashed Bouncer Taylor with his stick and also broke a bone in Capt. Corbett Dennanay's hand which has prevented the latter from making his Chicago début. They also have as their exhibits various scalp wounds suffered in a general melée which followed the second Shamrock-Miller game in Minneapolis.

How Teams Will Line Up.

The starting lineups for tonight's game probably will be:

SHAMROCKS.		MINNEAPOLIS.
Timmins	G	Starke
Taylor	R. D.	Rennie
Mulligan	L. D.	Munro
Headley	C.	Ade. Johnson
Burns	R. W.	Gordon
Wiseman	L. W.	De Paul

Spares: Shamrocks—Burland, Brydson, Clayton, McFadyen, MacKenzie, Fuller. Millers—Collins, Coutu, Redding, Oddson, Carbol, Lessard, Riley.

The Shamrocks have afforded us a new ambition in journalism. It is to see the name of Donnie McFadyen spelled correctly in the paper. We are going to invite at least two other hockey authors to join us in this same drive—with their own papers, of course.

So far our mechanical adversaries are three up on us, including a 36 point headline, with only three stories written. So you see what great odds we're fighting against. Here's our battle plan:

1. Make sure that we spell it M-c-F-a-d-y-e-n ourself.

2. Make sure that the sending telegraph operator sends it M-c-F-a-d-y-e-n.

3. Dash to the office to make sure of the following: [a] That the receiving telegrapher spells it right. [b] That the copyreader doesn't change it to McFayden. [c] That the compositor doesn't set it McFayden. [d] That the proofreader doesn't change it to McFayden. [e] That the makeup man doesn't change it at all.

If we don't win the battle by Jan. 1 there'll be only one thing left for us to do: Ask Donnie to change his name.

McFadyen's name, by the way, is pronounced McFayjen. [Note to the boys: Don't let this paragraph confuse you. The name is not spelled McFayjen—that's only the way you pronounce it.]

We are told that the Notre Dame Victory march has been adopted as the Shamrocks' song "in deference to the Irish cast of the team, and to the fact that President Tom Shaughnessy and two of his club staff are former Notre Dame football players."

The Blackhawks, off to a record start in the National league, will be back at the Stadium Thursday night to give battle to the New York Americans. The Hawks have won the last five of their six games, and the first one was a tie. Even if they stub their toes against the Maroons at Montreal tonight, they will return home in first place in the National league. A capacity crowd of more than 17,000 is expected to be on hand to greet the hustling athletes.

Looking for a Fight? Smaller Clubs Have 'Em

Chicago's neighborhood fight clubs, the places with a few hundred seats instead of the thousands at the Stadium and Coliseum, will have a chance to make a few extra dollars this week while their more spacious rivals are barren of boxing shows.

Mike Harrison announces his first program at White City next Monday night. Johnny Freeman of Buffalo and Nisse Ramm, Sweden's best heavyweight, are matched in the eight round final. Edgar Norman and Charlie Arthurs of New York also are scheduled for eight rounds.

Three shows are scheduled tonight. They will be held at the Midway Boxing arena, 6115 Cottage Grove avenue; Lincoln arena, 2440 Lincoln avenue, and the Congress arcade, 2036 Milwaukee avenue. The cards follow:

MIDWAY.

James Scanlan vs. Joe Rosales.
Johnny Long vs. James Kaur.
Charley Neigoe vs. Donald Joyce.
John Novicky vs. George Keenan.
Red Bryson vs. Jack Lewis.
Ambrose Daly vs. Joe Demitchelli.
Eddie Jacobs vs. George Jonasen.

CONGRESS ARCADE.

Davis Grove vs. Bobby Hynds, 148 pounds, 6 rounds.
Al Reis vs. Ted Carroll, 140 pounds, 4 rounds.
Servano Fabia vs. Bobby Allen, 122 pounds, 4 rounds.
Frankie Boyle vs. Mickey O'Shea, 140 pounds, 4 rounds.
Al De Rose vs. Billy Pierson, 4 rounds.

LINCOLN ARENA.

Georgie Franks vs. Frankie Sylvia, 118 pounds.
Georgie McGee vs. Sidney Blum, 120 pounds.
Adam Morales vs. Tommy Yguez, 126 pounds.
Tony Muscarello vs. Ray Davis, 130 pounds.
Johnny David vs. Red Snyder, 135 pounds.
Pete Becker vs. Alfonso Escamilla, 155 pounds.
Joe Rennon vs. Jack Mason, 160 pounds.

The Lincoln program also includes a heavyweight wrestling bout. Gabby Hartnett, Cubs' catcher, is announced as the referee.

"Les Darcy of Logan Square and Bill Kruger, German Boxing school, are the headliners Thursday night at the Belle Plaine A. C., 3943 Lincoln avenue. Other bouts will be: Tex Penny vs. Dave Yaras, 120 pounds; Morrie

ROCKNE PLANS TO CANCEL PAIR OF CHARITY GAMES

Calls Cost of Shrine Tilt Here Too High.

Oldtime football stars from Notre Dame may never play another charity game under the direction of Knute Rockne.

The decision came, it was said, after Coach Rockne and Chicago Shrine officials had checked over the expenses of staging the Notre Dame-Northwestern old timers' battle at Soldiers' field on Thanksgiving day as part of a charity day football program.

Cost $148 a Man.

"The expenses of the Notre Dame team averaged $148 a man. There were twenty-two men on the squad and the expense account, aside from the hotel bill in Chicago, totaled almost $3,400," Will H. Wade, chairman of the Shriners' charity game committee, said last night.

"Rockne thought this was too much and he told me he believed it would end his charity game program for this year and that he would wire the promoters in New York and on the Pacific coast that the other two games were off," Mr. Wade continued.

The chairman of the Shriners' game committee denied there was any controversy over the payment of the expense accounts, but said the settlement would await Rockne's return from Los Angeles following the Notre Dame-Southern California game on Saturday.

Slated to Meet Pros.

The report that Rockne was considering the cancellation of the game in the east and on the Pacific coast came as a shock, particularly to the New Yorkers, who were to stage the Dec. 14 contest between Notre Dame's old stars and the New York Giants, a professional team. The advance ticket sale for this game opened in New York yesterday and it reached the $40,000 mark.

The New York promoters declared the game assured a charity fund of from $190,000 to $200,000. They had not received any notice of cancellation from Rockne. They declared if there was a controversy coming out of the Chicago game involving a few thousand dollars they would gladly pay the bill if it would assure the appearance of the Notre Dame old stars in New York.

But Coach Rockne was aboard a special train speeding toward the far west. Whether he changed his mind about canceling the games after he left Chicago could not be determined last night.

Four Horsemen on Team.

The Notre Dame old stars team scheduled to play New York was to include the famous Four Horsemen of 1924, led by Adam Walsh, captain of that noted team, who is now an assistant coach at Yale. The Notre Dame team going to the Pacific coast was to include several seniors on this year's Notre Dame team, who play their last college game against Southern California on Saturday. Carideo, Brill, Mullins, and other stars were to be in the lineup.

The Shriners' charity football carnival in Chicago on Thanksgiving day did not show the profit the Shriners had expected. The Notre Dame old stars played Northwestern old grads in one game while Oregon State battled West Virginia in the other.

"We made money for our crippled children's hospital fund," Chairman Wade said last night. "But zero weather and the heavy expense in putting on the attraction cut our profits more than half."

He said it would be a few days before a final checkup on attendance and charity fund profits would be available.

OFF TO WIN NINETEENTH STRAIGHT

Coach Knute Rockne (center) and his Notre Dame football team, undefeated and untied in their last eighteen games, left Chicago yesterday for Los Angeles, where they will meet the University of Southern California Saturday. A victory will give the Irish eleven its second consecutive season of no defeats and an outstanding claim to the national championship. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

OUR BALL CLUBS GO SHOPPING, BUT NOT FOR XMAS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The men directly responsible for the welfare of Chicago's two big league nines have packed their bags and started out on what they hope will develop into a shopping tour. They—meaning the Cubs and White Sox delegations—departed last night and for the next two weeks, equally divided between Montreal, Canada, and New York City, will endeavor to buy, beg or trade for playing items which can be used to plug up some of the gaps now supposed to exist in the two teams.

The Sox will be represented at the minors' convention in Montreal by Manager Donie Bush, Treasurer Lou Comiskey and Coach Kelly. Business manager Harry Grabiner will join them for the New York sessions next week. Cub affairs will be in the hands of Manager Rogers Hornsby, President William Veeck and Second Vice President Johnny Seys. Included in last night's party were Jack Lelivelt, who manages William Wrigley's Los Angeles club; Clarence Rowland, ex-White Sox pilot who now operates as chief at Nashville, and Harry Burton, who specializes in the selling of unshrinkable flannel uniforms to the baseball people.

Majors at Minor Meeting.

The Montreal convention is mainly an affair for the minor leaguers but practically all the major clubs will have managers or presidents on hand and they will be able to make their own fun. Half the clubs in the two big circuits are in a mood for trades and not a few of these will be started or consummated between drinks at the Canadian metropolis.

Both the Sox and Cub officials also have their eyes on a few minor leaguers who might be of use in the big show, but deals for these probably will be handicapped by the present draft muddle. The majors won't buy from or sell to the five non-draft leagues until th y agree to consent to a player selection plan. This consent will be forthcoming shortly.

The three best minors—American Association, International and Pacific

Hanley's Tip to Notre Dame's Opponents: Make No Mistakes

BY ARCH WARD.

There is a growing opinion among coaches and players that no football team's education is complete until it has encountered Notre Dame.

Dick Hanley, coach of Northwestern's Big Ten co-champions, had some interesting comment on Rockne's Rough Riders after they had whipped the Army at Soldiers' field Saturday afternoon.

"My boys learned a lesson in their game with Notre Dame which they never will forget," he said. "That is that you can't make mistakes when you are playing Notre Dame. The slightest slip may be fatal. Notre Dame never relaxes. It plays football for 60 minutes."

The mistakes Northwestern made against Notre Dame were loose handling of the ball and violation of rules at critical stages. It was a 15 yard penalty against the Purple that placed the Irish in position to start Schwartz on his victory march.

"Strange, isn't it?" Hanley remarked. "Notre Dame beat the Army by only one point and us by 14 points. Yet we gave them a harder battle than West Point. I still think the score of our game could have been 0 to 0.

"But you have got to give Notre Dame credit at that," he added. "At least once in every game one of their plays clicks. That oftentimes is enough."

MR. ROCKNE'S SAD PLIGHT.

While discussing Notre Dame, it would be well to take up the case of Mr. Rockne. He seems to have developed a serious attack of melancholia. This, no doubt, has been brought on by the way his gridiron pupils have manhandled Southern Methodist, Navy, Carnegie, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Drake, Northwestern and the Army. His lugubrious tendencies, moreover, in certain quarters are taken seriously.

Early in October Rockne predicted his team would be torn limb from limb by Carnegie Tech under an avalanche of eight touchdowns. One Chicago newspaper, accepting Rockne's forecasts as gospel utterances, played the piece for an eight column line. Rockne feared all the remaining foes with his very best fears, but made no pregame statements until a few days before the Army came west. He then publicly conceded victory to the Cadets. Now he picks Southern California by "about two touchdowns."

Rockne is rated the gridiron's master psychologist, so that probably accounts for his wild guesses. But if we are to believe Dick Hanley and other football leaders, those Notre Dame boys are smart. Hanley says you can't make mistakes against Notre Dame and get away with it. Rockne made a mistake, in fact a downright blunder, in telling his boys how badly Carnegie Tech would whip them. Then he pulled another against the Army. Wonder if he expects them to believe him any longer?

After all, why should a coach pick the opposing team to win? We recall no instance of a fighter admitting he had no chance to whip his opponent, or of a baseball manager stating that his boys were just a bunch of bums and had no business trying to win a league pennant.

Maj. Ralph Sasse, coach of the Army, doesn't use Rockne's psychology and still he seems to get results. He said the night before the game that Army would win. Maj. Philip Fleming, West Point's athletic director, was so sure of an Army victory

Movie and Radio Offers May Lure Schmeling to U. S.

BERLIN, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, claimant of the world's heavyweight boxing championship, may sail for New York about Dec. 14 to consider motion picture and radio contracts. He expects to start training May 1 for a match next summer.

Joe Jacobs, who announced here on Saturday that he had signed a five year contract as Schmeling's manager, will sail for New York Thursday. Schmeling is visiting with his mother, who suffered a dislocated arm recently in falling from a railroad platform in the Hamburg station.

IRISH TO MEET U. S. C. SQUAD IN SATURDAY GAME

Will Drill Tomorrow in Tucson.

Escorted by motorcycle police, whose sirens and whistles were screeching, the Notre Dame football squad left the Auditorium hotel in two special buses shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and were hustled through the southern section of the loop toward the La Salle street station.

At 3:30 o'clock they were aboard a Rock Island train. A minute later it was taking the famous football team away from Chicago's near zero weather headed for Los Angeles, where the Irish battle Southern California on Saturday afternoon.

All in Good Condition.

The Notre Dame boys dashed from their Chicago headquarters toward the buses like they were in fine condition. Full Back Moon Mullins was limping slightly. Tom Conley also carried bruises about the face and head as a result of the encounter with the Army on Saturday. The other boys in the big squad look like they would be ready to meet the Trojans on very short notice.

Those in the Notre Dame party were as follows:

PLAYERS.

Ballis, Roy	Kurth, Joe
Brill, Martin	Kosky, Ed
Butler, Frank	Leahy, Bernie
Conley, Thomas	Lukats, Nick
Culver, Alvin	Mahoney, Dick
Donoghue, Richard	McManmon, Art

The Notre Dame boys will study, eat, sleep, and rest until their train arrives at Tucson, Ariz., at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Then they will step through a lively drill. They will sleep that night in Tucson.

They will practice again there at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning and will resume the trip to the Pacific slope at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night. They will arrive at Los Angeles at 5 o'clock on Friday afternoon. Their first look at a football field after leaving Tucson will be about 1:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon when they romp into the Los Angeles stadium for their encounter with the powerful University of Southern California team.

TROJANS ARE READY

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Notre Dame will face one of the strongest elevens ever assembled on the Pacific coast when it battles Southern California here Saturday.

The Trojans' only weakness results from injuries sustained in the last two games against Hawaii and Washington.

In the Washington game, on Thanksgiving day, Wilcox's understudy, Ray Sparling, a 176 pounder, had his right knee and ankle badly wrenched in the first quarter, and Sparling is also in Good Samaritan hospital.

Problem for Jones.

The injuries left Head Coach Howard Jones with a heavy problem. He worked Howard Joslin, third string end, weighing 175, in the vacancy for most of the Washington game, but a third stringer is hardly considered good enough to protect against passes and turn in and smash up interference created by a Notre Dame team.

Eugene Clarke, who weighs 185 and is willing but almost wholly inexperienced in his sophomore year, may handle the post part of the time. Coach Jones has also been remaking Tay Brown, a crack 195 pound tackle, into an end. Brown played end last year on the freshman team.

Jones' ball carrying system is more versatile this year than previously, with six instead of two ball carrying backs. In other years Jones' elevens invariably used only the quarter back or the full back to carry the ball, employed the two halves only as interferers, and relied solely on sheer power for gains on plays that the other team could anticipate.

Speed Backs Arrive.

When Duffield and Musick soften up opposing teams, as this combination never failed to do in any of its nine games this autumn to date, Jones yanks Duffield and Musick and sends in a new and speedier combination. Orville Mohler, 163 pound quarter back who is an eel for elusiveness geared onto a 16-cylinder body for speed; and Gaius Shaver, 180, at full back, compose the back field speed combination.

Apsit is an Illinois boy. He played his prep school football at West Aurora High school. The only other middlewesterner on the Southern California varsity is Alfred Plaehn, a 196 pound tackle, from Reinbeck, Iowa.

JAMES PILOTS 2 WINNERS HOME IN JEFFERSON MUD

Triumphs on My Hobby, Grecian Beauty.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 1.—(AP)—The races at Jefferson Park today were run over a slow track. There was no feature on the card, chief interest being centered in the running of the St. James purse, a six furlong sprint.

The Judge, second choice, and ridden by Charley Landolt, was the winner by a head over Admiral C. T. Grayson's Noble Sir, with Petabit third. Greenwald, favorite, finished fourth.

The Judge Leads From Start.

The Judge was away fast and showing good speed under Landolt's good handling, raced Petabit into defeat. In the final furlong Leyland, on Noble Sir, brought his charge up with a rush on the outside and just failed to win. Noble Sir beat Petabit two lengths for the place.

The winner paid $5.20 for a $2 ticket and the time for the six furlongs was 1:15 2-5. Grecian Beauty with Eugene James up won the fifth race and paid her backers $6. Kadiak, odds-on favorite, finished second and Madcap Marvin third. It was James' second victory of the day, as he had piloted My Hobby home in front in the second race.

James got Grecian Beauty away on her toes and made every pole a winning one. In the stretch Kadiak challenged, but the mare held on gamely to win by a neck. Kadiak beat Madcap Marvin five lengths for the place.

Favorite Wins Opener.

The favorite players were away in their stride, putting over Mrs. E. C. Gross' West Virginia, which was made a 3 to 2 choice in the opening event. Little Coventry was second and Flagg Porter third. West Virginia jumped away to the lead and, making all his pace, won by two lengths in 1:15 1-5.

RODGERS RESIGNS AS GRID COACH AT WEST VIRGINIA

Morgantown, W. Va., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Ira Rodgers resigned tonight as head football coach at West Virginia university, a post he has held since 1926. He declined comment regarding his action.

The university's athletic board of control announced that A. Earle ["Greasy"] Neale, former coach at Washington and Jefferson, would be recommended to succeed Rodgers. Neale also has coached football at the University of Virginia, Muskingum, and Marietta.

West Virginia ended its season with five victories and five defeats by losing to the Oregon Aggies at Chicago Thanksgiving.

Young Stribling, who meets Tuffy Griffith Dec. 12 at the Chicago Stadium, arrived yesterday. He was accompanied by his father, mother, and Bill the third, his young son.

Stribling was to meet with Griffith and his manager, Jack O'Keefe, this morning to compromise on training quarters. Strib drilled at Kid Howard's for his fight with Otto Von Porat, but Tuffy also claims this gymnasium by prior right.

Young Stribling came to town by train, forsaking his airplane at the urgent request of Sidney Strotz of the Stadium, who had no desire to see the bout crash now it has been consummated.

Jack Gagnon may appear against Larry Johnson in the semi-windup. Gagnon fought both Griffith and Von Porat several months ago. Johnson had asked that Jimmy Maloney or Yale Okum be signed as his opponent, but Maloney apparently doesn't want to fight the hard punching Chicago colored boy, while Okum is said to be busy next week.

BROWN FARMS IN TRADE.

Springfield, Mo., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—The St. Louis Browns today announced the sale of Ken Thenhaus, Springfield third baseman, and Jim Clements, Springfield first baseman, to the Topeka club of the Western association. Both minor league clubs are farms of the St. Louis American League club.

DE NEF-CHARLIER SPRINT TO N. Y. BIKE RACE LEAD

New York, Dec. 1.— [Special.] — Roger De Nef and Adolf Charlier, Belgian team, pedaled into the lead in the 49th international six day bicycle race tonight as the event spun through its 27th hour.

At 11:30 o'clock De Nef and Charlier pulled away from the field. Amid the din of the crowd the Belgians twice circled rival teams as the climax to one of the most sustained sessions of mad riding a race has held. With their advantage De Nef and Charlier advanced to a position one lap ahead of the second section of the field of thirteen teams remaining in the race. Standings at midnight:

Hanley's Tip to Notre Dame's Opponents: Make No Mistakes

that he waved money all over Chicago. Army didn't win, but who can blame them for thinking they had a chance?

We personally believe that Rockne has plenty of faith in his 1930 football team. For years he has been a humorist and he likes to joke with the authors. It probably amuses him to see how seriously he is taken.

—o—

THAT SERVICE CHARITY GAME.

When you are in the presence of a West Point man, don't ask him about the Army-Navy football game. If you do he will come back with "to what game do you refer, the charity game?"

Army officials said last week there was no possibility of an immediate resumption of the service teams' series. Maj. Sasse admitted the Army was enthusiastic about the game this year, not because the Navy was the foe but because they had opportunity to play for the boys in the bread line.

"All the talk about a renewal of the series has come from the Navy," said Capt. Walter Wells, West Point intelligence officer. "The Army is satisfied to go along with present arrangements. We play Harvard, Yale and Notre Dame annually and have no trouble filling the rest of our schedule with suitable opponents."

Capt. Wells revealed that there is no difference in the collective age of the West Point and Navy football regulars. One of the reasons which led to the break between the academies was the Navy's contention that Army's players were more matured because of previous collegiate experience. The total ages of the eleven Navy regulars and the eleven Army regulars were the same this season, according to Capt. Wells.

Pittsburgh Releases Fraser, Veteran Scout

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Chick Fraser, Pittsburgh Pirate scout for 18 seasons, was released tonight. The Pirate management, it was said, does not contemplate filling his place at present. Fraser, a former major and minor league player, lives at Jerome, Idaho.

Iowa, Too, Is Hurt by Low Grid Receipts

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa may follow Purdue's plan of eliminating certain branches of sports from the athletic program as a result of lean football receipts. This was indicated here today with the announcement that the Hawkeye athletic board will meet Wednesday to analyze the 1930 football season from a financial standpoint.

A year outside the Big Ten, coupled with the fact that six of its eight games were played at home, cut deeply into Hawkeye receipts this fall. Accurate figures are not available, but probably will be presented to the board Wednesday by Charles Galiher, business manager of athletics.

At none of Iowa's six home contests was the new Hawkeye stadium, erected two seasons ago at a cost of $500,000 to seat 42,000 spectators, more than half filled. In 1929 the stadium was filled almost to capacity for the homecoming contest.

C. C. Williams, chairman of the board, refused to predict what course the athletic chiefs will follow on the question of curtailing activities in other branches of sports. Hawkeye athletic followers, however, were inclined to the belief that low receipts would lead to curtailment of activity in all other branches of athletics, rather than the complete elimination of all intercollegiate activity in any one sport.

BIG TEN CHIEFS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING FRIDAY

Ruling on 1931 Charity Game Awaited.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The rulers of the Western conference hold their annual winter meeting Friday at the Hotel Sherman. This governing group includes the coaches, directors of athletics and the faculty representatives. Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the Big Ten, will preside at the meetings of the coaches and the sports heads.

Northwestern and Notre Dame will follow with interest the actions of the faculty men Friday. Other items under consideration are insignificant compared with the faculty approval or rejection of the transfer of the 1931 Notre Dame-Northwestern football game to Soldiers' field. On that approval rests the proposed gift of $100,000 of these universities to the charitable organizations now assisting in the care of Chicago's unemployed.

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern originally requested the Western conference, through Northwestern's member of the faculty committee, O. F. Long, to sanction the shift of the 1930 game with Notre Dame to Soldiers' field. The money for charity was to be derived from the sale of tickets over the 48,000 then purchased, the capacity of Dyche stadium.

Deny First Request.

That request was denied by a mail vote of the faculty members conducted by Prof. W. J. Moenkhaus of Indiana university, chairman of the committee. A subsequent request was made by Dr. Scott for the transfer of next year's game. Notre Dame already has agreed to the transfer and the south park commissioners have reiterated their offer of Soldiers' field without charge.

If the faculty men agree to waive the conference rule that football games shall be played on the gridirons of the home universities, unless such transfer is made to a field at least 100 miles distant from other Big Ten members, the gift to charity is assured.

Here Are Faculty Members.

The members of the Big Ten faculty committee are as follows: W. J. Moenkhaus, Indiana, chairman; J. F. Pyre, Wisconsin; A. C. Callen, Illinois; Thomas French, Ohio State; William Marshall, Purdue; James Paige, Minnesota; Frederic Woodward, Chicago; C. C. Williams, Iowa; Ralph Algier, Michigan, and O. F. Long, Northwestern.

LINDBLOM, CRANE QUINTETS SCORE TWIN VICTORIES

Evidence that another Chicago high school basketball season is upon us once more was given yesterday when the first of the diligent young correspondents telephoned scores of their teams' first games.

Lane and Tuley of the north section divided a practice doubleheader on the former's floor, the Lane heavies winning, 15 to 14, and the Tuley lights taking a 27 to 14 decision. Sommers, Rechzeh and Czylusta featured for the Lane heavies, while Salzman starred for the winning lights with four baskets.

Harrison Heavies Win.

Harrison heavies opened their home season with a 23 to 19 victory over Roosevelt, while the lights tied Roosevelt's ponies in an overtime game, 11 to 11, when Africk of Harrison sank a free throw in the last minute of play. Capt. Eddie Odron starred for the heavies.

Lindblom hung up a double victory over Morgan Park of the south section, the heavies winning 19 to 14 and the lights, 31 to 23. Bill Silverstorf led the heavies with seven baskets and a free throw.

Englewood alumni scored their first double victory over the varsity in eight years, the heavies overwhelming the school team, 41 to 25, while the lights won, 33 to 12.

Crane Takes Pair

Crane invaded Hyde Park's floor for a twin decision, the heavies taking a 29 to 28 verdict, while the lights won, 32 to 26. Schmidt led the Crane heavies with 16 points, while the losers were headed by Grody with 15.

Wallers heavyweights defeated McKinley, 18 to 11, on the former's floor, but the invading lights evened it by trimming Waller, 16 to 10.

Big Earl Keth led Calumet heavies to a 26 to 14 win over St. Rita on the City leaguers' floor. The lanky center scored seven points. Calumet lights made it a pair with a 15 to 6 victory.

Phelan, Warner and Lieb Think Trojans Will Win

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 1.—Jim Phelan, coach of the University of Washington football team, which Howard Jones' Trojans defeated, 32 to 0, last Thursday, and Glenn Warner, coach of the Stanford team which lost to Southern California, 41 to 12, both think the Los Angeles gridders likely to defeat Notre Dame here Saturday.

Coming, as it does, fresh from the Trojans' last football appearance, Phelan's words may command some attention.

"With no exaggeration or motives on my part, I cannot help believing that Southern California will win from Notre Dame. I just sat on the bench on Thanksgiving day and marveled at the Trojan exhibition. What a team! What a line! What an offensive!

'Players I had scarcely heard discussed seemed to me as good as any I have seen in football.

"I wasn't told much beforehand about Jim Musick, the full back. But Musick hits harder than any full back we have faced this season. The center of the Trojan line seems impregnable to me. I still can't believe Howard Joslin is only a third string end without experience in any big game. I have to say it: It's a ball club that ought to be a favorite over any in the country, including Notre Dame."

Lieb made his comparison of Trojan and Notre Dame chances over the radio some weeks ago. He said that, with the information available to him, he would pick Southern California to win. If Lieb has changed his mind in the intervening weeks, he did not take back his public prediction.

Glenn Warner's ideas on Saturday's game, like Phelan's, were communicated in the last few days. Warner told coaching associates at Palo Alto, that, all things considered, he did not see how Notre Dame was going to beat the Los Angeles team.

BEARS FACE 2D FINE FOR PLAYING SAVOLDI SUNDAY

Columbus, O., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—The Chicago Bears' football club of the National Professional league faces another $1,000 fine for the second infraction of the college class player rule after playing Joe Savoldi in the game Sunday with Portsmouth in Chicago.

Attaches of President Joseph F. Carr's office today said that the Bears "had been warned not to use Savoldi" following their playing of the former Notre Dame star on Thanksgiving day and "were told that further use would bring another fine."

Second Fine Not Official.

Official action on the second fine, however, will be delayed until Carr returns from the meeting of minor league baseball officials now in progress at Montreal.

The initial $1,000 fine was levied on the Bears by Carr Saturday following charges of other clubs in the league that the Bears and their co-owner, George Halas, had violated one of the recent rules of the organization when they played Savoldi before his class—that of 1931—was graduated from Notre Dame.

What Rules Say.

The rules of the National league state that no player can be hired or used in a National league game before his class is graduated.

The Bears' owners claim that Savoldi, following his withdrawal from Notre Dame, is a player without a class and therefore eligible to play.

SAVOLDI STAYS IN LINEUP.

The Chicago Bears will use Joe Savoldi against the Green Bay Packers here Sunday afternoon despite reports of a second fine on the Chicago club for using the ex-Notre Dame star last Sunday.

"I don't think President Carr will approve this second fine against the Bears," George Halas, co-owner of the club, said last night. "Portsmouth made no objections to our playing Savoldi last Sunday.

"We have appealed the first fine to the executive committee, and until they make a decision we'll keep on using Savoldi."

FOOTBALL CHATTER.

ATTENDANCE of 110,000 persons at the Notre Dame-Army game Saturday rather belies the viewpoint in some quarters that football interest waned this fall. Of course, two unbeaten elevens were meeting. Notre Dame has in this vicinity a large alumni and still larger following. Army always attracts and usually furnishes something spectacular.

Even with these favorable conditions, however, 110,000 is a large gathering. Moreover, the contest was played under miserable weather conditions for spectators, with a drizzle falling throughout. It was surprising so many attended and it was more surprising that nearly all remained until the finish with its double climax.

Notre Dame beat Army by one point, the kick after touchdown, yet at no time was Army really dangerous except by a "break." Its attack absolutely refused to function in the slippery going. Notre Dame beat Northwestern 14 to 0, yet Northwestern outplayed the Irish for at least half the contest. Which only proves that football is football.

Rockne's pupils defeated Army and Northwestern, two of the strongest elevens they have met this year, by the same play, a dash off tackle. There is nothing particularly intricate about it. It has been the key of the Irish running attack for years. Its success depends upon perfect blocking and a fast running back. It may be tried a dozen times and fail, yet when it clicks there goes the ball game. The thought occurs that some of the time devoted to intricate formations or trick plays by some elevens might better be expended in perfecting the execution of an effective fundamental play of touchdown possibilities.

REPORT 2 C. A. A. DIRECTORS HAVE RESIGNED POSTS

Two members of the board of directors of the Chicago Athletic association last night were reported to have resigned their positions. They are Judge Denis E. Sullivan, who is to be succeeded by Alexander McKay, and R. Arthur Woods, president of the Chicago Stock exchange.

There has been a disagreement among members of the club and the directorate over the proposed merger of the Chicago Athletic association and the Chicago Yacht club and the erection of a new building on the site of the latter organization. A decision is expected to be reached at the annual election of officers Jan. 31.

INDIANA GRIDIRON PLAYERS REPORT AT CAGE PRACTICE

Bloomington, Ind., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Candidates for the Indiana basketball team who turned in their football togs a week ago get their first scrimmage this afternoon under Coach Everett Dean. The men included Zeller at forward, Dauer at guard, Jasper at center, Henry at guard, Oren at forward, and Edmonds at guard.

Workouts will continue the remainder of the week in an effort to get these men in condition for the opening of the season here next Wednesday night, Dec. 10, with De Pauw.

MAJESTICS VS. TRINITY.

The Majestics and the Trinity A. A., whose four basketball contests during the last two seasons have resulted in an even break, will clash for the second time this season tonight at Trinity gym, 1443 West Division street.

LOYOLA CAGERS TO REPORT TODAY FOR FIRST DRILL

The Loyola university basketball season begins this afternoon, when six veterans and five sophomores will report to Coach Lennie Sachs for the first practice.

Charley Murphy, the great center; Tommy Flynn, and Fred Sextro have been lost from the team which last season extended Loyola's winning streak to 34 games before the Ramblers were upset by Purdue in an overtime contest.

Joe Wagner, sophomore who stands 6 feet 2 inches and is from Davenport, Ia., is the leading candidate for Murphy's position. Among the others who will report today are Mike Potusnik, Tom Walsh, Capt. Mike Waesco, John Durburg, Bob Schuhmann, Donald Cavanaugh, George Silvestri, Joe Drugay, Ed Connelley, Dick Butsen, John Smith, Frank M. Matabowsky, and Charles Acker.

Fleming Beats Harper in Challenge Cue Match

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Frank I. Fleming, Champaign, tonight defeated Robert B. Harper, Denver, Colo., in the first block of a 150 point match for the national amateur three cushion billiard championship, 50 to 39. Fleming, the challenger, won in 77 innings from the champion Fleming had a high run of five while Harper ran three. The second block will be played Tuesday evening.

Large Park Lagoons May Soon Be Fit for Skating

The cold snap has made numerous shallow ponds in small parks throughout the city fit for skating. Park superintendents yesterday reported that only a few more days of continued cold will be necessary to freeze the larger park lagoons to a safe thickness. At least six inches of ice is said to be necessary, the present average thickness of lagoon ice being about three and one-half inches.

No Bartering with Cubs.

If any National league club representative attempts to deal with the Cubs at Montreal he won't have a chance to make much progress on a proposal unless he offers something of real worth. The Cubs are fixed well enough so that only real stars are needed. Hornsby's preference, in fact almost his necessity, is an infielder. He also will take a good pitcher, but he must be good. The club has ample catching material for regular duty, but would consider a youthful prospect. Such a kid could be developed in the bull pen.

The Sox also will be looking around for an infielder worthy of the name. Manager Bush knows of several acceptable men who could be spared by the clubs now owning them, but he fears that the price in return material will be so high as to ruin negotiations. Bush fears that the first major league magnate to approach him at Montreal will ask for Kamm, Reynolds, Lyons or Thomas. Any deals involving the last three will not be considered. Kamm's case is a bit different. He can be obtained, but not at bargain rates.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The Pacific Coast baseball league, meeting here today, voted to take no action in the troublesome draft question pending a conference with the International league and the American association tomorrow.

The three AA leagues—International, Pacific and American association, as well as the class A Western league and the class B Three Eye league—have manifest considerable opposition to the draft, which gives the major leagues the right to purchase for a fixed sum any player on minor league clubs operating under the draft agreement.

BECKER PRAISES ALBERTA CODE AS ONE OF BEST

BY BOB BECKER.

The province of Alberta, one of the richest in Canada from the standpoint of wild life resources, issued this fall one of the most interesting little proclamations that any hunter ever saw. It was a creed for hunters, a condensed book of common sense and etiquette which conservation departments in the United States might copy and distribute with profit to all.

Probably the most striking feature about this creed is the fact that item No. 1 refers to the land owner, the man who raises the game. In many parts of this country the fact that we hunters are not getting close to the land owner is the reason for the passing of much good territory into the closed list.

Here's Alberta Creed.

1. Remember, the farmer is your best friend.
2. Ask permission to hunt on his land. He will usually meet you half way.
3. Put up his bars and close his gates.
4. Crawl through, over or under his fences, without breaking them down.
5. Don't destroy or injure his chickens and cattle, or let your dog worry them.
6. Put out your campfire before leaving and protect his property and your hunting ground.
7. Never in sport endanger human life.
8. Never kill wantonly, needlessly, or brutally.
9. Obey the laws, work for better laws and uphold the law enforcing authorities.
10. Respect the rights and feelings of farmers and property owners.
11. Always leave seed birds and game in coverts.
12. Never be a game hog.
13. Discourage in every way the taking of game for commercial purposes.
14. Be a gentleman.

Emphasize Land Owner.

Alberta's stress on the importance of the land owner in the future of the hunter and his taking of game from the fields reflects the emphasis which the seventeenth annual game conference in New York is putting on this subject. The conference closes today in New York.

CHICAGO STOCKS MARK TIME IN QUIET TRADING

Auburn Auto Shares Make 2 Point Advance.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Relieved in part of the worry of the steady liquidation which has determined its course for a week or more, the Chicago stock market seemed at a loss to know what to do yesterday. It ended by doing what is usually done in such cases—practically nothing.

Judged by closing quotations the market had some slight advantage over last week's finish, but the moderate improvement made in many issues was offset to some extent by weakness in one or two of the active leaders.

The trading was carried on at a trudging pace. Up to 1 o'clock 56,000 shares had been exchanged. Business during the last hour was anything but brisk, but it did expand the volume of transactions to 91,000 shares.

Middle West Weakens.

It was Middle West Utilities and Majestic Household which displayed the most contrariness. While it is not uncommon for Majestic to be in the nonconformist class, the Insull stock can usually be counted on to march lockstep with the rest of the market. In yesterday's exhibition it consistently refused to do this. It sold below last week's final price from the opening gun and never even threatened to break through that level.

Majestic was in much the same predicament. Cornered by the sellers early in the day, the issue was forced down to a new all time low of 6¾, from which it later recovered a half point. Motor shares were generally slightly improved, with Auburn standing out with a net gain of 2 points. Investment trust issues were dull and inclined toward slightly higher prices.

Contrasting the small gains of the majority of the miscellaneous stocks, Gleaner Combine tumbled 3½ points and Crane preferred sustained a like loss selling ex-dividend. The weakness in Gleaner was attributed to uncertainty over the impending dividend action of the directors.

Reduces Dividend.

There were no transactions in Gardner-Denver shares, which were placed on a $1.60 annual dividend basis by directors yesterday. Previously the company had paid dividends at the rate of $3 annually. In addition to the quarterly disbursement of 40 cents on common the directors authorized the regular payment on the preferred stock.

Another illustration of the widening of distribution of utility stocks is furnished by the Central Public Service corporation, which reports that class A stockholders on Nov. 25 numbered 30,058 as compared with 28,282 on Aug. 26. Holders of the $4 preferred shares totaled 11,826 against 10,831 on the previous date. Holders of other classes of preferred also increased.

New Bond Trading Record for Chicago Curb Is Set

All volume records for bond trading were broken on the Chicago curb in November when transactions aggregated $1,018,000 par value. The best previous month, March this year, showed trades amounting to $340,000 par value. Bond trading this year to date has gone ahead at nearly three times the 1929 rate. Stock sales for November were 356,165 shares, against 460,585 shares in November, 1929.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

Corporate Trust Shares took over the position as volume leader on the Chicago curb yesterday when more than 4,000 shares changed hands with the finish unchanged at 6½. Peoples Gas rights, Public Service rights, and Edison rights were quiet and closed steady to fractionally lower. United Gas advanced a good fraction. The no par class A participating preferred stock of Famous Ice Cream company was admitted to trading around noon and got under way at 25¾.

Monday run of hay was 21 cars of timothy or one of its mixtures, 1 packing hay and 2 each of alfalfa and rye straw. The market seems to be losing a little of its recent "pep" and more of the arrivals are selling down around the bottom of the quoted ranges rather than up around the top as was the case during the greater part of November.

ORAL ARGUMENTS ARE STARTED IN PACKERS' CONSENT DECREE CASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—Oral arguments in the packers consent decree case started today in the District of Columbia Supreme court with Frank J. Hogan, attorney for the Swift and Armour companies, reviewing the evidence in support of modification of the decree to allow their retailing meats and foodstuffs.

Mr. Hogan declared that America's food bill is 24 billion dollars annually and that in view of the vast number of producers and changed merchandising conditions, it is impossible for the packers to secure a monopoly on food distribution. He held that the government had produced no testimony to controvert that of the packers in justification of their plea.

Briefs in the case were filed by Attorney Harold Teegarden for the government and by attorneys for the National and American Wholesale Grocers' associations, the latter being intervenors in the case. Mr. Hogan will finish his argument tomorrow after which the government and grocers' attorneys will reply.

Boston Mayor Says Rail Discrimination Hurts City

Boston, Mass., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Unfair discrimination has changed Boston from an important port to a port of call, Mayor M. Curley said today at a hearing by the interstate commerce commission. Present freight rates gave New York preference over Boston as a shipping point, he said. The hearing was on the complaint of the city against the New York Central and other railroads.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

What is said to be one of the largest orders for lumber ever placed by any furniture company in the United States was announced yesterday by the Showers Brothers company of Bloomington, Ind., when it bought 2,500,000 feet of southern gum. John Sutphin, purchasing agent for the Showers company, confirmed the purchase and said that it was Showers Brothers' faith in business coming back shortly which prompted them to make the buy at this time.

Savings deposits in Illinois are gradually increasing month by month, according to reports of the forty-eight Illinois banks made to the federal reserve board. Deposits on Nov. 1 totaled $439,214,445, as compared with $433,341,788 on Oct. 1 and $427,328,908 on Sept. 1.

The Reading company has adopted a plan for the expenditure of $2,000,000 for improvements. The program includes the ordering of 10 freight locomotives, to be built by the Baldwin Locomotive works, at a cost of approximately $1,000,000.

Forrest M. Towl, president of the Southern Pipe Line company, in a letter to stockholders says he expects the annual report for this year to show the company has a little more than earned the $2 a dividends which have been paid during the year.

Bonds called during the month of November totaled $119,126,498, reports Standard Statistics company, and was more than double the amount in October. The total for the first eleven months of 1930 was 60 per cent less than 1929.

Carl D. Taylor, manager of the refrigeration department of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, announced that expansion in activities will be marked by a greatly increased advertising and sales campaign.

Buick Motor company, a division of General Motors corporation, produced and shipped 7,177 cars in November, against 11,171 in October and 9,761 in November last year.

The Allegheny Steel company has adopted the 6 hour day at its Brackenridge, Pa., plants in an effort to relieve unemployment. The change will affect 1,800 men.

The White Motor company has reduced the salaries of officers and salaried employes by 12 per cent.

The malleable iron division of the General Motors corporation at Saginaw has gone on a six day a week schedule of ten hours a day, against a previous five day week of nine hours a day, according to David O. Thomas, general manager.

While production of the Chevrolet Motor company in November exceeded 60,000 units, orders already booked for new cars considerably exceeded this figure, the sales division reports.

P. R. Beasley, president of the Detroit Aircraft corporation, announced production schedules for 60 military and transport planes, to cost $1,250,000, for the next six months.

Rgo Motor Car company shipped 1,181 cars and trucks in November, against 1,221 in the like month last year.

Ford Ltd. Tax Selling.

Tax selling is said to be taking place in Ford, Ltd., but the fact that the stock is selling higher than it did last year tends to refute this argument. In addition, Ford is much nearer its 1930 high than the general run of industrials.

STOCK ACTIVITY LENDS SUPPORT TO PET THEORY

BY O. A. MATHER.

It has been a pet theory among brokers in the last month or so that the stock market has been "scraping bottom." And in spite of recent declining prices there is data to support the theory. For example, the aggregate market value of 100 representative common stocks declined only $405,615,000, or 1.7 per cent, in November, according to a compilation by Frazier, Jelke & Co. This was the smallest change, either up or down, that has occurred in these stocks in more than a year, except for last August.

Furthermore, it was the sharp declines in railroad and public utility common stocks that were mainly responsible for the November recession in total value. They were among the six groups that declined, but seven other groups showed advances.

The public utility group suffered most, the aggregate decline of 10 stocks being $291,729,000, or 8.2 per cent. The next largest loss was in the railroad group, with 15 stocks declining $226,308, or 5.2 per cent.

What Other Groups Show.

Among the other groups, ten oil stocks declined $87,752, or 2.6 per cent; five electricals, $43,221, or 2.3 per cent; five amusements, $39,650, or 6.9 per cent, and five steels, $9,051,000, or sixtenths of 1 per cent. On the other hand, seven motor stocks advanced $72,878,000, or 2.6 per cent; seven mines, $54,609,000, or 5.7 per cent; five chemicals, $44,733,000, or 4.4 per cent; five merchandise, $39,651,000, or 3.5 per cent; five equipments, $28,566, or 4.9 per cent; fourteen industrials, $28,125,000, or 1.7 per cent, and seven foods, $23,516,000, or 1.9 per cent.

The drastic decline in prices since last April, when the recovery from the collapse of November, 1929, reached its maximum is shown in other data. The 100 representative stocks last Saturday had a total market value of $23,020,042,000. This was $1,254,342,000 less than the extreme low of Nov. 13, 1929, and also $11,837,655,000 below the 1930 peak on March 31. On Aug. 30, 1929, the peak of the bull market, these same stocks had a total value of $43,447,954,000; therefore the shrinkage from that figure has been $20,427,912,000, or 47 per cent.

Sign of Improvement.

Rapid liquidation of unhealthy and inflated financial and business situations is one of the most striking signs that the clouds are beginning to break, according to John Moody, economist, who spoke before the Milwaukee Bond Men's club last night.

"Within a year from now the major depression which began during the second half of 1929 will quite definitely have been outlived," he continued. "Not only has the depression run probably more than half its course, but if it could be divided into four periods as corporation reports are divided, the belief seems justified that we may be rapidly approaching the final quarter. Several months from now surface indications may show little change, but basic conditions will probably then be far sounder than they recently have been.

Cleaning Up Process.

"Security markets have broadly discounted not only poor business results of 1930, but similar unencouraging prospects for a substantial part of 1931. The rapid market declines which began in September were due largely to distress liquidation of speculative holdings entered into after the fall trade revival had failed to materialize. This cleaning up process really should have taken place months earlier."

Dullness in trade and industry is betokened in a slackening in the demand for credit for commercial purposes reported by member banks of the federal reserve system. The reporting banks showed a decline of $88,000,000 in commercial loans for the week ended Nov. 26 and also a decline of $77,000,000 in loans on securities. These banks reduced their investments in government securities by $12,000,000, but increased their holdings of other securities by $62,000,000.

Claim Low Revenue Levels Menace Railway Service

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—Western railroads today renewed their efforts before the interstate commerce commission to obtain action that will enable them to improve their financial condition.

CHAS. DONNELLY. [Harris & Ewing Phot]

Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific, and H. A. Scandrett, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, held a conference with Chairman Frank McManamy of the commission relative to a new proposal of the railroads.

The western executives submitted a statement to Chairman McManamy, but they declined to reveal its contents and the chairman said it would not be made public until after the commission had considered it, probably tomorrow.

Outline Conditions.

Ten western railroad executives recently submitted to the commission a statement outlining the financial condition of the western lines in which they asserted that the maintenance of adequate transportation service by rail was menaced by the low level of revenues in the west.

Replying to that representation, the commission said that the statement made no suggestion as to any action by it deemed by the railroads to be feasible to relieve the revenue situation of the western roads or legally necessary in the premises. Should such requests be presented, said the commission, "they will be given earnest and prompt consideration."

This was taken as an invitation to the western executives to come to the commission and ask for something definite. The proposal now before the commission is a step in that direction.

Deem Solution Near.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

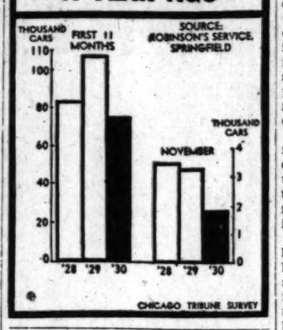
New York, Dec. 1.—A solution of the long standing controversy over railroad consolidations in the east, bringing a division of carriers in the territory among the four large trunk lines, the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, and the Van Sweringen group, is imminent, it was reported in the financial district today.

The agreement among the four principal systems, needing adjustment of only a few minor details, is expected to meet approval in Washington, where it was assumed the proposal had been informally discussed with individual members of the interstate commerce commission, announcement of the understandings is scheduled to be made within a fortnight either in Washington or in Wall street.

Although reports of the agreement were discounted in railroad quarters, where it was felt no progress had been made at recent conferences in healing the breach between the New York Central-Van Sweringen-Baltimore and Ohio interests on the one hand and the Pennsylvania on the other, Wall street understood pressure had been brought to bear on the railroad executives to effect a compromise in the interests of business harmony. Announcement of an accord, therefore, would come as a surprise to many who have followed the controversy through years of negotiations.

Grouping of the eastern railroads into strong trunk lines has been urged by banks and railroad men for years, especially since enactment of the transportation law ten years ago, but executives of the roads involved have been unable to agree on any plan.

NOVEMBER NEW CAR SALES IN COOK COUNTY HALF THAT OF A YEAR AGO



A., T. & S. F. WILL EARN COMMON DIVIDEND IN 1930, STOREY STATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 1.—The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé railway will earn its common dividend this year, W. B. Storey, president, said today. He declined to estimate by what amount the dividend need would be exceeded, but said the nonoperating income would be close to the $6,000,000 of 1929. There has been no sign of general improvement in railroad business in the territory of the Atchison, and conditions remain about as they have been for some months, said Mr. Storey.

There is no truth in the rumor that the Royal Dutch Shell company plans a bond issue soon or that the final 1930 dividend will be reduced, according to a cable from Amsterdam today quoting Sir Henri Deterding, managing director.

"An offer of bankers to take over $25,000,000 of 4 per cent bonds of the Royal Dutch Shell on the same conditions as the last issue was refused, due to the fact that the company has an abundance of liquid cash on hand on which only a low interest rate is received," said Sir Henri.

Standard Cap and Seal corporation has declared an extra dividend of 50 cents a share. Net profits available for dividends for the ten months ended Oct. 31 were 7.75 per cent in excess of net profits for the same period in 1929. Hygrade Lamp company directors declared an extra dividend of $1 in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the common. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.62½ on the preferred also was authorized.

Directors of the Prince & Whitely Trading corporation voted to omit the quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share due at this time on the preferred stock.

Philip de Ronde, president, informed stockholders that the directors propose as soon as more definite information is available as to the value of the corporation's assets, and, if possible, prior to the next dividend date of the preferred, to recommend a suitable reduction of capital so as to place it in a position of being able to pay preferred dividends to the extent justified by the corporation's income.

Clash on Muscle Shoals Now Looms in Congress

BY SCRUTATOR.

Muscle Shoals seems destined to be one of the important matters on which conservative and progressive elements in congress are to clash during the present session. A point of issue is made of the project and the settlement, if one is made even temporarily, may have an important bearing on the future attitude of the government toward private utilities.

A certain meager background of fact in regard to the Muscle Shoals question is presented here. The central issue, whether government is justified in going into the power manufacturing business with definite intent, is complicated by other considerations.

First of all, the government now has an investment of around 125 million dollars in the works constructed near the shoals of the Tennessee river in northern Alabama. On this it is receiving a present return that is at best little more than one-half of one per cent, and this comes from the sale of electrical power to the Alabama Power company.

The entire project began as a war measure. The government under the national defense act undertook to construct the so-called Wilson dam, two nitrate plants and a steam power plant. The essential object was to provide an adequate supply of basic materials, nitrates, for the manufacture of munitions.

Report on No. 2 Plant.

One of the nitrate plants, built for the direct synthesis of ammonia from hydrogen and nitrogen gases, cost thirteen million dollars. It was not completed until after the war and has never produced on any more than a testing scale. The United States Chamber of Commerce found from expert sources that even if the original capital were reduced to a bookkeeping figure of two millions dollars the cost of production would be 4½ cents a pound, while a new and modern plant to cost two millions dollars and located near coking ovens could produce at 3¾ cents.

The same body found that plant No. 2, even if capitalized at five and a half millions, would produce by the cyanide process at about 6 cents a pound, something higher than the price that would have to be paid for ammonia made in a private and better located plant capitalized at eleven millions, the cost of a new factory of like size.

Wilson dam's electric power output, however, has commercial possibilities. It is bringing in upwards of $500,000 a year under a revocable contract with the Alabama Power company. It is said that a larger return could be had under a long term contract. The power plant, first built as an aid for munitions making, thus becomes the center of all the trouble.

Whether the government should continue to operate the power plant and to sell its product, or whether the properties should be turned over by lease to private owners is the main question. It has been suggested that the progressives are willing to dispose of the nitrate plants, despite their value as standby capacity in the event of war, to retain the power in government control.

Will Debate Issues.

Although under normal stream flow now Wilson dam can produce about 100,000 horsepower, the upper Tennessee river is capable of being further developed for hydro power and a total of about 1,300,000 horsepower achieved. An estimated addition of eighty-three million dollars would have to be invested to accomplish this, and the government's stake in Muscle Shoals would then be 207 millions.

So far the government at Muscle Shoals has been only incidentally in the power selling business. It has sold because it had a plant made for other purposes. To lease that plant would mean the wiping out as a total loss of much of the money spent. Congress will debate the financial wisdom of this and the alternative of holding on; also it will debate the principle of leaving the government in the power business.

N. Y. CURB OPENS DECEMBER WITH STRONGER TONE

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The curb market today began the last month of a slim year with a firm tone and a conspicuous revival of professional speculative activity in the low priced specialties.

In the utilities Electric Bond and Share was a firm feature, rising more than 2 points in a large turnover to close at 48¾. United Gas, a member of the Bond and Share group, rose ¾ of a point to 9¾. American Gas gained nearly 4 points in a small turnover.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 1.—Up to the last half hour or so, when a shower of "inspired" buying orders livened things up a bit, the New York Stock exchange was about the dullest spot one could find in many a long sea mile today.

Trading droned along at a snail's pace when it moved at all and the ticker got the best rest it has had since away back last summer. Sales came to only 1,107,507 shares.

The speculative community obviously was awaiting the President's annual message to congress tomorrow and taking pains not to let the wait cost any great outlay of spending money. The general opinion seemed to be that a constructive message devoted largely to the unemployment situation could be counted on, but Wall street can be canny when there's an element of chance in a given situation and it was looking out the window hard today. Qualified observers look for a continuation of the dullness until it can be seen how congress is going to behave.

Elevates Values.

The last hour buying spurt today elevated recorded values of leading shares in most groups from a fraction to 3 points. A few individual issues scored larger gains, but they were by far in the minority and enough minus signs appeared to keep the party from being unanimous.

Motor and merchandise shares set the pace and some of the backsliding rails sat up and took notice in great shape. Studebaker was the drum major of the motors and at one time was ahead of its Saturday close by more than 2 points, not all of which it was able to hold, however. Auburn and Hudson each gained more than a

SMELTERS RAISE PRICE DOMESTIC COPPER TO 11C

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Custom smelters who have been offering copper in the domestic market at 10½ cents a pound, delivered, today increased the price to 11 cents.

The action followed the lead of a leading custom smelter in increasing its quotation to 11 cents Saturday. The 11 cent price is still a concession of 1 cent a pound from the 12 cent level which has been maintained by producers for more than a week.

Foreign sales of the metal were reported improved today. In the early dealings 2,000,000 pounds of regular shapes were sold at 12.30 cents a pound, c. i. f. European base ports, a price on a parity with the 12 cent level for copper in the domestic market.

Directors of Utah Copper company, controlled by Kennecott Copper corporation, today declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2. The $2 quarterly rate, established June 30 last, was a reduction from the previous $4 quarterly dividend.

Nevada Consolidated Copper, controlled by Utah Copper, also declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents. The annual rate of $1 was established Sept. 3, when the dividend was reduced from $1.50 annually. The $1.50 rate, in turn, was a reduction from $3 made in the previous quarter.

U. S. GOV'TS ARE ACTIVE FEATURE OF BOND MARKET

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Active trading in United States Governments, which have been at the highest average level since April, 1928, was the feature of a dull and irregular session of the bond market today. A mild reaction appeared at the close.

One block of $1,000,000 Treasury 4s appeared on the tape in the final hour at a concession of 1-32d from the opening price and the issue closed ⅛ net lower. Treasury 4¼s yielded ⅛ of a point. Treasury 3⅜s of 1943-'47 reached a new 1930 maximum and Liberty 3½s duplicated its high of the year.

During the last two months in which domestic and foreign bonds have declined, United States Governments, particularly Liberty bonds, have been buoyed by a strong demand from banks and there was a tendency in some quarters to ascribe today's selling to the same sources.

Twenty-five Leading Common Stocks in a Single Investment

An opportunity to participate in American progress

DIVERSIFIED investment in high-grade common stocks is, in effect, a method of securing automatic participation in the country's growth and development.

However, it is difficult or impossible for the average investor to buy a sufficiently diversified list of high-grade stocks to insure the best results.

To overcome this difficulty, Standard American Trust Shares (representing a fixed trust of the capital accumulation type) have been created. They provide a plan by which you can place your money, in amounts of about $100 and up, in twenty-five leading common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The selection of stocks includes American Telephone, New York Central, Consolidated Gas, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Standard Oil of New Jersey, du Pont, United States Steel, and seventeen others. It is believed that no other twenty-five common stocks as well represent a complete cross-section of successful American industry.

The results that would have been achieved if you had been able to buy these twenty-five stocks ten years ago are a demonstration of the possibilities of this plan. In that ten-year period, the man who held the twenty-five Standard American Trust Shares stocks—and who handled the dividends and other accruals in accordance with the Standard American Trust Shares plan—would have received an average annual income of more than 11%, and at the same time his original investment would have increased in value four times over.

Adding together the average annual return and the appreciation—the investor would have received an average annual gain of more than 42%.

The distribution of these shares is sponsored by Lawrence Stern and Company and The National Republic Company, investment affiliate of The National Bank of the Republic of Chicago.

Hog receipts yesterday, estimated at 63,000, the largest since 1924 for the first Monday in December, sold on a steady to 15c lower basis compared with the low close of last week and showed losses of 20@35c since early last Friday.

The extreme top moved down 10c at $8.40, while the general average showed 10c loss at $8.15. All interests purchased freely on the break, outsiders taking 11,000, the largest number in six weeks, and more than third of the available supply after directs had been deducted from the receipts. Armour, Swift, and Wilson handled a combined total of 35,000, including directs. Only 5,000 remained at the close.

March Light Hogs, $9.

March lightweights held steady on the hog futures market yesterday, contracts at $9 for delivery during the last half of that month equaling the highest in recent weeks. December mediums, however, slumped to $8. December light were bid $8.05.

January contracts were offered at $8.75, but the highest bid at the close was $8.45. February light and mediums were bid $8@8.10, and heavy hogs for that month were offered at $8.75.

Cattle prices were pounded down 25@50c on yesterday's market. Liberal receipts attracted by last week's upturn in prices switched practically all of the advantage to the buying side. Total arrivals at 27,000 were within 1,000 of the largest daily offerings since Sept. 29.

Heavy steers that gained most during last week slumped sharpest on yesterday's market. Cows and heifers tumbled 25@40c. Stockers and feeders were fairly active and steady. Fancy 1,080 lb yearlings topped the market at $13.75, while long fed steers averaging 1,507 lbs sold at $13.

The largest supply of fat lambs this season arrived yesterday and pressed quotations down mostly 25@50c soon after the opening. Most slaughter lambs were sorted by packers around $8, although a fair number of the best selections to packers, city butchers, and shippers reached $8.25, while the extreme top reached $8.40.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 10,000 cattle, 49,000 hogs, and 9,000 sheep, against 11,621 cattle, 32,529 hogs, and 15,052 sheep the previous Tuesday and 10,455 cattle, 41,931 hogs, and 15,775 sheep a year ago.

LARD STOCKS DECREASED

Lard stocks in Chicago, as given by the Board of Trade, are 6,648,000 lbs., compared with 12,567,000 lbs a month ago, showing a reduction of 5,921,000 lbs for the month. This loss was all in old lard. A year ago stocks were 20,073,000 lbs, a decrease, as compared with present supplies, of 23,427,000 lbs. Stocks of meats are 71,966,000 lbs, against 57,638,000 lbs a month ago, and 94,140,000 lbs last year. Traders are surprised at the change in lard for the month. Meat stocks show a liberal consumption during November. The stock reports came out after the close of trading and are expected to have a strengthening influence in today's market.

December lard was supported by shorts yesterday and closed 2½c higher. There was changing from December to January and May, with packers credited with selling the deferred futures, while new buying was scattered. The January and May lost 12½c and March 7½c for the day. Liverpool lard was 6d lower on spots and 3d higher on January. Export clearances for the week were 8,582,000 lbs, against 11,681,000 lbs last year. Bacon clearances were 8,878,000 lbs, against 4,617,000 lbs last year. Hog receipts were heavy and exceeded last year's, while prices closed steady to 10c lower. Prices follow:

For Current Income—
For Future Needs—
Cities Service
Common stock

Other investors want chiefly to provide for future needs and luxuries; for them there is the Doherty Reinvestment Plan.

EARNINGS were
$3.77 Per Common Share*

Heretofore investors have had to forego the opportunity of purchasing securities of Woods Brothers Corporation because outright buying was required.

Now by a simple, easy partial payment plan this Corporation's Common Stock (current price, $19. per share) can be bought.

GOV'T BUYING OF WHEAT HAS LITTLE EFFECT

Prices Somewhat Firmer Near the Close.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The stabilization corporation's holdings of cash wheat were materially increased yesterday as the result of deliveries of around 15,000,000 bu on December contracts in the leading markets, including 9,267,000 bu at Kansas City and 4,283,000 bu at Chicago.

Around 11,000,000 bu were taken in and paid for by the farm board agency. The immense change in ownership of cash grain had little effect on the market.

Weakness in Liverpool and Winnipeg had a depressing effect on American wheat markets the greater part of the day with prices averaging lower. Trade was unusually light, and in part represented changing between the various deliveries, but toward the last there was a good rally on buying of new May by a local commission house which disclosed a slightly oversold pit condition.

The finish was ⅛@¼c higher on the old crop months and ⅝c lower on the July which closed at 74¼@74⅝c. Old December was 74⅞@75c; March, 77⅝@77¾c, and May, 79½@79⅝c at the last.

Liverpool Wheat Lower.

Delivery of 736,000 bu Argentine wheat on December contracts in the Liverpool future market was mainly responsible for a decline of 1½@1⅝d in the price there, although there was some selling on the easiness in Buenos Aires where weatehr conditions generally were favorable for harvesting. The latter closed 1@1¼c lower. Winnipeg reported a fair export demand at the Pacific coast, but there was little interest in the east with sales of 250,000 bu in all positions. Futures in the Canadian market were off 1@1¼c.

Owing to the fact that American wheat prices are materially aboye the world's parity the average trader paid no attention to the cold wave which was reported sweeping over the winter wheat belt and caught the new crop without snow protection. Some attention was pai", however, to the possibility of an organized effort being made in the Canadian northwest to reduce the acreage that will be seeded next spring in an effort to bring the world's supply and demand position closer in line.

Russian Stocks Large.

Cables from abroad said Russian exports of wheat were to decrease sharply. Private information indicated that there was around 15,000,000 bu of unsold grain now at leading United Kingdom, Italian and Dutch ports. However, as the soviet has been granted credits by bankers with the wheat as collateral, the government is not inclined to try and depress the price. According to the same report, Australia was recently a free seller of futures at Winnipeg, helping along the decline in the later market.

A decrease of 2,446,000 bu was shown in the domestic visible supply, making the total 195,562,000 bu compared with 184,602,000 bu last year.

Corn Market Stronger.

There was no important selling pressure on the corn market and with a lack of deliveries, colder weather over the belt which may stimulate feeding, and small receipts of cash grain at terminal markets, local bulls were encouraged to take the buying side, and the close was ¼@⅝c higher, with old December 75⅝@75⅞c; March, 78⅛@78⅝@78¾c; May, 80¼@80⅛c, and July, 80⅝@80⅞c at the last. Receipts at terminal markets for the day of 768,000 bu were 1,110,000 bu less than for the same period a year ago. An increase of 626,000 bu was shown in the visible supply, making the total 6,964,000 bu against 3,267,000 bu last year.

By Royal Command

BY DORNFORD YATES

SYNOPSIS.

Richard Chandos and his wife Leonie, former grand duchess of Reichtenburg, are visited at their estate near Littai, in Austria, by George Hanbury. A telegram arrives from Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, stating that she dare not come. Prince Paul, ruler of Reichtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and was incensed at her marriage to Chandos. Fearing for Marya's safety because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants, Bell and Rowley, depart for Virgil, capital city of Reichtenburg, where Marya resides. Because of the enmity of the prince they must enter the country in stealth. They drive to the frontier and leave Rowley with the car at a farm and proceed by foot. They befriend a peasant named Ramon who, in gratitude, leads them over the border by a secret path under a waterfall. In the town of Vardar they board a freight train for Virgil and hide in a motor car, which they discover is consigned to Prince Paul. Not able to leave the train before arriving in the station yards at Virgil, they are saved by the wit of Hanbury, who tells the officials that they are in charge of the car by royal command to deliver it to the palace. Hanbury drops Chandos and Bell at the home of Marya and drives on to deliver the car. Chandos secretly arouses Marya, who tells him she sent no message and that she plans to drive to Austria that night. Hanbury returns safely from the palace. The three men hide in the garden. They realize the telegram was a ruse to lure them within the power of the prince.

DISCOVERED.

"At what time is the car ordered?" said George.

"At half past one."

"It's out of the question," said I. "Do as we say, and—"

"One moment," said George. "If she doesn't use her own chauffeur, there'll be the devil to pay. The chauffeur will report it and the man in the street will report it, and they'll telephone to Elsa and tell them to see who's driving and what it means."

This was true. The countess must play out her part. She had only to take one step which was not consistent with an effort to get to Bariche to be suspected at once.

Staring before me, I could not think what to do. If only we could put on the clock. . . .

"There is Carol," said Marya suddenly.

She made her way to the lawn, and the butler came towards her across the turf.

For some moments they spoke together. Then he returned to the house, and she strolled up to a border and added some blooms to her posy before she came back. At last she strayed to the bushes behind which we stood.

"They have telephoned from the palace, to say that his royal highness will give himself the pleasure of calling upon me at tea time this afternoon."

"The devil he will!" said George. "What does that mean?"

Marya shrugged her shoulders.

"It's one way of stopping my going. Because I am in mourning, I cannot be commanded to court, but that he should pay me a visit is natural enough. I can make no excuse."

"That's right," said I. "You can't refuse to receive him, and, rather than stop you at Elsa, he's chosen this way."

"Prince charming as ever," said George. "Afraid to declare himself, he uses his damned precedence to cramp his hostess' style. Ask us to meet him, Marya."

"Hush," said I, "he's playing clean into our hands. All she's got to do now is to cancel the car and send a wire to Littai saying 'Expect me tomorrow instead of today.' Then she entertains his lordship, and we all clear out together, as soon as it's dark."

"And till then?" said Madame Dresden. "You must have food and—"

"We have food with us," said I. "Whatever you do, don't try to bring any out. That would give us away in an instant."

"Promise me you will stay here," she said. "I could not bear to think that you were not within my gates."

We gave her our word, partly because she would have it and partly because we knew not where else to go.

"That's right," she said quietly.

The day did not pass so slowly, for we were all very tired, and two of us slept at a time while the third kept watch. It follows that when it struck four we had each had some five hours' sleep, and, though we were sick of tap water and would have sold our birthrights to be able to smoke, we felt refreshed and heartened and ready to 'form the game.'

We had, I think, good reason to be content. Our presence was unsuspected, and we had been granted the respite we so much desired. When it was dark, we had but to turn out the car, and we should be five miles off before its departure was reported by the spy in the street; and, before it was gathered that we were not going to Elsa, we should be over the border. The thing was child's play.

Such is the bliss of ignorance. Could we have seen the cards outrageous Fortune was about to draw from her sleeve, our faith would have turned to consternation and there would have been no health in us.

To this day I have not learned at what time the prince arrived, but I know it was nearly five when I saw him walk on to the terrace and down the steps.

As I gazed, the man peered about him. Then he looked down at the dog and nodded his head. . . .

Now had the dog made for the bushes, we must have been discovered before we had time to think, but, though it sprang forward, it first dived into a border which it began to search.

"The trees," breathed George. "Isn't there one we can try?"

The trees were well grown and stately, but, though I stand over six feet, the lowest branch I could see was far out of my reach. More. What branches there were were not splayed, like those of an oak, but rose with the trunks, so that only by reaching some fork could a man get any lodgment for hand or foot.

"Up on my shoulders," I said, addressing Bell.

George hoisted him up in a twinkling, and almost before I had felt his weight was gone.

"Next," said I. "That's the style."

But George did not move. And when I looked round, there was the wolf-hound standing, three paces away.

The dog was young and nervous, but he had an inkling of what he was meant to do, for though he did not give tongue, he let out a growl at my movement and laid back his ears.

I heard the prince raise his voice.

"What is it, Aster?" he cried.

There was no mistaking the nervous suspicion of his tone. He had brought the dog, in case we were in the garden, to find us out.

As the dog bayed in answer, something sprawled through the air from above my head, landed among the bushes and fled for the lawn. At the critical moment Bell had dislodged a cat.

I had George up in an instant, but when he leaned down to help me, I could not reach his hand.

I whipped to another tree whose branches were not so high, but the cat, which had doubled, ran up the trunk as I got there, and I found the dog leaping beside me and barking as though possessed.

Before I could turn, I heard footsteps and Marya's voice.

"No, if you please, sir—I beg you. I do not want the cat killed."

"Rot," said his royal highness. "I hate the brutes. Good dog, Aster. Wait till I find a stone."

"Sir, I beseech you," cried the countess. "This is my garden, and I cannot permit even you, sir, to use it so."

The prince took no notice at all, and an instant later he was before the tree, panting, and I flat against it, behind.

"Where is she?" he cried to the wolfhound. "Where's she—gone?"

Then he side-stepped and saw me, and started back with an oath.

"Sir," said I, "I don't think you heard Madame Dresden. She wishes the cat let alone."

The man was white as a sheet.

"I knew you were here," he said thickly. He struck at the leaping dog and pointed to me. "Seize him," he cried.

Good Morning!

Welcome on the mat, for the little Castle theater's new release!

"The Third Alarm" is one of those homey, human pictures we all fall for. It has children and firemen; galloping white horses, a dog, and a story with a punch that is both strong and tender. IF, Mr. Pegler, such a punch can be. The acting is natural and commendable throughout; direction is terse and sympathetic; photography, sound, and dialogue laudable. So, you see, it wouldn't be a bad idea for you to put on your big galoshes, slip the children into their little ones, and go take a look at this picture. There's nary an "Adults Only" thing about it, praise be!

The plot concerns two young bachelor firemen who wish to adopt the children of a beloved veteran who has been killed on duty. Milly, the girl, is about seventeen years old, you gather. Jimmy, ranging around four. They have been motherless for several years, during which time Milly has kept house for her dad, and mothered dad's friends and little Jimmy.

You'll adore Georgie Billings as little Jimmy, be keen for Paul Hurst as "Beauty," and like James Hall, and all the other players a lot. You'll enjoy the entire picture.

See if I'm a liar.

"RASPUTIN."

Produced and directed by Martin Berger.
Presented at the Cinema theater.
THE CAST.

Rasputin	Nikolai Malikoff
Czar	Ervin Kaiser
Czarina	Diane Karene
Prince Felix	Jed Trevor
Grand Duke Nikolai	Max Shereck

KIND: Drama founded on facts, concerning the career of Rasputin, who was called "our friend" by the last czar and czarina of Russia.

QUALITY: Mediocre.

ACTING: Some is good. Some is not. Nikolai Malikoff as the monk is nastily convincing. Jed Trevor does Prince Felix with a certain appealing sadness. Other performers did, as I suppose, they were directed to.

DIRECTION: Complicated.

PHOTOGRAPHY: Not satisfactory. Some of the blurring may be due to operation of the projection machine.

REMARKS: The picture is incoherently strung together. You will find the Chaplin reissue, "Sunnyside Up," and the scenic, which are also on the program, much more entertaining than the feature.

On the back of the Cinema's program is this question: "Would you like to hear and see talkies at the Cinema theater? Are you of the opinion that the little theater in Towertown should continue as a silent cinema? If equipment is installed to enable us to present audible cinema classics will you continue to be our weekly patron?"

See you tomorrow.

Mexican Musicians Charm Chicagoans with Their Concert

BY EDWARD MOORE.

If the Tipica orchestra lives up to its name and is as typical of Mexico as its announcer said it is in introducing it at Orchestra hall last night, then Mexico must be a pleasant land. There is reason to believe that it would be a good place for a vacation just about now.

One carries away a slightly confused set of impressions from a performance by this, the Mexican president's own band, pictures of men in short jackets and tight trousers who wear enormous sombreros while they are playing and take them off when they rise to the applause of the audience, of serapes that make the rainbow pale and ineffectual, of a woman harp player whose costume outrivals the serapes, of some uncommonly pleasant orchestral music and more than pleasant singing, of a couple of lithe young people who dance lively and graceful dances after the Mexican and Spanish fashion, of as well mannered an organization as ever stepped upon a stage.

The orchestra is mostly of strings, but in an arrangement you would have to go to Mexico to find. Some five men play violins, there are two cellos and two basses. Elsewhere there is a set of psalteries resting upon the laps of the players and plucked by their fingers. Across the stage are some mandolins of six pairs of strings instead of four, and some guitars. Four men perform miracles of agility upon a large marimba, there is a drummer, and in the center the harpist just mentioned lights up the picture like a jewel in a setting.

It was a gay and lighthearted show that they put on. Juan N. Torreblanca, the conductor, inclines toward Mexican music, though he is not hidebound about it, and Mexican music of the best kind is full of agreeable tunes, swaying rhythms, quiescences, and excitements. Jose de Arratia, the tenor soloist, is a bit of a vocal heartbreaker; Maria Romero, the soprano soloist, has a voice that one could hear with pleasure every day because of its quality. The dancers, Juan and Anita Lucay, are active beyond telling and never forget how to be graceful in their activity. Besides these, the marimba players did a specialty and Los Trovadores del Bajio sang quartets.

The Tipica orchestra of Mexico will come again after a time. It goes upon the recommended list.

New Electric Wizard Seeking Cheaper Power

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Backed by the Royal society and the British government with money and all appliances he needs, the Russian professor Dr. Peter Kapitza is at Cambridge, believed to be on the eve of an electrical discovery that will simplify and cheapen transmission of current. The current is to go through thousands of miles of submarine cables, train tracks, and a vast network of wires, supplying power and light to homes, discharging gigantic pulsations of electricity through metals frozen so cold that a special plant for the production of liquid hydrogen has been built to produce temperatures lower than those produced by liquid air. By comparison a polar blizzard would be something a trifle colder than a midsummer's day.

Kapitza is carrying out experiments of an almost fantastic magnitude to the electrical world. If resistance of metals to the passage of electrical current could be reduced only five per cent it would be a matter of colossal importance to electrical corporations. Kapitza believes it possible to solve the problem of resistance of metals to electricity, which may in the future be conducted great distances without present day losses.

Sir Ernest Rutherford, on handing over the presidency of the Royal society to Sir Frederick Gowland Hopkins, today gave some details of the work of Kapitza, to whom that society has awarded the Messel professorship and has offered Cambridge university $75,000 for his new experimental laboratory.

"Kapitza," said Sir Ernest, "began his experiments in 1922 to test the possibility of obtaining intense magnetic fields, and coils have been constructed to give magnetic fields of between 300,000 and 400,000 gauss over a volume of about three cubic centimeters. There appears no inherent reason why fields of 1,000,000 gauss shouldn't be obtained by Kapitza's method.

"Application of these new methods opens up a wide area of research, where all magnetic properties can be examined in fields from ten to thirty times greater than those hitherto available by the use of electro magnets. On the basis of his results, Dr. Kapitza has suggested a new way of looking at phenomena underlying the electrical conductivity of metals and its variation with temperature."

THEATRICAL FORCES MEET TO AVERT CENSORSHIP THREAT

New York, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Confronted with the possibility of a stage censorship which, according to Frank Gillmore, president of the Actors' Equity association, is "more imminent and alarming than ever before," representatives of Equity, the Dramatists' Guild of the Actors' League of America, and theatrical managers met today to consider means of forestalling attemps to create any kind of state or municipal censorship.

Equity presented a plan for a repeal of the Wales law and for reconstituting, with some changes, the play jury system that was abandoned several years ago. Any possible chance of approval of this plan was defeated by the persistent opposition of the Dramatists' Guild, whose committee, consisting of Edward Childs Carpenter, Marc Connelly, Elmer Rice, and Arthur Richman, voiced strenuous objections to all forms of censorships in a heated discussion that lasted nearly two hours.

At the close of the meeting it was decided thta each of the organizations represented would appoint three members to serve on a committee of nine. This committee will report back to the respective organizations.

Mr. Gillmore predicted that if some action was not taken by people of the theater, "We may confidently expect a political censorship by Easter," engineered by religious and law enforcement groups. The playwrights promptly expressed their disapproval of any plan of censorship or regulation from within or without the theater.

A statement by Mr. Carpenter, president of the Guild, said in part:

"The Dramatists' guild believes that prohibitory and regulatory legislation in America already has gone too far and it is unalterably opposed to the imposition of any political, religious, o rextralegal restrictions on the freedom of dramatic art."

BEG YOUR PARDON

Ivoletta, owned by Dr. C. H. Bramwell, was the winner of the three gaited saddle horse event at the horse show Saturday, and not Vena Jean, as stated in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. The error resulted from an incorrect posting of the winning number.

In an item in last Thursday's TRIBUNE it was stated that the will of the late Margaretta E. Otis left an estate of $575,000 to Lucius E. Otis, 2033 Prairie avenue. Mr. Otis writes that the estate was left to him as trustee, the income to go to Miss Otis' brother, sisters and nieces.

THE STAGE

"MICHAEL AND MARY."

THE CAST:

Mrs. Tullivant	Gertrude Rivers Alison
Rev. Simon Rowe	George Alison

David	Clinton Sundberg
Miss Welby	May Ediss
Romo	Fay Ball

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

MR. MILNE has discovered that a dramatist cannot live by whimsicality alone; hence "Michael and Mary," which offers a gentle and meditative evening among the bigamists of London. This romantic comedy is the third play in the season of the Dramatic league, now housed at the Harris, and it will not disappoint the subscribers.

It has the fluttering charm for which Mr. Milne is noted, plus a few other elements of more theatrical importance, such as the grand passion, unlawful union, theoretical illegitimacy, threatened blackmail, and sudden death that looks like manslaughter. Evidently Mr. Milne has grown up; his little theater style has become big theater without losing its delicacy of touch.

There is plenty of story here; it would serve a novelist for a fat volume of 400 pages. The plot begins in 1905, when the debonair Michael met the winsome but woe-begone Mary sitting beside the coin collection in the British museum. It ends in a handsome Chelsea flat in 1930, when their adolescent son brings home a night club bride and the family skeleton, skillfully hidden all these years, stalks grimly out of his closet.

During that quarter of a century of bigamy, Michael and Mary do not grow old like other people. There is a little silver dust on their hair in the last act, but they remain the brave and bonny sentimentalists of their British museum days—a notable object lesson to all modern cynics and free lovers.

This is such a story telling play that it compels the reviewer to follow its example. Thus, I cannot help telling how, after thirteen years of bigamous bliss for Michael and Mary, the latter's fugitive husband comes bolting in to turn their world upside down. He is not in an Enoch Arden frame of mind. He wants blackmail, and plenty of it.

But when Michael starts to throw him out, he collapses like an old suit of clothes—dead in a jiffy from heart failure. And so the police come into the plot, and Michael, being a best selling novelist, invents an explanation that keeps the case out of the newspapers; and although he is the sort of fellow who never tells a lie [except for Mary's sake], he continues to live a whopper.

When Officer Cuff, the low comedy bobby, pops in eleven years later with the story completely pieced together you will probably feel that Mr. Milne has been reading too many shilling shockers about the infallibility of Scotland Yard. But the incredible persistence of the comical Cuff makes a surprise for the last act, and maintains the dignity of British law. Michael and Mary had broken it, and so they had to be tracked down in the end. But they have lived successfully as a charming pair of virtuous adventurers, and they take their light penalty with a smile.

Madge Kennedy, given stellar rank in the rôle of Mary, plays it with gentle and wistful charm. Terence Neill is admirable in the more dominating character of Michael, and must be received as a welcome addition to the list of leading men. The others in the cast represent skillful casting, and the stage direction has the touch of distinction. The character of Officer Cuff is crisply acted by Maurice Greet, nephew of Sir Philip [Ben] Greet.

COSMETICS FOR MEN PREDICTED AS WAY TO SEEM YOUTHFUL

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Men are seeking make-up beauty aids to hold their jobs against feminine competition, Dr. Herman Goodman said in a medical lecture here tonight.

"White collar workers," he said, "view the competition of women who avail themselves of beauty culture and are examining themselves more carefully than hitherto.

"Although men have been backward in taking advantage of cosmetic aids in business, the situation is rapidly changing. Barbers throughout the country are studying their trade all over again. They are preparing to offer beauty service to men."

Preachers Hear Lindsey Over Bishops' Protest

Gotham Episcopalians Vote at Luncheon.

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Ex-Judge Ben B. Lindsey, presented his views on marriage today to the New York Churchmen's association, despite the objection of the Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York. Bishop Manning did not attend.

The famous founder of Denver's Juvenile court waited an hour while 70 members of the association, made up of Episcopal clergymen, ate luncheon. He waited another hour while they debated the advisability of hearing him, and an additional 30 minutes while they prepared a statement for the press to make clear their belief in the sanctity of marriage.

In the official statement the clergymen said they were "governed by the conviction that it is both the right and the duty of clergy to hear speakers on matters vitally affecting the welfare of the people to whom they are called upon to minister."

The number of clergymen attending the meeting established a record. The Rt. Rev. Charles E. Gilbert, suffragan bishop of New York and president of the association, retired from the chair and withdrew as soon as the vote to hear Judge Lindsey was taken. A few others departed, too, but explained they had other engagements.

Although a rising vote committed the members of the association to strict silence to the press, several said the position taken in debate by clergymen desiring to hear the exponent of companionate marriage was that Bishop Manning had no more voice in the association than any other individual member.

Ex-Judge Lindsey was invited last April to make the address. Bishop Manning urged cancellation of the invitation as soon as he received announcement of it last week, and the speakers' committee agreed to submit the matter to the membership. In the event of a minority voting for the address, the minority was to adjourn to a separate room to hear it.

While ex-Judge Lindsey waited he told newspapermen what he planned to say, outlining four reforms advocated by him. They were the legalization of companionate marriage; divorce of discordant couples by a commission composed of two physicians and a lawyer instead of a court; a system of education on the art of love in schools and colleges; alimony and support after divorce with reference to economic status rather than by arbitrary laws.

He insisted he believed in the sanctity of marriage.

"And in children, too," he said, "I have a lovely little girl and I am hoping for another addition to the family in the spring.

"I am not an advocate of free love. When I say legalize companionate marriage, I mean legalize what now is practised—namely, marriage without begetting."

Maude Adams Returns from Europe, May Resume Stage Roles

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Maude Adams, whose public never has forgotten her, although she has been in retirement a dozen years, returned from England on the liner Adriatic today.

She was traveling under a name by which few would be likely to recognize her but which, as a matter of fact, is her own—"Miss M. A. Kiskadden."

It has been announced that she will return to the theater shortly in a play by John Colton, co-author of "Rain."

While she had a friendly smile for the reporters, she would talk to none of them save through a third person.

When Herbert L. Satterlee, former assistant secretary of the navy and brother-in-law of J. Piermont Morgan, asked her on behalf of the press if it was true that she is to return to the stage, she referred them to the office of the late A. L. Erlanger.

Asked if she might come back as "Peter Pan," she replied emphatically: "Absolutely not."

Because her retirement has been so complete and because as a reigning star she lived so secluded a life, Miss Adams has kept her hold on a public that ordinarily soon forgets a favorite actress.

In the days when Maude Adams was America's first actress few ever saw her outside the theater. Admirers were not welcomed in her dressing room, she never dined in public, never gave interviews, hardly anybody ever knew what she looked like out of makeup.

Husband Ambitious, but Uses Methods That Are Outmoded

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Here is a couple that's been married six years. The husband is 27, the wife 26. The young man is ambitious, sober, industrious—during his working hours, anyway. But his plan of getting to the top arranges for 9 p. m retirement, night after night. He takes too literally the adage about early to bed making a man wealthy. With no one else to take her out, it evolves that the girl must retire at an hour when other wives are just stepping out for a good time.

A money meanness is piling up on the husband. He doesn't want to spend anything that can possibly be dispensed with until "they have made theirs." Then, he argues, his wife may have everything she wants. He says, "In order to make money you must have money," so they must save like everything, right now.

The wife, denied much wanted children of her own, pleads to adopt a baby. But husband has no sympathy with the idea. Not now, anyway. They'll wait until they have their pile.

hat is happening is that quarrel upon quarrel is piling up for a sure divorce strike, one of these days. All company is cut off by the husband's plan. Old friends have deserted the girl and new ones are impossible to make under the circumstances. The man sees no reason why his company, evenings, is not sufficient and why they cannot get along happily with each other. He is willing.

Th girl is getting jumpy. The doctor says she needs a change. A fulsome hate toward the unsympathetic gentleman to whom she is chained night after night, the year round, envelopes her.

Some one ought to take the young man out and instruct him in modern success tactics. He should be enlightened on the value of social contacts in business affairs. Also, he might be told that few people whose sole ambition is to make money, achieve money, and that money is much more apt to fall the luck of one who is willing to take a chance on spending a few dollars.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Food Talk.

How often have we heard people say, "The fruit crop isn't going to be so good this year and we will have to rely upon prunes." Well, what's the matter with prunes that they should get such a desultory greeting? Not a thing. There are few people who cannot enjoy prunes.

And there is no reason why we should tire of being served prunes, because there are so many ways to prepare them. The best of stewed prunes are simmered until just tender, never boiled or overcooked. Chilled and served with orange slices they make the most appetizing of breakfast fruits. Then there's prune whip. That is a nutritious and tasty dessert and can be served to children and adults alike. It is simple to prepare, too, requiring only prunes, egg whites and sugar. A little dash of whipped cream on top sets it off to just "hit the right spot."

Prune meringue is made in the same way, but instead of being chilled it is placed in a baking dish and baked in a moderate oven. Prune puddings are deliciously different. In them we can reach heights of culinary glory.

Give your imagination and ingenuity a chance. Put prunes in any dish you think they would improve. The results are startling. Here's how to use prunes in two intriguing but not brand new ways:

PRUNE PIE.

Dash cinnamon.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Chop prunes, add cinnamon and lemon juice and put into a baked pie shell. Chill in the refrigerator before serving. When ready to serve, whip cream and spread over the top.

Water.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
3 egg whites beaten stiff.
½ teaspoon grated orange peel.

Cook the prunes in the water to which the sherry flavoring and sugar have been added until tender. Take them out of the sirup, drain and put through a sieve. Add the lemon juice. Cool. Beat the egg whites until stiff. Cut them into the cold purée. Pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish and bake for 20 minutes in a slow oven. Make a sauce of the juice by cooking until it is slightly thickened, adding grated orange peel and 1 teaspoon of lemon juice.

Cleanliness Is the Best Guarantee of Fresh Daintiness

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"Would you please write an article about offensive perspiration and body odors. One of the girls in our office is guilty of this offense, but apparently is unconscious of it. We would like to clip out the article and leave it on her desk, as this seems to be the only way to tell her and yet cause no ill feelings. Perhaps, too, you could tell us whether or not this is caused by poor physical condition.

"ONE HUNDRED GIRLS."

It wouldn't be pleasant to reach your office some a. m. and find a clipping on the named offense laid out for reading, would it? Nor would I want particularly to be a party to the scheme of enlightenment. I print the letter because it is a type of letter that reaches me every now and then. One girl in a group who does not know how unpleasant her person may become. No one will up and tell her, even as the advertisements say. And, as the ads suggest, there's only one way of not being the unwanted girl. It is by taking precautionary measures so that no slightest offense can be given.

To answer the question about the physical condition regulating body odors: It does, most decidedly. Constipation, for one thing, is a distinct cause. A run down, nervous condition will affect the sweat excretions for the worse. Too little water consumption likewise has a deleterious influence. And certain diseases have odors that are repellent.

Excessive cleanliness, however, is a great alleviant. Especially if the cool shower follows the bath and it is followed by a vigorous rub, you benefit. It tones the system and better regulates the sweat glands over the entire body.

For relief of a permanent nature an astringent should be used, made especially for that purpose. A 25 per cent solution of aluminum chloride in distilled water is a good formula to be used every other night the first week, and once a week thereafter. It is best to apply it before retiring.

Points Out Mexico as Poverty Stricken in Midst of Wealth

Mexico is a land of contradictions, according to an address delivered last night at Loyola. Community theater by the Rev. Frederic Siedenburg, S. J., dean of the school of sociology of Loyola university and vice chairman of the committee on cultural relations with Latin America. He visited Mexico last summer.

The supreme contradiction, the clergyman pointed out, was Mexico's natural wealth on one hand and national poverty on the other. Physically, he said, it is not one country, but many countries; ethnically, not one race, but many races. Half the nation, he asserted, was engaged in selling lottery tickets to the other half.

Nevertheless, Mexico has great possibilities, said Dr. Siedenburg. President Rubio has brought into existence a new spirit which, it is hoped, he said, may result in a peace and prosperity Mexico has not known for twenty years.

$50,000 Dinner for Children's Society Tonight

BY THALIA

The roster of guests for Henry H. Porter's dinner party tonight at his residence at 1520 State parkway in behalf of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society has been as carefully drafted as Ward McAllister's celebrated list of New York's "400."

The potential generosity of the prospective guests and their interest in the work of the organization were significant factors in their selection. The acceptances indicate willingness to produce checkbooks and sign on the dotted line. It is understood that the committee hopes to get $50,000 for the society through this novel means of solicitation.

The benefits given in previous years each has netted them approximately as much. Judge Mary Bartelme is to be present and is to tell of the good the society accomplishes in relation to her work in the Juvenile court, and for entertainment Mlle. Inez de Soriano, daughter of the Marquis and Marquise d'Ivanrey, will dance, and there is to be some music by members of the Chicago Civic Opera company. Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, and Mrs. Waller Borden are to assist Mr. Porter as hosts at his unique affair.

The guest list is as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Poor, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Dick, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Farwell, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Sudler, Mr. and Mrs. Bowman C. Lingle, Henry J. Patten, Lewis E. Meyers, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Arthur Campbell, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, James Weber Linn, Joseph T. Ryerson, Marquise d'Ivanrey, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Offield, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor, Miss Lucy Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, Mrs. Joseph B. Long, Frank McNair, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Prince and Princess Michel Cantacuzene, Mrs. A. Rosecrans Baldwin, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., Mrs. J. M. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Harris, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Dixon, Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin, Russell Tyson, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Welling, Washington Porter, Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, Mrs. Lewis L. Coburn, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Traylor, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rosenwald, Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus W. Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Baum, and their house guests, Princess Alexandra Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein and her husband, Capt. Arnaud Ruenmann; Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Hermann Waldeck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Worcester, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Perkins, Mrs. Harold Foreman, and George W. Dixon.

Three events of varied interest and appeal are scheduled on this afternoon's calendar. The autumn series of lectures which the Drama league has been conducting, for persons more or less seriously concerned with the theater, will end this afternoon with a talk at the Blackstone by Louis Anspacher on "Psychology and Modern Drama." Mrs. Albert Wetten, Mrs. Robert M. Curtis, Mrs. John Gary, and Mrs. Max Adler will pour at the tea following the lecture.

Another affair both social and artistic in purpose will be the tea to be given by Mrs. Edward A. Leight and Mrs. George Rasmussen for Princess Alexandra Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein at O'Brien's Art gallery from 4 until 7 o'clock.

Mrs. William A. Yager's tea and linen shower at the Casino, also from 4 until 7 o'clock, will combine social with philanthropic aspects. Guests have been asked to bring sheets, pillow cases, and other linens needed to replenish the stock of Passavant hospital. Members of the women's board will receive and pour.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oswald Schreiner will give a reception for their daughter, Miss Lura Schreiner, this afternoon at their residence at 1420 Lake Shore drive. Miss Schreiner will be assisted by a coterie of the season's debutantes and by Miss Betty Lane of Cleveland, who was her classmate at Miss Beard's school at Orange, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Smith are to entertain Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brookes at dinner and the opera this evening. Mr. Brookes is the commissioner general from Australia, and he and Mrs. Brookes are to speak at a luncheon meeting of the English Speaking union at the Palmer house tomorrow.

Mrs. Walter H. Atwater is to open her Evanston residence from 10 to 5 o'clock tomorrow for a sale for the Vocational Society for Shut-ins. Assisting her will be Mrs. Laird Bell, Mrs. Henry F. Tenney, Mrs. Martin Gridley, Mrs. E. R. Hurbut, Mrs. Carl Latham, Mrs. Wilder Pickard, Mrs. Edwin Sherman, Mrs. Alfred C. Tyler, Mrs. Edward P. Welles, Mrs. John Wilder, Mrs. Walter Strong, Mrs. Frank Parker Davis, and Mrs. John H. S. Lee.

An exhibition of paintings by Giorgio de Chirico is to be opened with a tea on Friday afternoon at the Arts club.

According to Associated Press dispatches from New York this season's debutantes are continuing the campaign for prompter and briefer parties. The Parents' league and the committee of debutantes again have sent letters to hostesses and to guests requesting their coöperation in sounding the dinner gong at 8 in the evening and silencing the orchestra at 3 in the morning.

Invitations for the Christmas eve ball to be given by Miss Gwethalyn Jones for Miss Constance Hasler are being sent out in the name of Miss Hasler's mother, Mrs. Edward L. Hasler, as Miss Jones is in mourning. The ball is to take place at the Blackstone crystal ballroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Burnham of Evanston, their daughter, Miss Cherie Burnham, and son, Hubert Jr., have just returned for a European trip. They attended the European expositions in Sweden, Holland and Belgium.

Frederick A. Poole Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Poole of 3100 Sheridan road, has returned from his studies at Oxford for the Christmas vacation.

Will Dance This Evening

MISS YNES DE SORIANO.
[Photo by Periera (Paris).]

Mrs. Ynes de Soriano, who is visiting in Chicago with her mother, Marquise d'Ivanrey, the former Italia Blair, is to do a Spanish "skirt dance" at the dinner being given this evening by Henry H. Porter to discuss ways and means for the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Count and Countess Raoul de Roussy de Sales will give a dance in honor of Miss Jacqueline Stewart, débutante daughter of Countess de Roussy de Sales, on Saturday, Dec. 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooker Talcott announce the birth of a daughter on Nov. 26. Mrs. Talcott was Miss Gertrude M. Greer, daughter of the Rev. Dr. Montague Greer and the late Mrs. Greer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frick came today from Roslyn to the Hotel Pierre.

Lady Astor Invites 36 as Women Chiefs

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The names of the thirty-six women whom Lady Astor believes to be the most brilliant in Britain and who will be her guests at a dinner tomorrow night in recognition of their achievements in the last year were disclosed tonight. No male guests are invited either for the dinner or for the large reception for 400 afterward.

Mrs. Subbarayan, Indian round table delegate; Dame Henrietta Barnett, social worker; Miss Lilian Barker, prison service; Miss Matheson, British Broadcasting corporation.

Mrs. Winteringham, former parliamentarian; Dr. Letitia Fairfield, psychologist; Miss Eileen Power, historian; Miss Ellen Wilkinson, parliamentarian; Dame Laura Knight, painter; Miss Gaety, secretary of the National Farmers' union.

Lady Rhondda, company director; Miss Rose Macauley, writer; Mrs. Strachey, duchess of Athol; Miss Schuckburgh, librarian; Mrs. Alfred Lyttelton, league of nations delegate.

Mrs. Brand, Miss Megan Lloyd George, parliamentarian.

These Devices Will Amuse or Thrill You Next Summer

With high rides and roller coasters, miniature golf and miniature airplanes, and other amusement devices old and new to delight the hearts of pleasure seeking youngsters, the twelfth annual convention of the National Association of Amusement Parks opened yesterday in the exhibition hall of the Stevens hotel.

Yesterday, amid the noise of hammers and saws finishing the displays, a group of mature men exhibited juvenile enthusiasm before an anchored airplane, said to be the latest amusement device. The ship is a complete and standard plane, about the size of a pursuit ship, and differs from the regulation machine only in that it is anchored. It is powered, controlled from the cockpit, and has the standard instrument board and gauges.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover returned to the White House this evening from her few days' visit with her son, Herbert Jr., in Asheville.

Invitations have been sent out by Vice President Curtis for his annual dinner, Dec. 9, in honor of President and Mrs. Hoover, at the Mayflower.

Secretary Lamont returned today from New York. He went there with Miss Gertrude Lamont to spend Thanksgiving with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Belknap. Miss Lamont will return here tomorrow from New York and will go back there later in the week to meet her mother, who is coming from Europe. They will return to their Washington home on Sunday.

The minister from Jugo-Slavia, Dr. Leonide Pitamic, gave a reception in celebration of the uniting of the Jugo-Slavian countries at the legation this afternoon to his fellow country men and woman now in Washington.

Engagement Announced

[Du Bois Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. William Clyde Steffy of the Sovereign hotel announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Mae, to Cornelius Peter Van Schaack Jr., son of Cornelius Peter Van Schaack of Wilmette.

Society at the Opera

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's guests for the performance of "Madame Butterfly" at the Opera house last night included the Marquise d'Ivanrey, who is making a Chicago visit, Mrs. Waller Borden, Lawrence M. Viles, Henry H. Porter and Edwin D. Krenn. The marquise wore midnight blue satin and carried an enormous fan of willowy ostrich plumes, shading from pale gray to a gray blue. Mrs. McCormick wore a black beaded gown and long black gloves, and Mrs. Borden was in white velvet.

In the next box to Mrs. McCormick's, the Martin A. Ryersons were host to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fabens Kelley and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon J. Laing. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull were Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney, Mme. Jan Smeterlin, Mrs. John Alden Spoor, James Keeley, Arthur Heun, and Hermann Waldeck. With the Thomas W. Hindes were Mr. and Mrs. Secor Cunningham, Miss Sarah Hinde, and Dr. George Paull Marquis.

Ralph M. Shaw had as guests Mrs. John C. Pitcher, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elting, and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Kirk. With Frederick T. Haskell were Mrs. Henry Luce, Mrs. Haskell's daughter, who returns to Cleveland today after a Chicago visit; Mr. and Mrs. Huntly Gilbert, Robert Sturgis, and Joseph Spany.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Insull were Maj. and Mrs. William A. Rafferty, Dempster McMurphy, and Maj. Arthur Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Swift had with them Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clow, Mr. and Mrs. William V. Kelley, and Miss Martha Sarver. The James C. Hutchins', Mr. and Mrs. Otis Hubbard, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Gardner occupied a box.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Taking the Lead.

During the wedding ceremony when I changed my name from Miss to Mrs. I was most embarrassed.

I answered "I do" when it was my husband's turn to say the words. What did I do but immediately reply, "Excuse me." E. B. K.

Dowager Queen Marie, Princess to Visit Serbs

BUCHAREST, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Dowager Queen Marie and Princess Ileana will leave on Saturday for a visit to Belgrade, but, contrary to reports last week, will return to Rumania by Christmas. When word of the impending visit became known last week it was said the former queen was weary of the domination of her son, King Carol II., and would take up a semi-permanent residence at Paris.

Einsteins Reach Antwerp; Leave for America Today

ANTWERP, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein, noted German scientist, and his party arrived tonight to sail on the liner Belgenland tomorrow morning for the United States. Prof. Einstein, accompanied by his wife, secretary, and two friends, Dr. Mayer and Dr. Katzenelenbogen, arrived by the north express and went immediately to his hotel.

CHARIS creates the distinction of perfect proportions

THE present mode is most charming. But, it is also most exacting. To be worn with distinction, it requires a perfectly proportioned figure. This sounds difficult, but is surprisingly easy ... if you depend upon CHARIS.

CHARIS creates the perfect foundation for today's styles by transforming unfashionable bulges into graceful, flowing curves. It flattens the abdomen, develops a normal waistline and a firmly moulded bust contour.

Young or mature, CHARIS does this for you, effectively and comfortably, with a model for every type of figure. Each embodies exclusive, adjustable features enabling you to mould your figure to your needs.

You examine CHARIS in the privacy of your home. Later your selection is carefully fitted in our fitting parlours. Just phone or write the address below for a CHARIS representative.

The patented Abdominal Belt provides correct abdominal support, without strain or feeling of added weight—nor does it disturb the graceful silhouette. It is adjustable to various positions.

CHARIS is priced from $6.95 up. The garment illustrated costs $8.95.

JUNIOR GIRL'S DRESS.

The skirt of this smart princess dress is shaped through circular shaped gores with points that dip the hems. Navy blue wool crêpe showing red coin dots is one of the prettiest materials you can use. Let the belt be of red leather, and use white pique for the collar and cuffs.

The pattern, 2639, comes in sizes 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1⅛ yards of 39 inch material with ¾ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

How to Order Clotilde Patterns.

Write your name and address plainly on dotted lines, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Inclose 10 cents in stamps or coin [coin preferred; wrap it carefully], for each number, and address your order to Clotilde Patterns, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, 220 East 42d street, New York City.

BATTER that rises two-thirds in the mixing goes on the griddle or in the waffle iron creamy—light and smooth. Thousands of tiny bubbles that keep it fluffed up enable it to bake thoroughly and evenly.

The resulting cakes and waffles have a perfection of texture and an appetizing lightness which cannot be achieved by any other proportion of leavening. Use Rumford, the guaranteed two-to-one leavener in your waffle and wheat cake recipes.

Even if your recipes involve the use of an already-prepared flour, add at least a teaspoon of Rumford for every two cups.

Continued Discord Among Children Has Many Reasons

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A Christmas toy and plaything list will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"How can I keep my children from quarreling?" write so many mothers. "I know they love each other but they seem to pick on each other and tease and quarrel, and it distresses me terribly."

I hear this in connection with large families—and also where there are just two—sister and brother or two brothers.

In a large family I suppose some quarreling, some teasing is inevitable—and perhaps might be even classed as healthy conflict. But any continued discord, anything which really disturbs the home atmosphere, which becomes real hostility or which shows up one child always as the aggressor and another as always the victim, means that there is some underlying cause which needs correction. No amount of "Stop quarreling, children!" or punishment will do the trick. The only thing is to get at the cause if possible and remove it.

There are various possible causes for quarreling, but only some one who knows details or who is on the scene can discern the cause.

Sometimes, for instance, brothers or sisters may quarrel because one, quite unconsciously, feels that he is the less favored of the two. It may be quite true that he or she is less favored, being less intelligent or less beautiful or less easily understood. Or it may be that he or she merely thinks so.

Parents unintentionally act often in such a way as to make a child seem to be less loved or admired. From all this a sort of jealousy develops which shows itself only in quarreling—not in an active open way as jealousy because it is an unconscious thing.

Any intelligent father and mother can, if they think and care, figure out how to reinstate a child so he will feel sure of their love and interest. With the air cleared, the hostility between the children will disappear.

Other possible causes of quarreling will be touched upon tomorrow.

Red with Black Seal Is Latest Paris Fancy

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Red and black is the newest color combination in Paris, just now. This prettily diabolical union, sponsored by Lanvin, Martial et Armand, Maggy Rouff and others, has been eagerly taken up by the younger set.

The smartest girl lunching at the Ritz last Wednesday wore a costume of ruby red broadcloth trimmed with seal and a red felt bonnet mounted on a black velvet forehead band.

Seal, you know, is the latest Paris fur fancy, a fact which will rejoice many hearts.

The Germaine Lecomte ensemble sketched above, is adorably youthful. The coat is of red broadcloth trimmed with seal, and so is the little fur-and-fabric muff. The seal shoulder cape is mounted in scallops that catch the scalloped edge of the shawl collar and allow a narrow strip of the red cloth to show between—lightening the effect of the upper coat which would otherwise have a tendency to look top-heavy.

The two piece frock is of chiffon broadcloth in precisely the same red as the coat. The skirt is cut with circular fullness at the left side of the front. The tunic blouse is trimmed at the hem with a band of the seal that mounts in points on two godets running up to the waist line in front. An incrusted yoke of the chiffon broadcloth starts like a plastron and ends in jabot points, and long cuffs are added to the tight sleeves on the outside of the arm.

ACIDINE ENDS ACIDITY AND GAS TORTURE QUICK

"Terrible attacks of acidity were so weakening that they began to get on my nerves," says Charles Loreman of Rochester, Pa. "Then I tried ACIDINE. I cannot praise it enough. I feel so relieved and better in every way. I wish everyone who is suffering acidity would try ACIDINE."

Almost everyone who takes ACIDINE raves about it. More than two million packages have been sold. It's absolutely amazing the way this new prescription succeeds when other known remedies fail.

ACIDINE is the only known remedy which contains Japtase, that in laboratory tests, digests 800 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy foods which cause trouble. It neutralizes burning acids, soothes irritated stomach linings, stops gassy headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness. No other known remedy contains this combination to end acid stomach. ACIDINE also fortifies you against colds by reducing acidity.

Get ACIDINE today at Walgreen's. Watch how quickly acid indigestion, burning stomach, belching, pain, heartburn, dizziness, faintness, short breath vanish. Eat, drink all you want. Maker refunds money if not delighted.

May be Sitting a Cold for You or an Attack of Grippe or a Dangerous Throat Infection!

Every cold, every cause of Grippe, every throat infection is a germ attack—and most of it comes from our neighbors. In Winter, especially, germs get in their deadly work. Every ride in the street car, every visit to store, office or factory, exposes you to infection. And infection nearly always comes through the nose or mouth. Play safe—guard the gateway to the body.

Avoid crowds as much as possible. Turn away from coughers and sneezers and use your own handkerchief for the protection of others. Every morning and night rinse your mouth and throat with a solution of McKesson's Extol and water—1 part Extol to 3 parts water. There is no safer measure you can take.

Reaches the Hidden Germs!

Extol is the amazing new antiseptic mouth wash and throat gargle that is revolutionizing all standards of germicidal efficiency. It was recently perfected by one of the world's famous pharmaceutical houses. It kills germs faster than any mouth wash heretofore known—so fast it is called the "10-second germicide." A one-minute gargling with Extol beats hours with any ordinary preparation. It is so highly germicidal that diluted, even 1 to 3, it is far more efficient than any common mouth wash or gargle used straight. Also, it is more penetrating. This is important, for an antiseptic, to be effective, must be able to penetrate the folds and crevices in the mouth and throat; also the mucous membrane so it can reach the germs that lie hidden underneath the outer layer of mucosa. That is what Extol and only Extol does—it penetrates through to the hidden germs that ordinary antiseptics miss.

Utterly Harmless Thoroughly Delightful

Efficient as it is, Extol is utterly harmless—and so pleasant to use that other mouth washes seem insipid by comparison. Children just love its refreshing flavor and effect and it encourages them in a fundamental health habit. Extol costs less to use than ordinary mouth washes. It costs less in price and it goes much further because you can dilute it so liberally. All McKesson Service Druggists and all independent drug stores have been supplied with Extol. Get a bottle today for the security of mouth, throat and health. Note the name, EXTOL—a McKesson & Robbins product.

All-Illinois Art Show at the Stevens Offers Good Pictures

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The fifth annual exhibition of the work of Illinois artists under the auspices of the All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts has just opened at the Stevens hotel. Although probably it is the most uneven and unwieldy show at the moment in town, it has its great moments and these more than make up for the amount of mediocre painting one has to wade through.

In fact, there are enough first rate pictures in the exhibit to make an extremely satisfying show by themselves, but the All-Illinois Society is handicapped with a large membership list and even though the canvases submitted were juried, it was impossible to cut this exhibit more closely. Another year, possibly, will see each admitted artist with an allowance of one painting and the exhibition will profit by the change.

To give more than a hint at its bulk it may be stated that the current American show at the Art institute is hanging 212 pictures in the several galleries of the east wing, while in the Stevens corridor are some 380 works. An injustice is done to both artist and painting by such crowding. Yet it is remarkable how the All-Illinois exhibit keeps its feet and maintains a balance. The interesting paintings, those which are decorative, those which are clever, more than compensate for the strain of chasing art up and down and around corners in that third floor hallway.

Most appropriate to the times is the capital painting "Unemployed," by Edward Everett Burr. Equally appropriate to the season is "Beware the Dog," by Carrol Proctor, a fascinating water color of scattered toys. Anna Lynch shows an adorable portrait in pastel of two little girls, "Sisters." H. A. Vincent A. N. A., offers a warmly colored foreign street in "Menton, South France." Martin Lundgren has one of the exquisite moments with his still life, "Roses." "The Snow Storm," by Minnie B. Hammill is a thrilling interlude. A longer list is impossible here, but there are enough names of worth while paintings to run on for several paragraphs.

Three out of eight purchaser prizes were awarded yesterday. They were to Andrew Dobos for "At the Spring," to S. M. Paul for "Path Through the Woods," and to Kate A. Townsend for "Old New Orleans." The three artists are Chicagoans and the paintings are in oil.

Bright Sayings of the Children

My little niece, 4, was spending a week with us in the country. She developed a great fondness for milk. One day having drunk as much as we thought good for her, she was informed that she could not have any more.

"Pahaw!" exclaimed Mattelon indignantly, "I don't see why you want to be so stingy with your old milk. There are two whole cowfuls out in the barn."
